This book analyzes why the most influential novelists of the long eighteenth century centered their narratives on the theory and practice of gift exchange Throughout this period fundamental shifts in economic theories regarding the sources of individual and national wealth along with transformations in the practices of personal and institutional charity profoundly altered cultural understandings of the gift s rationale purpose and function Drawing on materials such as sermons conduct books works of political philosophy and tracts on social reform Zionkowski challenges the idea that capitalist discourse was the dominant influence on the development of prose fiction Instead by shifting attention to the gift system as it was imagined and enacted in the formative years of the novel the volume offers an innovative understanding of how the economy of obligation shaped writers portrayals of class and gender identity property and community Through theoretically informed readings of Richardson s Clarissa and Sir Charles Grandison Burney s Cecilia and The Wanderer and Austen s Mansfield Park and Emma the book foregrounds the issues of donation reciprocity indebtedness and gratitude as it investigates the conflicts between the market and moral economies and analyzes women's position at the center of these conflicts. As this study reveals, the exchanges that eighteenth-century fiction prescribed for women confirm the continuing power and importance of gift transactions in the midst of an increasingly commercial culture. The volume will be essential reading for scholars of the eighteenth-century novel, economic literary criticism, women and gender studies, and book history. Savannah from Savannah / Savannah Comes Undone (2 novels in 1) Denise Hildreth Jones, 2010-06-19. Illusionist Laurie Buchanan, 2025-04-15. A contemporary crime thriller perfect for Louise Penny and Robert Dugoni fans. Illusionist presents PI McPherson with an impossible dilemma: kill an author at a writing retreat in the Pacific Northwest or let a college student die. WHEN AN ILLUSIONIST joins the Pines Quill writing retreat, one of the owners vanishes without a trace in the middle of everyone, but the surrounding would-be witnesses don't see or hear a thing. That's when crime boss Georgio Gambino makes a checkmate move against his nemesis Sean McPherson: he attempts to blackmail a writer in residence into killing another writer and framing McPherson. In a video call, Gambino warns the writer: "If you don't follow orders, your daughter will die." Then he pans the camera to prove his access to her college dorm room. As he begins to investigate, McPherson discovers that Carmine Fiore, Gambino's second in command, covets his boss's role and is staging a coup. As Gambino's soldiers traffic drugs, weapons, and humans, Fiore plants incriminating evidence against the notorious Sure os gang. Can McPherson leverage that knowledge for a temporary truce and the gang's help? Even if he can, the Sure os gang won't be enough alone. As the clock ticks down, McPherson gathers Pines Quill's writers in residence: a former NASCAR driver, a professional triathlete, an architect-turned-house flipper, and a world-renowned magician who may not be who she appears to be to create the illusion of a lifetime. Books in Print, 1977. Five Fictions in Search of Truth Myra Jehlen, 2016-07-26. Fiction far from being the opposite of truth is wholly bent on finding it out, and writing novels is a way to know the real world as objectively as possible. In Five Fictions in Search of Truth, Myra Jehlen develops this idea through readings of works by Flaubert, James, and Nabokov. She invokes Proust's famous search for lost memory as the exemplary literary process which strives whatever its materials for a true knowledge. In Salammb, Flaubert digs up Carthage; in The Ambassadors, James plumbs the examined life and touches at its limits while in Lolita Nabokov traces a search for truth that becomes a trespass In these readings form and style emerge as fiction's means for taking hold of reality which is to say that they are as epistemological as they are aesthetic each one emerging by way of the other The aesthetic aspects of a literary work are just so many instruments for exploring a subject and the beauty and pleasure of a work confirm the validity of its account of the world For Flaubert famously a beautiful sentence was proven true by its beauty James and Nabokov wrote on the same assumption that form and style were at once the origin and the confirmation of a work's truth In Five Fictions in Search of Truth Jehlen shows moreover that fiction's findings are not only about the world but immanent within it Literature works concretely through this form that style this image that word seeking a truth that is equally concrete Writers write and readers read to discover an incarnate secular knowledge and in doing so they enact a basic concurrence between literature and science
