Education for Renaissance in Africa Raphael J. Njoroge, 2004 The African continent is in the midst of a renaissance of monumental proportions As a result the dawn of the new millennium constitutes an exciting period of change and opportunity for all those interested in the future evolution of the African continent and its peoples Schraeder P J African Politics and Society 2000 2 President Thabo Mbeki of South Africa the current Chairman of the African Union is being associated in a special way with the concept of African renaissance Mbeki's notion of renaissance is fundamentally African political renewal and economic regeneration Ajulu R 2001 in Review of African Political Economy Vol 24 No 1 87 February 27 42 The concept of African renaissance which is in vogue in political and academic circles encapsulates a vision of rebirth of Africa as the African peoples come to terms with the challenges of the 21st century It is a vision that eschews the dictatorships economic mismanagement suppression of the civil society and ascendancy of state monopoly of power that have hitherto characterized the operations of post independence African governments It is a vision that rejects according to the Constitutive Act of the African Union the policy of tolerating in its membership those African leaders who obtain power in their countries undemocratically unlike the toleration of dictators that characterized the Organization of African Unity the predecessor of the African Union This book aims at being part of that vision and that is why its title is Education for Renaissance in Africa It aims at showing the centrality of education in the achievement of that vision Indeed it is obvious to all that African renaissance is primarily a mental achievement or simply an educational achievement If we are to contribute anything to the political or economic order for the development of Africa we must have acquired certain kinds of knowledge and attitudes that involve commitment to our goals as prerequisites for any action that can change society However it is the contention of this book that education for the renaissance of Africa must not be haphazard It must be conceptualized in a manner that lays foundations for its effective working in the practical order The philosophy of education envisaged here has to be liberating characterized by creativity and social commitment which presupposes social consciousness Here we define the notions of liberation creativity and social consciousness and strives to situate these concepts within a historical trajectory that not only includes Africa but other parts of the world as well We have tried to show the suppression of African subjectivity during the colonial period with the result that liberation creativity and social consciousness were inhibited in both the educational and other spheres of life We argue that humans are radically free and that they need not succumb to this kind of socialization which has tended to negate their subjectivity We note in particular that Kenyan educational commissioners have been cognizant of the harm that was done to African subjectivity by the colonial and missionary experience We also consider to what extent if any the philosophy of education as an academic discipline has prepared teachers for the challenging task of making education liberating creative and imbued with social consciousness We suggest ways in which the training of teachers can best fulfill these worthy goals of education We address the nature of social consciousness which we consider to be central to the learner's involvement in development of his or her country. We have endeavored to discuss the minimal and heroic forms of consciousness as exemplified in such leaders as Martin Luther King, Mahatma Gandhi and leaders of African liberation struggle. An attempt is made to come to terms with diversity in social consciousness and to seek ways of living on the basis of unity in diversity.

Education for Renaissance in Africa Raphael J. Njoroge, 2004

The African continent is in the midst of a renaissance of monumental proportions. As a result, the dawn of the new millennium constitutes an exciting period of change and opportunity for all those interested in the future evolution of the African continent and its peoples.

Schraeder P. J. African Politics and Society 2000

2. President Thabo Mbeki of South Africa, the first Chairman of the African Union, is being associated in a special way with the concept of African renaissance. Mbeki's notion of renaissance is fundamentally African political renewal and economic regeneration.

Ajulu R. 2001 in Review of African Political Economy Vol 24 No 187 February 27-42

The concept of African renaissance, which is in vogue in political and academic circles, encapsulates a vision of rebirth of Africa as the African peoples come to terms with the challenges of the 21st century. It is a vision that eschews the dictatorships, economic mismanagement, suppression of the civil society, and ascendancy of state monopoly of power that have hitherto characterized the operations of post-independence African governments. It is a vision that rejects, according to the Constitutive Act of the African Union, the policy of tolerating in its membership those African leaders who obtain power in their countries undemocratically, unlike the toleration of dictators that characterized the Organization of African Unity, the predecessor of the African Union.

This book aims at being part of that vision and that is why its title is Education for Renaissance in Africa. It aims at showing the centrality of education in the achievement of that vision. Indeed, it is obvious to all that African renaissance is primarily a mental achievement or simply an educational achievement. If we are to contribute anything to the political or economic order for the development of Africa, we must have acquired certain kinds of knowledge and attitudes that involve commitment to our goals as prerequisites for any action that can change society.

However, it is the contention of this book that education for the renaissance of Africa must not be haphazard. It must be conceptualized in a manner that lays foundations for its effective working in the practical order. The philosophy of education envisaged here has to be liberating, characterized by creativity and social commitment, which presupposes social consciousness. Here we define the notions of liberation, creativity, and social consciousness and strive to situate these concepts within a historical trajectory that not only includes Africa but other parts of the world as well. We have tried to show the suppression of African subjectivity during the colonial period with the result that liberation, creativity, and social consciousness were inhibited in both the educational and other spheres of life. We argue that humans are radically free and that they need not succumb to this kind of socialization which has tended to negate their subjectivity. We note in particular that Kenyan educational commissioners have been cognizant of the harm that was done to African subjectivity by the colonial and missionary experience. We also consider to what extent, if any, the philosophy of education as an academic discipline has prepared teachers for the challenging task of making education liberating creative and imbued with social consciousness We suggest ways in which the training of teachers can best fulfill these worthy goals of education We address the nature of social consciousness which we consider to be central to the learner's involvement in development of his or her country We have endeavored to discuss the minimal and heroic forms of consciousness as exemplified in such leaders as Martin Luther King Mahatma Gandhi and leaders of African liberation struggle An attempt is made to come to terms with diversity in social consciousness and to seek ways of li

Power, Politics, and Higher Education in Southern Africa: International Regimes, Local Governments, and Educational Autonomy José Augusto

Cossa, 2008 The interface of power politics and education as an arena for the exercise of influential and authoritative decisions of global regional and national actors seeking to control African educational processes constitutes a key area for more critical reflection and needed research Indeed the persistent challenges and the search for development paradigms in the Africa call for the production of critical knowledge produced by scholars who can effectively locate their analyses of the local and national in the broader framework as the site of contention and negotiation between these actors with their common and also competing interests This is the context in which this book with a focus on Southern Africa and using Mozambique as an illustrative case study can be localized

Handbook of Research on Creating Spaces for African Epistemologies in the Inclusive Education Discourse Maguvhe, Mbulaheni Obert, Masuku, Mfundo Mandla, 2021-12-31

Students with disabilities who are not able to perform to the best of their abilities often find themselves learning in inaccessible environments and subjected to increased stress levels due to the haphazard provisioning of education characterized by physical communicative and unsuitable teaching and learning approaches Very often this is a result of various shortcomings including unfair assessment practices Misconceptions and a lack of knowledge with regard to the implementation of inclusive education detract from the successful admission of students with disabilities and their retention and active participation The Handbook of Research on Creating Spaces for African Epistemologies in the Inclusive Education Discourse explores the concept of inclusive education in an African context It advocates for the monitoring and evaluation of inclusive education and proposes interventions where reasonable accommodation or lack of accessibility is a reason for students with disabilities to not benefit from this system Covering topics such as barriers to learning rural schools and student support this major reference work is an essential resource for administrators advocates for students with disabilities policymakers researchers pre service teachers educators academicians and students

Education, Indigenous Knowledges, and Development in the Global South Anders Breidlid, 2013 Through a series of case studies this book explores the question of whether Western educational discourse still the dominant discourse in many countries in the global South benefits the majority of pupils and helps promote sustainable development in these countries or whether pedagogies rooted in more indigenous ideologies and discourses would better serve this aim

The Formation of Intellectual Capital and Its Ability to Transform Higher Education Institutions and the Knowledge Society Cardoso Espinosa, Edgar Oliver, 2019-06-28 The knowledge society arises from the combination of four interdependent elements the production of knowledge through research its transmission through education its dissemination through information and communication technologies and its exploitation through innovation For this reason higher education institutions HEIs are the main component of the formation of intellectual capital because they are the key element of the knowledge society so it is necessary that they continue to be the main source of the necessary skills that allow the increase of economic competitiveness sustainability and citizen welfare within the framework of quality education and equity

The Formation of Intellectual Capital and Its Ability to Transform Higher Education Institutions and the Knowledge Society is an essential research publication that provides systemic research on the formation of intellectual capital in higher education and its impact on the knowledge society Highlighting topics such as educational programs management strategy and educational studies this book is meant for educators educational technologists students researchers professionals and administrators

Africanising the Curriculum Vuyisile Msila, 2016-03-01 The alienating nature of the dominant curriculum in African schools and universities is an issue which simmered just below the surface in the 2015 student protests that swept through the South African higher education sector The collection of essays found in this timely publication offers compelling arguments for the deliberate embrace of the African culture to advance African knowledge and enhance African lives It proposes fresh perspectives on what shape and form a decolonised curriculum should take on
