Neoliberal Bandwagonism. Civil society and the politics of belonging in Anglophone Cameroon Piet Konings,2009-11-01 Civil society and empowerment have become buzz words in neoliberal development discourse Yet many unanswered questions remain on the actual nature and configuration assumed by civil society in specific contexts Typically while neoliberals perceive civil society organisations as vital intermediary channels for the successful implementation of desired economic and political reforms they are inclined to blame the current resurgence of the politics of belonging for the poor record of these reforms in Africa and elsewhere This book rejects such notions and argues that the relationship between civil society and the politics of belonging is more complex in Africa than western donors and scholars are willing to admit Konings argues that ethno regional associations and movements are even more significant constituents of civil society in Africa than the conventional civil society organisations that are often uncritically imposed or endorsed He convincingly shows how the politics of belonging so pervasive in Cameroon and indeed much of Africa during the current neoliberal economic and political reforms has tended to penetrate the entire range of associational life This calls for a critical re appraisal of prevalent notions and assumptions about civil society in the interest of African reality Hence the importance of this book     The Politics of Neoliberal Reforms in Africa Piet Konings,2011-07-26 Neoliberalism has become the dominant development agenda in Africa Faced with a deep economic and political crisis African governments have been compelled by powerful external agencies in particular the Bretton Woods institutions and western states to pursue this agenda as a necessary precondition for the receipt of development aid What is particularly striking in Africa however is that neoliberal experiments there have displayed such remarkable diversity This may be due not only to substantial differences in historical economic and political trajectories on the African continent but also and maybe more importantly in the degree of resistance internal actors have demonstrated to the neoliberal reforms imposed on them This book focuses on Cameroon which has had a complex economic and political history and is currently witnessing resistance to the neoliberal experiment by the authoritarian and neopatrimonial state elite and various civil society groups It is the culmination of over twenty years of fine and refined research by one of the leading scholars of Cameroon today Crisis and Neoliberal Reforms in Africa Piet Konings, 2011 This book discusses the social and political consequences of the economic and financial crisis that befell African economies since the 1980s using as case study the plantation economy of the Anglophone region of Cameroon The focus is thus on recent efforts to liberalize and privatize an agro industrial enterprise where overseas capital and its domestic partners have converged the consequent modes of production and labour and the alternatives proposed and resistance generated The study details how the unprecedented crisis caused great commotion in the region and presented a serious challenge to existing theories on plantation production and capital accumulation The crisis resulted in the introduction of a number of neoliberal economic reforms including the withdrawal of state intervention and the restructuring liquidation and privatisation of the major agro industrial enterprises These reforms in turn had severe consequences for several civil society groups and their organisations that had a direct stake in the regional plantation economy notably the regional elite chiefs plantation workers and contract farmers On the basis of extensive research in the Anglophone Cameroon region Konings shows that these civil society groups have never resigned themselves to their fate but have been actively involved in a variety of formal and informal modes of resistance Big Business and Economic Development Barbara Hogenboom, Alex E. Fernández Jilberto, 2006-12-21 Bringing together an international and multidisciplinary group of experts this is the first comprehensive volume to analyze conglomerates and economic groups in developing countries and transition economies Using sixteen in depth case studies it provides a comparative framework for the study of contemporary process of privatization economic and financial liberalization and neoliberal globalization Exploring the various causes and economic social and political effects of the rise of big business in Asia Latin America Africa and Eastern Europe the main issues that are examined include the nature of contemporary economic concentration the relations between local and external investors the impact on development and on economic and political control over its direction the new role of the state towards conglomerates and economics groups the effects of economic and political changes on the legitimacy of the state and large companies This volume is perfect as either a textbook or supplementary reading for students at all levels as well as researchers and governmental and non governmental professionals working and studying in the fields of international business and economic development     Beyond Liberal Peacebuilding Elisa Randazzo, 2017-06-14 This book examines the logic behind the shifts and paradigm changes within the scholarship on peacebuilding. In particular, the book is concerned with examining if and how these shifts have significantly altered how we think about peacebuilding beyond the liberal peacebuilding paradigm. To do so, the book engages with the logic of critique that has led to the emergence of different theoretical approaches to peacebuilding, from hands-on institutionalisation to the local turn. It uses the case of Kosovo to understand how a lessons-learned approach facilitated the shift towards more invasive and intrusive forms of peacebuilding. However, it is also crucial to understanding the recent local turn as the rise of local ownership discourses in Kosovo is fundamentally tied to the critiques of extensive international missions and the associated resistance and marginalisation of local agency. The book examines the implications of the framing of everyday agency in order to assess the extent to which these bottom-up approaches have been able to bypass the problems attributed to the liberal peace approach. It argues that despite its critical and radical intentions, the local turn retains certain foundational modernist and positivist qualities that have so far characterised the very mainstream approaches these critiques claim to transcend. This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding, statebuilding, peace and conflict studies, security studies and International Relations in general.

Participatory Spaces Under Urban Capitalism Markus Holdo, 2023-09-22 Can people use new participatory spaces to reclaim their rights as citizens and challenge structures of political power? This book carefully examines the constraints and possibilities for participatory governance under capitalism. To understand what is at stake in the politics of participation, we need to look beyond the values commonly associated with it. Citizens face a dilemma: should they participate even if this helps to sustain an unjust system, or not participate, thereby turning down rare opportunities to make a difference? By examining the rationale behind democratic innovation and the reasons people have for getting involved, this book provides a theory of how citizens can use new democratic spaces to challenge political boundaries. Connecting numerous international case studies and presenting original research from Rosario, Argentina, this book offers a crucial corrective to previous research. What matters most is not the design of new models of participation, nor is it the supposed radical imagination of political leaders. It is whether people use new spaces for participation to renegotiate what democracy means in practice. Bridging critical urban studies and democratic theory, this book will be of interest to researchers and students in the fields of democratic innovations, political economy and urban planning. It will also provide activists and practitioners of participatory democracy with important tools to expand spaces of grassroots democracy.
