Measuring Emotions in Infants and Children Carroll Ellis Izard,Peter B. Read,1982 Volume 1 brings together a strong group of researchers who have pioneered a wide variety of empirical approaches to the difficult problems of conceptualising and assessing emotion in infants and children The volume will be an invaluable resource for all those who study infants and children Volume 2 complements the first volume which gave new impetus to research on social and affective development adapted from vendor website Emotion Measurement Herbert L. Meiselman,2021-04-09 Emotion Measurement Second Edition highlights key elements of emotions that should be considered in the measurement of emotions in both academic and commercial environments This edition begins with an updated review of basic studies of emotion including the theory physiology and psychology of emotions as these are the foundational studies which food scientists as well as product developers and marketing professionals need to be aware of The second section highlights methods for studying emotions and reviews the different approaches to emotion measurement questionnaire self report behavioral and physiological This section explores the merits of intrinsic versus extrinsic measures of emotion Some new measurement approaches have emerged since the first edition of this book The book then presents practical applications with chapters on emotion research in food and beverage as well as in a range of products and clinical settings The experience in testing product emotions has increased since the first edition when product emotion research was newer Finally Emotion Measurement Second Edition provides coverage of cross cultural research on emotions This is critical because much of the newer commercial research is aimed at markets around the world requiring methods that work in many cultures And the universality of emotions has been a topic of research for decades Taking both an academic and applied approach Emotion Measurement Second Edition will be an invaluable reference for those conducting basic academic research on emotions and for sensory and consumer scientists and the product developers and marketing professionals they work alongside Reviews both the academic and the applied strands of emotion measurement research Focuses on cross cultural studies of emotions which is currently lacking from most of the literature in the field Highlights methods for studying emotions in both basic and applied studies The Measurement of Emotions Robert Plutchik, Henry Kellerman,2013-09-24 Emotion Theory Research and Experience Volume 4 The Measurement of Emotion provides an examination of the key issue of how to measure emotion The book contains articles that present different approaches to the study of emotional measurement Contributors focus on such topics as mood measurement cross cultural examination of triggers of emotion possible dimensions that underlie the language of affect measurement of emotions in lower animals and measuring emotions and their derivatives Psychologists psychiatrists behavioral psychologists teachers and students will find the book a good reference book Cumulated Index Medicus ,1976 The Emotions Nico H. Frijda,1986 What are emotions This book offers a balanced survey of facts and theory     Emotional Intelligence Aruna Chakraborty,Amit Konar,2009-09-16 Emotional Intelligence is a new discipline of knowledge dealing with modeling recognition and control of human emotions The book Emotional Intelligence A Cybernetic Approach to the best of the authors knowledge is a first comprehensive text of its kind that provides a clear introduction to the subject in a precise and insightful writing style It begins with a philosophical introduction to Emotional Intelligence and gradually explores the mathematical models for emotional dynamics to study the artificial control of emotion using music and videos and also to determine the interactions between emotion and logic from the points of view of reasoning The later part of the book covers the chaotic behavior of existing emotions under certain conditions of emotional dynamics Finally the book attempts to cluster emotions using electroencephalogram signals and demonstrates the scope of application of emotional intelligence in several engineering systems such as human machine interfaces psychotherapy user assistance systems and many others The book includes ten chapters Chapter 1 provides an introduction to the subject from a philosophical and psychological standpoint It outlines the fundamental causes of emotion arousal and typical characteristics of the phenomenon of an emotive experience The relation between emotion and rationality of thoughts is also introduced here Principles of natural regulation of emotions are discussed in brief and the biological basis of emotion arousal using an affective neuroscientific model is introduced next     Emotions and Bodily Responses James L McGaugh,2013-10-22 Emotions and Bodily Responses A Psychophysiological Approach is an introduction to the principles of psychophysiology as they relate to bodily responses and emotions The emphasis is on the study of human subjects and on those bodily responses heart rate blood pressure blood volume electrodermal responses muscle tension brain waves that can be measured from the periphery of the body without the use of invasive techniques Comprised of nine chapters this book begins with an overview of some basic physiological principles and recording techniques followed by a discussion on some of the types of stimuli that cause changes in bodily responses Subsequent chapters explore individual differences in personality and emotional factors and relate them to differences in physiological responses how differences in bodily responses are related to the major forms of psychopathology the link between bodily responses and behavioral performance and general states such as sleep and stress in relation to bodily responses Bodily responses that accompany psychosomatic illnesses are also considered along with the modification of bodily responses by various learning techniques including Pavlovian conditioning and biofeedback training The final chapter is devoted to the application of bodily responses to the detection of deception This monograph is written for students clinicians and researchers who would like to become familiar with the basic methods data and concepts that relate bodily responses to emotional states     Current Bibliography of Epidemiology ,1972     Measuring Serious Emotional Disturbance in Children National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine,Institute of Medicine,Board on Health Sciences Policy,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Board on Behavioral, Cognitive, and Sensory Sciences,Committee on National Statistics,2016-02-28 The workshop summarized in this report was organized as part of a study sponsored by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration SAMHSA and the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation of the U S Department of Health and Human Services with the goal of assisting SAMHSA in its responsibilities of expanding the collection of behavioral health data in several areas The workshop brought together experts in child mental health psychiatric epidemiology and survey methods to facilitate discussion of the most suitable measures and mechanisms for producing estimates of serious emotional disturbance in children which are necessary to enable the distribution of block grants that support state level mental health services for children The report discusses existing measures and data on mental disorders and functional impairment challenges associated with collecting these data in large scale population based studies as well as study design and estimation options

Assessing Well-Being Ed

Diener,2009-06-04 The Sandvik Diener and Seidlitz 1993 paper is another that has received widespread attention because it documented the fact that self report well being scales correlate with a number of other methods of measuring the same concepts such as with reports by knowledgeable informants family and friends experience sampling measurement and the memory for good versus bad life events A single factor was found to underlie measures using different methods and a number of different well being self report measures were found to correlate with the non self report measures Thus although the self report measures of well being are imperfect and can be influenced by response artifacts they have substantial validity as shown by their correlations with measurements based on alternative methods Whereas the Pavot and Diener article reviewed the Satisfaction with Life Scale the Lucas Diener and Larsen 2003 paper reviews various approaches to assessing positive emotions As we wrote in the chapter in this volume in which we present new measures we do not consider any of the existing measures of positive affect to be entirely acceptable for measuring subjective well being in the affect area and that is why we have created and validated a new measure

Affect and Emotion in Human-Computer Interaction Christian

Peter,Russell Beale,2008-08-25 Affect and emotion play an important role in our everyday lives They are present whatever we do wherever we are and wherever we go without us being aware of them for much of the time When it comes to interaction be it with humans technology or humans via technology we suddenly become more aware of emotion either by seeing the other's emotional expression or by not getting an emotional response while anticipating one Given this it seems only sensible to explore affect and emotion in human computer interaction to investigate the underlying principles to study the role they play to develop methods to quantify them and to finally build applications that make use of them This is the research field for which over ten years ago Rosalind Picard coined the phrase affective computing The present book provides an account of the latest work on a variety of aspects related to affect and emotion in human technology interaction It covers theoretical issues user experience and design aspects as well as sensing issues and reports on a number of affective applications that have been developed in recent years

The Measurement of Emotional Reactions David Wechsler, 1925

Social Emotions and Their Influences Huiyan Lin, Giorgio Coricelli, Chunliang Feng, Siyang Luo, Steven Young, 2023-06-06

The common dimensional model of emotion has emphasized that emotional information is generally processed from two dimensions valence from negative to positive and arousal from low to high Recently several theories have proposed that emotions also vary along a sociality dimension ranging from non social emotions i e basic biological drives to social emotions i e complex social interactions Specifically non social emotions e g fear are derived from incentives or aversive emotions that have direct physiological relevance whereas social emotions e g guilt are elicited within the context of social information processing or social cognition Multiple empirical studies have investigated the processing of non social emotions and the influences of these emotions on other cognitive processes However questions regarding social emotion processes and their influences are still open For example little is known about psychological and neural mechanisms underlying different social emotions processes e g guilt shame love envy and pride the development and individual differences of social emotions or the influences of social emotions on social behaviors and decision making Therefore this Research Topic aims to gain a deeper understanding of how different social emotions are processed among different populations and how these social emotions influence other cognitive processes We aim to have a collection of studies which extend the theoretical technical and empirical knowledge about psychological and neural mechanisms underlying social emotions processes as well as the influences of these processes on other cognitive processes in particular on social decision making We encourage studies from different domains e g emotion behavioural economics and decision making implemented by different techniques e g behaviour electrophysiology neuroimaging and brain stimulations among different populations e g healthy adults children and elderly persons with psychological traits and personalities and psychiatric patients
