E. Hughes, 2015-07-01 Excerpt from The Democratic Ideal in Education In our land there is to day considerable discussion upon educational matters Appeals are made sometimes to our reason and sometimes to our prejudices and considerable bitterness of feeling is aroused and displayed and generally much pother is created upon matters that are only incidentally educational Let us trust that out of this evil good may come Let us hope that what is at present an interest produced artificially and with much labour may become perennial and natural Let us seize this golden opportunity to make our people permanently interested in this fateful problem of national education so that the popular apathy which in the past has been our curse may develop into a popular vigilance without which no truly national system is possible But popular vigilance needs popular intelligence Until our people can be made to see the true inwardness of their own instinctive faith until they can be made to realise what national training means and to understand why we need a better system of education not indeed to beat the German but to beat the devil only when these matters have become part of our common faith may we look for the regeneration of this land The superficial is always evident but the spirit is rarely recognised About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
