Emergent Writers Workshop:

Emergent Writer's Workshop Leslie Ottley, 2005-08-18 When Writers Drive the Workshop Brian Kissel, 2017 In this practical engaging book former elementary school teacher and university professor Brian Kissel asks teachers to go back to the roots of writing workshop What happens when students not planned teaching points lead writing conferences What happens when students not tests determine what they learned through reflection and self evaluation Writing instruction has shifted in recent years to more accountability taking the focus away from the writer This book explores what happens when empowered writers direct the writing workshop Through stories from real classrooms Brian reveals that no matter where children come from they all have the powerful shared need to be heard And when children choose their writing topics their lives unfold onto the page and teachers are educated by the young voices and bold choices of these writers Written in an engaging teacher to teacher style this book focuses on four key components of writing workshop with an eye on what happens when teachers step back and allow students to drive the instruction Conferencing sessions where students lead and teachers listen Author s Chair where students set the agenda and ask for feedback Reflection time and structures for students to set goals and expectations for themselves Mini lessons that allow for detours based on students needs not teacher or curricular goals Each of the chapters includes practical ideas a section of Guiding Beliefs a list of Frequently Asked Questions and some Digital Diversions to help teachers see the digital possibilities in their classrooms Writer's Workshop Michelle Copher, Karen Loutzenhiser, 2020-11-20 Writer s Workshop is a family style program which means your whole family from ages six to eighteen and beyond can use the program together The activities are meant to be a family affair with individual expectations being tailored to the ages and abilities of each child We also encourage you to share completed individual work like reports posters stories and other writing projects with one another in share and clap sessions Like all of Layers of Learning Writer s Workshop is a pick and choose curriculum you don t need to complete everything in the book Instead browse through and choose the Mini Lessons and Exercises that appeal to you and are appropriate for your kids For a more detailed look at Writer s Workshop we invite you to read Guidebook How to Create a Writer s Workshop which you can find at Layers of Learning com In general each unit within this book is designed to last about a month and then be repeated in subsequent years but the exact schedule and timing are completely up to you If your kids are engaged and enthusiastic about a topic feel free to carry on for a little while longer Writer s Workshop should be a daily part of your homeschool In Writer s Workshop each Exercise is one complete lesson plan The exact length of each one varies and depends on your needs the ages of the students and how absorbed in a lesson you get However you can generally plan on one hour per lesson Lessons can stretch over multiple days as needed Above and Beyond the Writing Workshop Shelley Harwayne, 2023-10-10 When writing workshops first blossomed in classrooms its hallmarks were genuine curiosity individual choice quality conversations and engaging children s literature A joyous hum of intention creativity and craft enlivened the school day Today's teachers are often faced with a range of obstacles as new initiatives are embraced mandates handed down and scripted programs are purchased Sometimes teachers must sacrifice the original principles of the writing workshop and lose the creative venue they provide Above and Beyond the Writing Workshop is filled with original writing challenges designed to bring back the spirit of the original writing workshop model and encourage teachers to enhance it with invention innovation and inspiration Teaching creative writing is not only possible but an important process in their instruction Author Shelley Harwayne invites teachers to keep the workshop spirit alive by Encouraging professional conversations on classroom ideas and methods between colleagues Developing writing cues that allow young writers to be inquisitive outspoken and independent Showing how high quality writing can make a difference Offering an inspired and stimulating outlet for students to express their passions Harwayne's book will help teachers encourage students to write the world around them which can generate more critical thinking and make for a more well rounded child Story Workshop Susan Harris MacKay, 2021-03-11 Even our youngest students have lots of stories to tell whether real or imagined How can we create entry points for writing so that all writers feel confident and motivated to share their stories How can we establish a classroom community of beginning writers where equity empathy and compassion become part of the process and vital by products of story writing Enter story workshop a structure for early literacy that amplifies the relationship between play art and writing Children develop ideas and stories through choices of art materials By creating images through play story workshop invites children to explore the amazingness Nisa age 10 of their ideas in a variety of art forms Through their stories Susan writes students share the meaning they make of their experiences in the world Children in every classroom environment feel empowered to transition from play to pencil as they add words to their stories Story Workshop includes an abundance of classroom videos photos and student samples that illustrate what is possible when children use words colors textures shapes and all kinds of materials to create the stories they want to tell Watch how students imaginations soar their love of writing blossoms and their connections with one another become the focal point of your classroom Engaging Emergent Writers with Anchor Lessons Jamie Meyer, Timothy G. Weih, 2013 This project focused on the creation of curriculum that would support writing development for emergent writers aged 5 to 7 years old The research base of the project explored how beginning writers can be scaffolded in their attempts to learn how to write Past research was also examined to discover how emergent writers can be engaged in developmentally appropriate ways what writing concepts to expect from young writers and how to motivate young children to write Anchor lessons were developed based upon the existing research base that connects children's literature to writing concepts and engagement The resulting conclusions illustrated the importance of teaching children within their individual zones of proximal development the use of materialization and private speech connecting writing to children's literature and careful attention towards scaffolding instruction based upon children's needs Each of these findings was built into anchor lessons to support young children's
