

The New Nonaligned Movement Is Having a Moment

As the Global South states look to insulate themselves from great power competition, they must uphold the principles of the international order.

Thursday, May 4, 2023 / By: Andrew Cheatham

Editor's Note: The following is the first installment of a two-part series looking at the nonaligned movement amid and after Russia's war on Ukraine. Part two will discuss why the nonaligned movement should condemn Russia's invasion and continue to support the foundational principles of the international order.

Russia's invasion of Ukraine has accentuated emerging geopolitical trends that have coincided with the rise and intensification of great power competition. The re-emergence of the nonaligned movement (NAM) as a geopolitical force is perhaps the most salient example. Indeed, this month's edition of Foreign Affairs — a reliable barometer of key trends in international affairs — is dedicated to the "nonaligned world." By definition, NAM states do not want to be forced to choose sides between the United States and/or Russia and China. But as we move into a multipolar era of accelerating great power competition, these states will find themselves caught between major powers.
