P P Southeast Asia Christoph Antweiler, 2004 Myanmar (Burma) since 1962: the Failure of Development Peter John Perry, 2021-02-27 Why has Myanmar Burma a country rich in resources rice timber minerals descended to least developed country status Is the explanation to be found inside Burma or beyond Is the failure of development due to political authoritarianism and conflict Or perhaps the drugs trade is partly to blame This book contends that all these factors have contributed But it also maintains that the mismanagement of the country's resources is of equal or even greater importance A clear answer to the question of Burma's developmental failure is sought by focussing upon the misuse of resources in concert with those factors that are more usually emphasized The Independence of East Timor Clinton Fernandes, 2021-05-11 This book is a history of the struggle for independence after East Timor was invaded by Indonesia in 1975 The occupation which lasted 24 years was immediately resisted through guerrilla warfare and clandestine resistance A continuum of effort between the armed freedom fighters in the mountains the resilience of urban supporters and international activism and support eventually brought about liberation in September 1999 Given that the Timor rebels did not have a land border with a friendly state had no external supplier of weapons and no liberated area in which to recover between guerrilla operations their successful resistance is unique in the history of guerrilla warfare and independence struggles Equally uncommon was an unexpected weapon in the struggle a remarkable display of strategic non violent action This is the first study to integrate all the major factors in East Timor's independence struggle The multi dimensional perspectives addressed in this volume include Indonesian US and Australian diplomacy Indonesian military operations and activities against the populace East Timorese resistance at all social levels human rights abuses the issue of oil and international diplomacy resulting from global solidarity activism Area Handbook for Burma John William Henderson, American University (Washington, D.C.). Foreign Area Studies, 1971 The Golden Peninsula Charles F. Environment and Empire William Beinart, Lotte Hughes, 2007-10-11 European imperialism was extraordinarily far reaching a key global historical process of the last 500 years It locked disparate human societies together over a wider area than any previous imperial expansion it underpinned the repopulation of the Americas and Australasia it was the precursor of globalization as we now understand it Imperialism was inseparable from the history of global environmental change Metropolitan countries sought raw materials of all kinds from timber and furs to rubber and oil They established sugar plantations that transformed island ecologies Settlers introduced new methods of farming and displaced indigenous peoples Colonial cities many of which became great conurbations fundamentally changed relationships between people and nature Consumer cultures the internal combustion engine and pollution are now ubiquitous Environmental history deals with the reciprocal interaction between people and other elements in the natural world and this book illustrates the diverse environmental themes in the history of empire Initially concentrating on the material factors that shaped empire and environmental change Environment and Empire discusses the way in which British consumers and manufacturers sucked in resources that were gathered hunted fished mined and farmed Yet it is also clear that British settler and colonial states sought to regulate the use of natural resources as well as commodify them Conservation aimed to preserve resources by exclusion as in wildlife parks and forests and to guarantee efficient use of soil and water Exploring these linked themes of exploitation and conservation this study concludes with a focus on political reassertions by colonised peoples over natural resources In a post imperial age they have found a new voice reformulating ideas about nature landscape and heritage and challenging at a local and global level views of who has the right to regulate nature Nature and Man in South East Asia P. A. Stott, 2005-12-01 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Social Evolution of Indonesia F. Tichelman, 2012-12-06 At a fairly early stage of socialism s penetration into the Afro Asian world a handful of European social democrats established an Indian Social Democratic Association ISDV They did so in a country Indonesia that was economically little developed and far away from any of the centres of European socialism and Asiatic radical national ism The ISDV was soon able to bring its influence to bear on sec tions of the urban proletariat and to build up an Indonesian revol utionary movement This occurred in sharp competition with a nascent nationalist leadership and then without the usual inter mediary role played by radicalizing groups of native intelligentsia In this way Dutch social democrats laid the foundations for one of the first communist parties in Asia and Africa a party which was des tined to become one of the few communist mass parties of the Third World However in contrast to the major communist movements of China Vietnam this Indonesian party was to demonstrate a basic weakness successive and catastrophic defeats If we leave out Japan the only non Western country where a capi talist industrial revolution occurred we see that foreign and particu larly Western minorities frequently did play a dominant role in the initial and formative phases of the socialist and workers movements of the Afro Asiatic world Assessment of land use changes in Mukdaham and Nakhon Phanom provinces (NE Thailand) by means of Remote Sensing Nils Renneberg, 2002-11-26 Inhaltsangabe Abstract Tropical land use changes predominantly the clearing of tropical rain and monsoon forests have long been recognized as a trend with dramatic consequences FAO estimated the global loss of rain forest area at 0.6 to 0.9 % per annum in 1993 Most of it can be attributed to the conversion of forest lands to agricultural areas In Southeast Asia two countries have suffered from this phenomenon more than any other nations the Philippines and Thailand Between 1961 and 1975 the forest reserves of Thailand have been reduced from 57 % to 37 % of the total area while at the same time the area put to agricultural use has almost doubled Only a small part of that process was due to organized resettlement programmes to an overwhelming extent the deforestation has been performed illegally by spontaneous activities of the rural population The share of forests further declined to 28.9 % in 1998 at a current rate of 0.7 % per year meaning that Thailand s forest cover has roughly halved since 1960 The author of this thesis stayed as a visiting researcher at the Asian Institute of Technology AIT immediately north of Bangkok for 6 months from November 2000 until April 2001 The AIT is a small international university for graduate studies with students and teachers from more than 40 countries The core institution for this scientific cooperation was the Asian Center for Research on Remote Sensing ACRORS of the AIT s School of Advanced Technologies SAT Field work in Northeast Thailand was carried out in two legs in February and April 2001 As an underlying principle of this study it was attempted to incorporate problems from the realms of social as well as physical geography i e to maintain a balance between questions of applied geography regional studies and remote sensing This also means that no special focus was put on advanced RS methodology such as the development of new image processing techniques the study is rather based on a somewhat holistic approach joining aspects from many different fields of science as diverse as geology geomorphology climatology agriculture and agricultural economics sociology ethnology politics and spatial planning Accordingly the basic objectives were to give a geographical description characterization of the Northeastern Region of Thailand in terms of its physical properties as well as its social and economical peculiarities to try a quantification of forest

FDI, Regionalism, Government Policy and Endogenous Growth Anthony Bende-Nabende, 2018-08-20 Published in 1999 this text investigates whether FDI caused spill over effects which have led to the economic growth of the ASEAN 5 economies and if that it so whether the ASEAN Preferential Trade Agreement APTA had a significant effect in attracting FDI to the region It takes into account the different levels of economic development of the countries under analysis The results from the structural static model suggest that FDI has stimulated economic growth through the human factors followed by technology transfer international trade and learning by doing and that the formation of APTA had a lagged influence on FDI inflows into the advantage of the more developed member countries and the disadvantage of the less developed countries Those from the multiplier dynamic effects analysis demonstrate that whereas the impact is immediate in the more developed politically stable and foreign investment friendly economies there is a time lag in those economies which are less developed and more hostile to FDI The analysis presents an empirical comparison of how the level of economic development affects the interaction of FDI regionalism and economic growth
