Brown,2013-10-22 Disaster Preparedness and the United Nations Advance Planning for Disaster Relief examines the roles and relationships of programs being implemented by the United Nations in the area of disaster relief and preparedness The study focuses on the disaster preparedness activities of the United Nations the programs designed to improve the preparedness posture of disaster prone developing countries and the programs designed to improve the disaster relief capabilities of the organizations The book also provides a brief review of the relationship between disasters and development a description of the international disaster relief system and strategies for overcoming pitfalls in internal organizational arrangements Researchers international program administrators and international studies students will find the book invaluable

Encyclopedia of Disaster Relief K. Bradley Penuel,Matt Statler,2010-12-29 This encyclopedia covers response to disasters around the world from governments to NGOs from charities to politics from refugees to health and from economics to international relations covering issues in both historical and contemporary context. The volumes include information relevant to students of sociology, national security, economics, health sciences, political science, emergency preparedness, history, agriculture, and many other subjects. The goal is to help readers appreciate the importance of the effects, responsibilities, and ethics of disaster relief and to initiate educational discussion brought forth by the specific cultural, scientific, and topical articles contained within the work. Including 425 signed entries in a two volume set presented in A to Z format and drawing contributors from varied academic disciplines, this encyclopedia also features a preface by Thomas H. Kean and Lee H. Hamilton of the 9/11 Commission. This reference resource examines disaster response and relief in a manner that is authoritative yet accessible, jargon free, and balanced to help readers better understand issues from varied perspectives.

Key Themes: Geography, Government and International Agencies, History, Human induced Disasters, Infrastructure, Local Response, Major Disasters, Relief Case Studies, Medicine and Psychology, Methods and Practices, Mitigation, Natural Disasters, Overviews, Politics and Funding, Preparedness, Recovery, Response, Science and Prediction, Sociology, U.S. Geographical Response.

Emergency Relief Operations Kevin M. Cahill, 2003. This book is a practical introduction to the fundamental issues in providing humanitarian relief in emergencies. Bringing together an internationally distinguished team of physicians, diplomats, scholars, activists, and other professionals, the book covers a wide range of crises. The essays form an essential introduction to the dynamics of aid and responding to the effects of war, civil strife, epidemics, and other emergencies.

Intelligence Support to Humanitarian-disaster Relief Operations G. Ted Constantine, 1995 Disaster Relief in the Asia Pacific Minako Sakai, Edwin Jurriëns, Jian Zhang, Alec Thornton, 2014-01-03. A UN report recently found that the Asia Pacific is the world's most disaster-prone region. Indeed, considering that the region accounts for more than half of the total number of disasters in the world, building capacity and resilience to mitigate the devastating impact of disasters is a pressing task for local actors. This book takes a regional multidisciplinary and multi-actor approach to improve understandings of how various actors respond to natural and human-induced disasters in the Asia Pacific region. It examines the ideas and activities of four different categories of agents: civil society, military, and state institutions, local cultural knowledge, and the media and economic initiatives, and these themes are approached from various academic disciplines ranging from anthropology and cultural studies to economics, human geography, and political science. The contributors draw their findings from a variety of countries in the region, including China, Fiji, India, Indonesia, Japan, Myanmar, and Samoa, and importantly focus on the interconnection between vulnerability and resilience. In turn, the book highlights how the nature and magnitude of disasters are influenced by social conditions and aims to contribute to policies that prioritize development opportunities to enhance resilience. Further, it explores the complicated and multifaceted role of agency in building resilience and presents a comparative framework for analysis and key findings from the Asia Pacific region. The focus of this book on recent and ongoing disasters makes it a topical and timely contribution to the growing field of disaster management and as such it will appeal to students and scholars of environmental studies development studies and Asian politics
