Translation and Travelling Theory Dongchao Min, 2016-07-15 Research has shown that feminist theory has flowed far more easily from North to South and from West to East whereas travel in other directions has proved almost non existent While the hegemony of US feminist theory has been challenged in Europe for example there remain many invisible discursive trajectories that link the development of feminist theories and movements across the world This book brings together and engages with theories of globalisation transnational feminism travelling theory and cultural translation exploring the travelling routes of feminist theory and practice to China over recent decades With attention to the crucial questions of why and how knowledge travels or fails to travel the forms that it takes and by whom it is sent received understood translated or even refused the author examines the development and activities of different groups of women and women s organisations in China thus developing an alternative form of travelling theory A study of the cross cultural translation of knowledge and practices that occur or fail to occur when different cultures interact and their impact this book will appeal to scholars of gender studies sociology and cultural studies with interests in feminist thought and the travel and production of knowledge

Rethinking Global Sisterhood Nima Naghibi, Annotation Nineteenth century neoclassical sculpture was a highly politicized international movement Based in Rome many expatriate American sculptors created works that represented black female subjects in compelling and problematic ways Rejecting pigment as dangerous and sensual adherence to white marble abandoned the racialization of the black body by skin color In The Color of Stone Charmaine A Nelson brilliantly analyzes a key but often neglected aspect of neoclassical sculpture color Considering three major works Hiram Powers s Greek Slave William

Wetmore Story's Cleopatra and Edmonia Lewis's Death of Cleopatra she explores the intersection of race sex and class to reveal the meanings each work holds in terms of colonial histories of visual representation as well as issues of artistic production identity and subjectivity She also juxtaposes these sculptures with other types of art to scrutinize prevalent racial discourses and to examine how the black female subject was made visible in high art By establishing the centrality of race within the discussion of neoclassical sculpture Nelson provides a model for a black feminist art history that at once questions and destabilizes canonical texts Charmaine A Nelson is assistant professor of art history at McGill University How to Belong Belinda A. Stillion Southard,2018-10-05 In How to Belong Belinda Stillion Southard examines how women leaders throughout the world have asserted their rhetorical agency in troubling economic social and political conditions Rather than utilizing the concept of citizenship to bolster political influence the women in the case studies presented here rely on the power of relationships to create a more habitable world With the rise of global capitalism many nation states that have profited from invigorated flows of capital have also responded to the threat of increased human mobility by heightening national citizenship's exclusionary power Through a series of case studies that include women grassroots protesters a woman president and a woman United Nations director Stillion Southard analyzes several examples of women all as embodied subjects in a particular transnational context pushing back against this often violent rise in nationalist rhetoric While scholars have typically used the concept of citizenship to explain what it means to belong Stillion Southard instead shows how these women have reimagined belonging in ways that have enabled them to create national regional and global communities As part of a broader conversation centered on exposing the violence of national citizenship and proposing ways of rejecting that violence this book seeks to provide answers through the powerful rhetorical practices of resilient and inspiring women who have successfully negotiated what it means to belong to be included and to enact change beyond the boundaries of citizenship Citizenship and Immigrant Incorporation G. Yurdakul,2016-04-30 The contributions in this volume consider the question of migrant agency how Western societies are both transforming migrants and being transformed by them It is informed by debates on the new transnational mobility the immigration of Muslims the increasing importance of human rights law and the critical attention paid to women migrants Nature in Literary and Cultural Studies ,2006-01-01 Nature in Literary and Cultural Studies is a collection of essays written by European and North American scholars who argue that nature and culture can no longer be thought of in oppositional mutually exclusive terms They are united in an effort to push the theoretical limits of ecocriticism towards a more rigorous investigation of nature's critical potential as a concept that challenges modern culture's philosophical assumptions epistemological convictions aesthetic principles and ethical imperatives This volume offers scholars and students of literature culture history philosophy and linguistics new insights into the ongoing transformation of ecocriticism into an innovative force in international and interdisciplinary literary and cultural studies A State of Ambivalence Lenore Lyons,2004-08-01 This book examines the contemporary feminist movement in Singapore through an in depth case study of the locally based Association of Women for Action and Research AWARE It examines the meanings attached to feminist activism by AWARE members including the use of the label feminist as a self identifier by both individuals as well as the organisation as a whole By exploring the range of activities that AWARE has been involved in since the mid 1980s the text describes in detail the fraught relationship between feminism and the state in Singapore The author uses the framework of transnational feminism to explore the ways in which gender race ethnicity and class intersect in the construction of historically and culturally specific feminisms The book will be of interest to scholars from a range of disciplines including those working on gender studies feminist history and Southeast Asian studies

The Cambridge History of Global Migrations: Volume 2, Migrations, 1800-Present Donna R. Gabaccia,Cátia Antunes,Marcelo J. Borges,Eric Tagliacozzo,Madeline Y. Hsu,2023-06 An authoritative overview of the continuities and changes in migration and globalization from the 1800s to the present day

Translating Simone de Beauvoir's The Second Sex Julia C. Bullock,Pauline Henry-Tierney,2023-05-19 This collection offers insights into the transnational and translingual implications of Simone de Beauvoir's Le Deuxième Sexe The Second Sex a text that has served as foundational for feminisms worldwide since its publication in 1949 Little scholarly attention has been devoted to how the original French language source text made its way into languages other than English This is a shocking omission given that many but by no means all other translations were based on the 1953 English translation by Howard M Parshley which has been widely criticized by Beauvoir scholars for its omissions and careless attention to its philosophical implications This volume seeks to fill this gap in scholarship with an innovative collection of essays that interrogate the ways that Beauvoir's essay has shifted in meaning and significance as it has travelled across the globe This volume brings together for the first time scholars from Translation Studies Literary Studies and Philosophical Studies and over half of it is dedicated to non Western European engagements with Le Deuxième Sexe including chapters on the Chinese Japanese Arabic Hungarian and Polish translations As such this collection will be essential to any scholar of Beauvoir's philosophy and its contributions to feminist discourses
