Emotional Self A Sociocultural Exploration:

The Emotional Self Deborah Lupton, 1998-04-15 This addition to a growing number of texts which approach emotions and emotionality from a social constructionist perspective is well written scholarly accessible and interesting There is both breadth and depth to this work Feminism and Psychology This broad ranging and accessible book brings together social and cultural theory with original empirical research into the nature of the emotional self in contemporary western societies The emphasis of the analysis is on the emotional self as a dynamic project that is continually shaped and reshaped via discourse embodied sensations memory personal biography and interactions with others and objects Using an interdisciplinary approach Deborah Lupton draws on a number of sociocultural approaches that adopt a post structuralist perspective She strongly emphasizes language and discourse as they construct and express concepts of the self and the emotions whilst also acknowledging the sensual embodied and unconscious dimensions of emotional experience The Emotional Self Deborah

Lupton, 1998-06-18 This addition to a growing number of texts which approach emotions and emotionality from a social constructionist perspective is well written scholarly accessible and interesting There is both breadth and depth to this work Feminism and Psychology This broad ranging and accessible book brings together social and cultural theory with original empirical research into the nature of the emotional self in contemporary western societies The emphasis of the analysis is on the emotional self as a dynamic project that is continually shaped and reshaped via discourse embodied sensations memory personal biography and interactions with others and objects Using an interdisciplinary approach Paul's Emotional Regime

Ian Y. S. Jew, 2020-10-15 In his letters Paul speaks often of his emotions and also promotes certain feelings while banishing others This indicates that for Paul emotion is vital However in New Testament studies the study of emotions is still nascent current research in the social sciences highlights its cognitive and social dimensions Ian Y S Jew combines rigorous social scientific analysis and exegetical enquiry to argue that emotions are intrinsic to the formation of the Pauline communities as they encode belief structures and influence patterns of social experience By taking joy in Philippians and grief in 1 Thessalonians as representative emotions and contrasting Paul's approach with that of his Stoic contemporaries Jew demonstrates that authorized feelings have socially integrating and differentiating functions by reinforcing the shared theological realities upon which emotional norms are based group belonging is bolstered Simultaneously authorized emotions fortify the theological boundaries between Christians and others which strengthens group solidarity in the Church by accentuating its members insider status Using this framework heuristically Jew explores how the interplay of symbolic ritual and social elements within Paul's eschatological worldview reinforces emotional norms and demonstrates that attention to emotion can only deepen our understanding of the social formation of the early believers The Autobiographical Self in Time and Culture Qi Wang, 2013-07-26 In this volume Qi Wang traces the developmental social cultural and historical origins of the autobiographical self the self that is made of memories of the personal past and of the family and the community Wang combines rigorous research sensitive survey of real memories and memory conversations and fascinating personal anecdotes into a state of the art book As a marginal woman who grew up in the East and works and lives in the West Wang s analysis is unique insightful and approachable Her accounts of her own family stories extraordinarily careful and thorough documentation of research findings and compelling theoretical insights together convey an unequivocal message The autobiographical self is conditioned by one s time and culture Beginning with a perceptive examination of the form content and function of parent child conversations of personal and family stories Wang undertakes to show how the autobiographical self is formed in and shaped by the process of family storytelling situated in specific cultural contexts By contrasting the development of autobiographical writings in Western and Chinese literatures Wang seeks to demonstrate the cultural stance of the autobiographical self in historical time She examines the autobiographical self in personal time thoughtfully analyzing the form structure and content of everyday memories to reveal the role of culture in modulating information processing and determining how the autobiographical self is remembered Focusing on memories of early childhood Wang seeks to answer the question of when the autobiographical self begins from a cross cultural perspective She sets out further to explore some of the most controversial issues in current psychological research of autobiographical memory focusing particularly on issues of memory representations versus memory narratives and silence versus voice in the construction of the autobiographical self appropriate to one s cultural assumptions She concludes with historical analyses of the influences of the larger social political and economic forces on the autobiographical self and takes a forward look at the autobiographical self as a product of modern technology

Authoring the Dialogic Self Gergana Vitanova,2010 This book offers a truly interdisciplinary perspective on key socio cultural aspects of second language learning Building on Bakhtin s philosophy of language and the self it examines the complex intersections among gender culture and agency in the everyday discursive practices of immigrants Bakhtin s dialogic framework still remains on the periphery of second language acquisition research The book embraces not only Bakhtin s well known notion of dialogue but also his core concepts of responsibility and ethics in the analysis of immigrants narrative samples The significance of narratives is underscored throughout the book and a dialogic discourse centered approach to narrative as a genre is suggested Authoring the Dialogical Self targets a range of disciplines Scholars in applied linguistics narrative studies cultural psychology and communication studies will find the discussed concepts relevant The rich data samples and detailed analysis make the book appropriate for graduate courses in TESOL language and identity or language and gender

Pedagogies of the Imagination Timothy Leonard,Peter Willis,2008-06-11 I have long admired the mythopoetic tradition in curriculum studies That admiration followed from my experience as a high school teacher of English in a wealthy suburb of New York City at the end of the 1960s A dream job I taught four classes of 15 20 students during a nine period day in a dream suburb where I could afford to reside only by taking a room in a retired teacher s house many of these often Ivy League bound students had everything but meaningful lives This middle class Midwestern young teacher was flabbergasted In one sense my academic life has been devoted to understanding that searing experience Matters of meaning seemed paramount in the curriculum field to which Paul Klohr introduced me at Ohio State Klohr assigned me the work of curriculum theorists such as James B Macdonald Like Timothy Leonard who also studied with Klohr at Ohio State and Peter Willis Macdonald 1995 understood that school reform was part of a broader cultural and political crisis in which meaning is but one casualty In the mythopoetic tradition in curriculum studies scholars labor to understand this crisis and the conditions for the reconstruction of meaning in our time in our schools

Emotions in Second Language Teaching Juan de Dios Martínez Agudo, 2018-03-12 This edited volume explores the multifaceted nature of teacher emotions presenting current research from different approaches and perspectives focused towards the second language classroom Twenty three chapters by well known scholars from the applied linguistics TESOL and educational psychology fields provide the reader with a holistic picture of teacher emotions making this collection a significant contribution to the field of second language teaching Given the emotional nature of teaching the book explores a number of key issues or dimensions of L2 teachers emotions that were until now rarely considered The contributions present the views of a select group of applied linguistic researchers and L2 teacher educators from around the world This international perspective makes the book essential reading for both L2 teachers and teacher educators

The End of Illusions Andreas Reckwitz, 2021-06-28 We live in a time of great uncertainty about the future Those heady days of the late twentieth century when the end of the Cold War seemed to be ushering in a new and more optimistic age now seem like a distant memory During the last couple of decades we've been battered by one crisis after another and the idea that humanity is on a progressive path to a better future seems like an illusion It is only now that we can see clearly the real scope and structure of the profound shifts that Western societies have undergone over the last 30 years Classical industrial society has been transformed into a late modern society that is molded by polarization and paradoxes The pervasive singularization of the social the orientation toward the unique and exceptional generates systematic asymmetries and disparities and hence progress and unease go hand in hand Reckwitz examines this dual structure of singularization and polarization as it plays itself out in the different sectors of our societies and in so doing he outlines the central structural features of the present the new class society the characteristics of a postindustrial economy the conflict about culture and identity the exhaustion of the self resulting from the imperative to seek authentic fulfillment and the political crisis of liberalism Building on his path breaking work The Society of Singularities this new book will be of great interest to students and scholars in sociology politics and the social sciences generally and to anyone concerned with the great social and political issues of our time

Rational Woman Raia Prokhovnik, 2012-11-12 To feminists and some postmodernists reason and emotion and man and woman represent two fundamental polarities fixed deep within Western philosophy and reflected in the structures of our languages and two sets of hierarchical power relations in patriarchal society Raia Prokhovnik challenges the tradition of dualism and argues that rational woman need no longer be a contradiction in terms Prokhovnik examines in turn the nature of dichotomy its problems and an alternative the reason/emotion dichotomy dichotomies central to the man/woman dualism such as sex/gender and the heterosexualist norm

The Body in Everyday Life Sarah Nettleton, Jonathan Watson, 2002-03-11 We all have a body but how does it impact upon our day to day life This book sets out to explore how ordinary women men and children talk about their bodies through four central themes physical and emotional bodies illness and disability gender ageing A coherent collection of such empirical research The Body in Everyday Life provides an accessible introduction to the sociology of the body a field previously dominated by theoretical or philosophical accounts

Bourdieu and Education Diane Reay, 2020-04-28 Specially selected by Diane Reay this is a collection of innovative and thought provoking recently published papers that use Bourdieu to put theory into practice in order to understand and analyse educational problems Bourdieu's work is renowned for its focus on inequalities and its centering of social justice The contributions utilise a wide range of diverse concepts in Bourdieu's theoretical tool kit and address educational inequalities across different aspects of the educational system from higher education and parental choice of schooling to teachers professional development and the PE classroom Illuminating key aspects of Bourdieu's scholarship they reveal how good Bourdieu is for thinking with illustrate the merits of reflexivity the move beyond binary ways of reading the social world and demonstrate the significance of power in any analysis of education The chapters in this book were all originally published as articles in Taylor and Francis journals
