A Magazine of Her Own? Margaret Beetham,2003-09-02 Like the corset the women s magazines which emerged in the nineteenth century produced a natural idea of femininity the domestic wife the fashionable woman the romancing and desirable girl Their legacy from agony aunts to fashion plates are easily traced in their modern counterparts But do these magazines and their promises empower or disempower their readers A Magazine of Her Own is a lively and revealing exploration of this immensely popular form from its beginnings In fascinating detail Margaret Beetham investigates the desires images and interpretations of femininity posed by a medium whose readership was and still is almost exclusively female A Magazine of Her Own is at once a chronological tracing of the history a collection of intriguing case studies and an intervention into recent debates about gender and sexuality in popular reading It is a book which anyone who is interested in the unique influential world of the woman s magazine students scholars and general readers alike will want to read

Reforming Trollope Deborah Denenholz Morse,2016-04-01 Trollope the reformer and the reformation of Trollope scholarship in relation to gender race and genre are the intertwined subjects of eminent Trollopiean Deborah Denenholz Morse s radical rethinking of Anthony Trollope Beginning with a history of Trollope s critical reception Morse traces the ways in which Trollope s responses to the political and social upheavals of the 1860s and 1870s are reflected in his novels She argues that as Trollope's ideas about gender and race evolved over those two crucial decades his politics became more liberal. The first section of the book analyzes these changes in terms of genre. As Morse shows, the novelist subverts and modernizes the quintessential English genre of the pastoral in the wake of Darwin in the early 1860s novel The Small House at Allington. Following the Second Reform Act, he reimagines the marriage plot along new class lines in the early 1870s in Lady Anna. The second section focuses upon gender. In the wake of the Second Reform Bill and the agitations for women's rights in the 1860s and 1870s, Trollope reveals the tragedy of primogeniture and male privilege in Harry Hotspur of Humblethwaite and the viciousness of the marriage market in Ayala's Angel. The final section of Reforming Trollope centers upon race. Trollope's response to the Jamaica Rebellion and the ensuing Governor Eyre Controversy in England is revealed in the tragic marriage of a quintessential English gentleman to a dark beauty from the Empire's dominions. The American Civil War and its aftermath led to Trollope's insistence that English identity include the history of English complicity in the black Atlantic slave trade and American slavery, a history Trollope encodes in the creole discourses of the late novel Dr Wortle's School. Reforming Trollope is a transformative examination of an author too long identified as the epitome of the complacent English gentleman.

The Ladies' Repository, 1873. The idea of this women's magazine originated with Samuel Williams, a Cincinnati Methodist who thought that Christian women needed a magazine less worldly than Godey's Lady's Book and Snowden's Lady's Companion. Written largely by ministers, this exceptionally well-printed little magazine contained well-written essays of a moral character, plenty of poetry, articles on historical and scientific matters, and book reviews. Among western writers were Alice Cary, who contributed over a hundred sketches and poems; her sister Phoebe Cary; Otway Curry; Moncure D. Conway; and Joshua R. Giddings. New England contributors included Mrs. Lydia Sigourney, Hannah F. Gould, and Julia C. R. Dorr. By 1851, each issue published a piece of music and two steel plates, usually landscapes or portraits. When Davis E. Clark took over the editorship in 1853, the magazine became brighter and attained a circulation of 40,000. Unlike his predecessors, Clark included fictional pieces and made the Repository a magazine for the whole family. After the war, it began to decline and in 1876 was replaced by the National Repository. The Ladies' Repository was an excellent representative of the Methodist mind and heart. Its essays, sketches, and poems, its good steel engravings, and its moral tone gave it a charm all its own. Cf. American periodicals, 1741-1900.

Frances Power Cobbe and Victorian Feminism. Susan Hamilton, 2006-04-04. This new book asks a key question: what did it mean to have a Victorian feminist write for an established newspaper or periodical? Using the example of Frances Power Cobbe, it focuses on Victorian feminism and its political workings and urges us to reconsider what feminism looked like in the nineteenth century.

Barbara Leigh Smith Bodichon. Pam Hirsch, 2010-12-07. Barbara Leigh Smith Bodichon was the most unconventional and influential leader of the Victorian women's movement. Enormously talented, energetic, and original, she was a feminist, law reformer, painter, journalist, the close friend of George Eliot, and a cousin of Florence Nightingale. Raphaelite women artists As a feminist she led four great campaigns for married women's legal status for the right to work the right to vote and to education Making brilliant use of unpublished journals and letters Pam Hirsch has written a biography that is as lively and powerful as its subject recreating the woman in all her moods and placing her firmly in the context of women's struggle for equality The Church Monthly ,1862 Arthur's Illustrated Home Magazine ,1873

The Sealed Letter Emma Donoghue,2009 Emily Fido Faithfull a spinster pioneer in the British women's movement is distracted from her cause by the details of her friend's failing marriage and affair with a young army officer in this drama of friends lovers and divorce Victorian style Barbara Leigh Smith Bodichon and the Langham Place Group Candida Ann Lacey,2013-07-04 First published in 1987 Reprints material from the 1850's and 1860's a period which marked a turning point in the history of British Feminism At the centre of this was Barbara Leigh Smith Bodichon whose pioneering schemes to improve the status of women made these years some of the richest in debate and reform
