distillery family had made an extraordinary and controversial match in marrying MacSwiney. The young widow then abandoned Ireland for continental Europe taking her little daughter with her. For nine years Maire was to live away from Ireland mostly in Germany with occasional breaks in Paris with her mother. She grew up effectively as a German child speaking the German language, skiing to school and forgetting all about her Irish background. This was truly an extraordinary upbringing for the daughter of one of Ireland's greatest heroes. In the early thirties when she was fourteen Maire made a dramatic escape with her aunt Maire MacSwiney, the sister of Terence, home to Ireland against her mother's wishes. This was widely reported and led to a court case claiming that her aunt had kidnapped her but Maire strongly refutes this in her account here. Speaking no English or Irish the young Maire now went to live in Scoil te her aunt's school in Cork. For the young Maire this was a very strange world indeed. Now she had to learn both Irish and English her Irish being perfected by long annual holidays in the west Kerry Gaeltacht near Dunquin. And then in 1945 she married Ruairi Brugha the son of another famous republican Cathal Brugha thus uniting two of Ireland's most prominent and revered nationalist families. Throughout her life both before marriage and later with her husband Maire has handled a complex inheritance and forged her own strong identity. She and her husband have reinterpreted their unique inheritance in keeping their own time and their own mindset while retaining strong links to their unusual history.
