Multi-dimensional Transitions of International Students to Higher Education Divya Jindal-Snape, Bart Rienties, 2016-02-12. International students experience multiple and multi-dimensional educational and life transitions: moving to a new country, moving to a new educational system and moving to higher educational degree programmes. Within these transitions they experience differences in the social and organisational cultures, languages and interpersonal expectations, realities and relationships. Their transitions also lead to and interact with transitions of professionals, home students and their families. Multi-dimensional Transitions of International Students to Higher Education provides up-to-date literature, research and theoretical constructs that underpin international students' transitions to Higher Education. This book will help you to understand the opportunities, issues, social, emotional, psychological dimensions and evidence-based interventions that are vital to support an individual through these educational and life transitions. Split into four sections, topics include: Theoretical Underpinning, Research in Different Contexts, Impact of Educational Practice and Social Systems, Interventions and Strategies Used to Enhance International Students' Affective, Behavioural and Cognitive Transition Experiences. This book is essential reading for professionals, students and policy makers and provides significant research insights to academics and researchers in the area of education, psychology and sociology.

HLP 120 - Overlooked and Left Behind: Improving the Transition from School to Work for the Majority of Young People The Stationery Office, 2016. The transition from school into work is a vital point in the lives of young people. Making a successful transition through a high quality and valued pathway can mean a successful career. Becoming trapped in poor quality and under-valued alternatives can mean a lifetime of poverty. This report is about young people and social mobility and focuses on how to ensure that all young people are offered a high quality career path after they leave school. We have found that the current policy structure means a large number of young people do not have good options and are not supported to make a choice which works for them and is successful. An increasing number of young people leave school and go on to A Levels and university. Of the others, a small minority are at risk of dropping out of education, employment or training: the NEETS. Successive governments have focused on these two groups for a long time. But the majority of young people in the UK do not fall into either group. They do not go to university, they find jobs or they continue with some form of vocational education. Despite making up the majority of the emerging workforce, they have received much less attention. It is these young people who are the focus of this report. The current system for young people who do not follow an academic route is complex and incoherent, with confusing incentives for young people and employers. Careers advice and education are being delivered in a way which means that too many young people simply drift into further studies or their first job, which often has no real prospect of progression.

16 - 19 (1993) Eric Macfarlane, 2018-02-19 Published in 1993 this book considers the needs of older teenage students and the various forms of provision made for them The 16 19 sector of education is a transition stage for students and a system in transition for educators At a time of rapid change the author assesses the significance of current trends and recent legislation for managers teachers and lecturers in schools and colleges catering for this age group Eric Macfarlane argues that the 16 19 sector provides both a microcosm and intensification of the tensions divisions and conflicting aims and objectives present throughout the education system as a whole He explores the differences that exist between the academic and vocational routes to qualification between the comprehensive selective and independent systems and between traditional and progressive approaches to the learning process The ideologies and policies that have produced the present system are traced and the case for reform examined Different management tasks in 16 19 education are considered with emphasis on current changes in strategies and structures The book highlights the distinctive features of the various types of institution that provide for students aged 16 19 and the ways in which these distinctions are becoming blurred The final chapters consider the future of 16 19 provision and the particular impact of the 1992 Further and Higher Education Act

Education and Work in Great Britain, Germany and Italy Annette Jobert, Catherine Marry, Helen Rainbird, Lucie Tanguy, 2013-05-13 This volume examines the multiple connections between education broadly defined and work through an analysis of the literature on the transition from school to work on vocational training and on the labour market It shows that concepts such as skill unemployment rates young people and the transition from school to work are socially constructed and are thought about in ways which are nationally specific This book is essential reading for students of European training systems and for those conducting comparative European research Transitions from Education to Work in Europe

Walter Müller, Markus Gangl, 2003-11-27 This text provides a comparative analysis of school to work transitions in EU member states It shows how differences in both European education and training systems as well as labour market institutions generated significant variation in the experiences of young people in the 1990s Online Learning, Open

Education, and Equity in a Post-Pandemic World Brad Wuetherick, Aline Germain-Rutherford, David Graham, Nick Baker, David J Hornsby, Nancy K. Turner, 2024-11-21 This edited volume explores institutional responses equity in open education and the future of higher education in a post pandemic world offering valuable insights into effective pedagogical practices and policy recommendations to sustain the advancements made during the pandemic Through providing a concise overview of the collective insights and responses from various educational institutions and educators worldwide to the unprecedented challenges posed by the COVID 19 pandemic on higher education It underscores the substantial shift to online learning highlighting the exacerbation of existing inequalities among students due to factors such as digital access socioeconomic status and disabilities Combined Statement of Receipts, Expenditures and Balances of the United
