Egg Drop Blues:

Egg-Drop Blues Jacqueline Turner Banks, 2003 Desperate to raise his grade in science Judge hopes he can succeed in the egg drop competition he's entered in with his twin brother Worried, sensitive and learning to come to terms with dyslexia Judge tells of his struggles with schoolwork with a sometimes difficult brother and with finding his own self-esteem. It's a story that readers will enjoy sympathize with and eagerly follow to a happy and logical conclusion Egg Drop Blues F+G Banks, 1995-09-01 Many Peoples, One Land Alethea K. Helbig, Agnes Regan Perkins, 2000-10-30 Celebrating the wealth of quality multicultural literature recently published for children and young adults this valuable resource examines the fiction, oral tradition and poetry from four major ethnic groups in the United States. Each of these genres is considered in turn for the literature dealing with African Americans, Asian Americans, Hispanic Americans and Native American Indians. Taking up where their earlier volume This Land is Our Land left off Helbig and Perkins have teamed up once again to identify and expertly evaluate more than 500 multicultural books published from 1994 through 1999. Both considered authorities in the field of children's literature the two of them personally selected, read and evaluated all the books included here. Their insightful annotations help readers carefully consider both literary standards such as plot development, characterization and style as well as cultural values as they are represented in these cited works. Each entry also indicates the suggested age and grade level, appropriateness of the work. With the proliferation and ever-increasing popularity of multicultural literature for children and young adults this sensitively written volume will serve as an invaluable collection development tool. Teachers as well as librarians will find the comprehensiveness and organization of this bibliography helpful as a guide in selecting appropriate materials for classroom use. Even students will find this book easy to use with its five indexes identifying works by title, writer, illustrator, grade level and subject. Public libraries and school media centers will find much use for Many Peoples, One Land. Using Literature to Support Skills and Critical Discussion for Struggling Readers Nancy S. Williams, 2004 Emphasizing the need to develop higher-level thinking skills and critical discussion with intermediate and middle school struggling readers Williams uses quality children's literature as a springboard to help readers understand and use descriptive vocabulary and figurative language, make personal connections with text, create and solve text-related mathematical problems, promote an active engaged discussion and critical analysis of the story and the important issues raised in text, extend meaning through research and writing, art and drama. To help teachers match student to text literature selections are categorized according to interest (e.g. mystery, sports, humor, identity, solving problems, genre) and include reading level, interest level and number of pages. Discussion questions and extension activities specific to over 100 children's literature selections provide opportunities for students to ask questions, discuss and use descriptive language, make predictions and inferences, evaluate story elements and critically reflect on character perspectives and social issues raised in the text. All questions are appropriate for individual work, special education classrooms, general education and inclusion.
