

The background of the entire image is a photograph of a forest landscape. In the foreground, there are several dark evergreen trees, possibly spruce or fir, standing on a grassy or mossy ground. The middle ground is filled with more trees, but they are shrouded in a thick mist or fog, making them appear as soft, dark shapes. The sky is a gradient of warm colors, from a pale yellow near the horizon to a soft pink and purple at the top, suggesting a sunrise or sunset. The overall mood is serene and somewhat melancholic.

Addressing the creation, negotiation and re-use of diverse spaces and places of belonging, the book examines their fascinating complexities in the context of a changing Europe. Taking an innovative interdisciplinary approach, the volume examines renegotiations of belonging played out through cultural encounters with difference and change in diverse public spaces and contested places. Highlighting the interconnections between social change and culture, heritage and memory, the chapters analyze multilayered public spaces and the negotiations over culture and belonging that are connected to them. Through analyses of diverse case studies, the editors and authors draw out the significance of the participation or exclusion of differing community grassroots and activist groups in such practices and discourses of belonging in relation to the contemporary emergence of identity conflicts and political uses of the past across Europe. They analyze the ways in which people's sense of belonging is connected to cultural heritage and memory practices undertaken in different public spaces including museums, cultural and community centres, city monuments and built heritage, neglected urban spaces and online fora. Diversity of Belonging in Europe provides a valuable contribution to the existing bodies of work on identities, migration, public space, memory and heritage. Patrick Hornbeck II, Michael A. Norko, 2014-03-03 This volume like its companion Voices of Our Times collects essays drawn from a series of public conferences held in autumn 2011 entitled More than a Monologue. The series was the fruit of collaboration among four institutions of higher learning: two Catholic universities and two nondenominational divinity schools. The conferences aimed to raise awareness of and advance informed, compassionate and dialogical conversation about issues of sexual diversity within the Catholic community as well as in the broader civic worlds that the Catholic Church and Catholic people inhabit. They generated fresh, rich sets of scholarly and reflective contributions that promise to take forward the delicate work of theological, ethical and ecclesial development. Along with Voices of Our Times, this volume captures insights from the conferences and aims to foster what the Jesuit Superior General Fr Adolfo Nicolás has called the depth of thought and imagination needed to engage effectively with complex realities, especially in areas marked by brokenness, pain and the need for healing. The volumes will serve as vital
