Education In Urban Areas Cross National Dimensions:

International Handbook of Urban Education William T. Pink, George W. Noblit, 2008-09-03 It is evident that urban education has become the central focus of educators at the present time In the U S for example almost one third of all school age children attend schools in large urban school districts It is in these urban schools where the diversity of cultures and languages is highest and where student learning is most problematic What has emerged from recent work to improve urban schools is the insight that there is no one size fits all panacea Rather we have discovered that the local context shapes in critically important ways what will be effective at the school level The universality of the problematics with urban education together with the importance of understanding the local or situated context of improvement interventions brings into sharp focus the importance and timeliness of an undertaking like the International Handbook of Urban Education An important focus of the International Handbook of Urban Education will be the interrogation of both the social and political factors that lead to different problem posing and subsequent solutions within each region An important question to be answered for example is what it takes in terms of resources political will and policy actions to improve urban education

Education in Urban Areas Nelly P Stromquist, 1994 Dimensions peculiar to urban life such as high population density proximity to power centers heterogeneity of residents in terms of class and ethnicity susceptibility to political action and tensions between rich and poor have considerable impact on educational policies Important studies have been conducted on urban conditions in the developed world but few studies on education in Third World cities have appeared This volume looks at urban problems related to education cross nationally beginning with a careful definition of what is distinctly urban in educational settings Chapters on trends and issues bureaucratic dynamics disparities and inequities goals neighborhood movements politics and the experience of women and marginal students round out this internationally contributed volume

Culham, Sachi Edwards, 2019-11-01 In our current systems of education there is a trend toward compartmentalizing knowledge standardizing assessments of learning and focusing primarily on quantifiable and positivist forms of inquiry Contemplative inquiry on the other hand takes us on a transformative pathway toward wisdom morality integrity equanimity and joy Zajonc 2009 These holistic learning practices are needed as a counterbalance to the over emphasis on positivism that we see today In addition to learning quantifiable information we also need to learn to be calmer wiser kinder and happier This book aims to find and share various pathways leading to these ends This book will describe educational endeavors in various settings that use contemplative pedagogies to enable students to achieve deep learning peace tranquility equanimity and wisdom to gain new understanding about self and life and to grow holistically Embodiment is a central concept in this book We hope to highlight strategies for exploring internal wisdoms through engaging ourselves beyond simply the rational mind Contemplative pedagogies such as meditation yoga tai chi dance arts poetry reflective writing and movements can help students embody what they learn by integrating their body heart mind and spirit The Impact of Institutional Culture on Women Students in Hawaii Carol A.
