Education For Empowerment The Practice And Philosophies Of Black Teachers:

Education for Empowerment Christine Callender, 1997 Based on a study of six black teachers the author's analysis of finely grained qualitative and quantitative data suggests that it is possible to speak in terms of a black teaching style a style most relevant and comfortable for black children Black Women in the Ivory Tower, 1850-1954 Stephanie Y.

Evans, 2016-12-01 Evans chronicles the stories of African American women who struggled for and won access to formal education beginning in 1850 when Lucy Stanton a student at Oberlin College earned the first college diploma conferred on an African American woman In the century between the Civil War and the civil rights movement a critical increase in black women's educational attainment mirrored unprecedented national growth in American education Evans reveals how black women demanded space as students and asserted their voices as educators despite such barriers as violence discrimination and oppressive campus policies contributing in significant ways to higher education in the United States She argues that their experiences ideas and practices can inspire contemporary educators to create an intellectual democracy in which all people have a voice Among those Evans profiles are Anna Julia Cooper who was born enslaved yet ultimately earned a doctoral degree from the Sorbonne and Mary McLeod Bethune founder of Bethune Cookman College Exposing the hypocrisy in American assertions of democracy and discrediting European notions of intellectual superiority Cooper argued that all human beings had a right to grow Bethune believed that education is the right of all citizens in a democracy Both women's philosophies raised questions of how human and civil rights are intertwined with educational access scholarly research pedagogy and community service This first complete educational and intellectual history of black women carefully traces quantitative research explores black women's collegiate memories and identifies significant geographic patterns in America's institutional development Evans reveals historic perspectives patterns and philosophies in academia that will be an important reference for scholars of gender race and education Resources in Education, 2001 ECRM2008-Proceedings of the 7th European Conference on Research Methods Ann Brown, 2008 Challenging Democracy Madeleine Arnot, Jo-Anne Dillabough, 2014-02-04 This collection establishes a highly topical new international field of study that of gender education and citizenship It brings together for the first time important cutting edge research on the contribution of the educational system to the formation of male and female citizens It shows how gender relations operate behind apparently neutral concepts of liberal democratic citizenship and citizenship education The editors asked leading international educationalists to describe the theoretical frameworks and methodologies they used to research gender and citizenship Challenging Democracy suggests ways in which the educational system could help develop genuinely inclusive democratic societies in which men and women play an equal role in shaping the meaning of citizenship Asian Children at Home and at School Ghazala Bhatti, 2002-01-04 This book is an ethnographic study of a comprehensive school in the south of England It explores the views of teachers Asian parents and their children concerning education and schooling Young people between the ages of 13 and 18 were studied at home and at school and their experiences form the main focus of the study The experiences of fifty Pakistani Bangladeshi and Indian families mostly of Muslim faith are studied with a view to discovering what parents expect from their children s school and how the teachers perceive their own role with regard to their students These young people are the first generation of Asians to be educated in Britain Their location in terms of their social class positions gender and ethnicity are inextricably bound together They describe how they see their past and their future This is the first study to take account of boys and girls in order to capture the complexity of their lived experiences

Mixed Matters Denise Williams,2011 More often than not mixed race pupils are simply referred to as black and tend to be encompassed in a larger more diverse group of black pupils but the increased presence of mixed race pupils in schools needs to focus the efforts of education professionals to address issues of race ethnicity and culture Mixed Matters is essential reading for all educational professionals who want to get to grips with the issues that face mixed families and the pupils themselves as they share their personal experiences of what it is like to be them in the British schooling system The young people featured in this book challenge some of the commonly held assumptions made about them especially regarding their aspirations This book contains some resources that can be used to support work with mixed race pupils as well as initial training and professional development of teachers The book also details the approach of Mix d formerly the Multiple Heritage Project in organising youth conferences and training youth facilitators of mixed race to lead their peers in discussions about school and identity

Preach It! Carol Tomlin,2019-02-28 Studies of preaching and preaching style have up to this point focused almost exclusively on a western eurocentric understanding of good preaching Preach It encourages students both vocational and scholarly to look beyond these approaches and to learn from traditions with which they are less familiar The distinctive style and techniques that African Caribbean Pentecostal preachers have inherited has been shaped by historical political and socio economic factors impacting on black Caribbean people including clergy Using a variety of socio linguistic and theological approaches Preach It reflects on these techniques and outlines how preachers across church traditions might learn from them and use them in their own contexts
