Emmanuel Levinas The Problem Of Ethical Metaphysics:

Emmanuel Levinas E. Wyschogrod, 2012-12-06 Emmanuel Levinas recounts the main events of his life in a brief essay Signature appended to a collection of essays on social political and religious themes entitled Dillicile Uberti He was born in 1905 in Lithuania and in 1917 while living in the Ukraine experienced the collapse of the old regime in Russia In 1923 he came to the University of Strasbourg where Charles Blondel Halbwachs Pradines Carteron and later Gueroult were teaching He was deeply influenced by those of his teachers who had been adolescents during the time of the Dreyfus affair and for whom this issue assumed critical importance Continuing his studies at Freiburg from 1928 1929 he served an apprenticeship in phenomenology with Jean Hering Subsequent encounters with Leon Brunschwig and regular conversations with Gabriel Marcel served to distinguish to sharpen and bring into the foreground his own unique point of view He also attests a long friendship with Jean Wahl To gether with Henri Nerson he undertook a study of Talmudic sources under the guidance of a teacher who communicated the traditional Jewish mode of exegesis It is no accident that Levinas begins his autobiographical account which is indeed no more than a spare outline of events and formative influences with the information that the Hebrew Bible directed his thinking from the time of his earliest childhood in Lithuania Emmanuel Levinas Edith Wyschogrod, 2000 Edith Wyschogrod presents the first full length study in English of the important contemporary French philosopher Emmanuel Levinas It is a revision of the author's earlier study and includes discussions of his recent writings as well as current scholarship Dr Wyschogrod's extensive discussion of Levinas's relation to Judaism especially his use of literature from the Torah and other religious writings will be of interest to religious scholars The author compares Levinas's thought with that of his contemporaries most notably Jacques Derrida and Husserl Emmanuel Levinas Edith Wyschogrod, 1970 The Phenomenology of Moral Normativity William Smith, 2013-02-28 Why should I be moral Philosophers have long been concerned with the legitimacy of morality's claim on us especially its ostensible aim to motivate certain actions of all persons unconditionally This problem of moral normativity has received extensive treatment in analytic moral theory but little attention has been paid to the potential contribution that phenomenology might make to this central debate in metaethics In The Phenomenology of Moral Normativity William H Smith takes up the question of morality's legitimacy anew drawing contemporary moral philosophers into conversation with the phenomenological philosophy of Husserl Heidegger and Levinas Utilizing a two part account of moral normativity Smith contends that the ground of morality itself is second personal rooted in the ethical demand intrinsic to other persons while the ground for particular moral obligations is first personal rooted in the subject's avowal or endorsement of certain moral norms within a concrete historical situation Thus Smith argues phenomenological analysis allows us to make sense of an idea that has long held intuitive appeal but that modern moral philosophy has been unable to render satisfactorily namely that the normative source of valid moral claims is simply other persons and what we owe to them The Existential Philosophy of Etty Hillesum Meins G. S.

Coetsier,2014-01-09 In The Existential Philosophy of Etty Hillesum Meins G S Coetsier breaks new ground by demonstrating the Jewish existential nature of Etty Hillesum's spiritual and cultural life in light of the writings of Martin Buber Emmanuel Levinas and Dietrich Bonhoeffer Hillesum's diaries and letters written between 1941 and 1943 illustrate her struggle to come to terms with her personal life in the context of the Second World War and the Shoah By finding God under the rubble of the horrors she rediscovers the divine presence between humankind while taking up responsibility for the Other as a way to embrace justice and compassion In a fascinating accessible and thorough study Coetsier dispels much of the confusion that assails readers when they are exposed to the bewildering range of Christian and Jewish influences and other cultural interpretations of her writings The result is a convincing and profound picture of Etty Hillesum's path to spiritual freedom

Levinas between Ethics and Politics B.G. Bergo,2013-03-09 The act of thought thought as an act would precede the thought thinking or becoming conscious of an act The notion of act involves a violence essentially the violence of transitivity lacking in the transcendence of thought Totality and Infinity The work of Emmanuel Levinas revolves around two preoccupations First his philosophical project can be described as the construction of a formal ethics grounded upon the transcendence of the other human being and a subject's spontaneous responsibility toward that other Second Levinas has written extensively on and as a member of the cultural and textual life of Judaism These two concerns are intertwined Their relation however is one of considerable complexity Levinas philosophical project stems directly from his situation as a Jewish thinker in the twentieth century and takes its particular form from his study of the Torah and the Talmud It is indeed a hermeneutics of biblical experience If inspired by Judaism Levinas ethics are not eo ipso confessional What his ethics takes from Judaism rather is a particular way of conceiving transcendence and the other human being It owes to the philosophy of Franz Rosenzweig and Martin Buber a logos of the world and of the holy which acknowledges their incomensurability without positing one as fallen and the other as supernal on the special form that exists in the grammar of many languages for cases of uncertainty possibility hypothesis and for expressions of hope the subjunctive mood As well as presenting arguments and observations about Kierkegaard and Levinas through an analysis of the subjunctive mood Patrick Sheil offers an interesting and accessible way into the thought of these two major European philosophers and he explores a wide range of Kierkegaardian and Levinasian texts throughout

Crossover Queries Edith Wyschogrod, 2006 Drawing together pieces from over twenty years that reflect her penetrating thought Crossover Queries presents for the first time in a single volume the astonishing range of a major philosopher To explore the risks ambiguities and unstable conceptual situations of contemporary thought it takes modes of negation especially the negation intrinsic to the ethical as its central thread Ranging from twentieth century European philosophy to traditional Jewish thought from analyses of dance music and novels to the question of the name of

God from the phenomenology of the body to recent biological research its profoundly learned and humanely engaged discussions remain always mindful that even as philosophy crosses over into new spaces of thought the philosopher remains standing within and responsible a historical legacy one conditioned by the negative Rethinking Philosophy of Religion Philip Goodchild, 2002 Philosophy of religion in recent decades has been the study of the rationality coherence and truth claims of classical theism Yet philosophical reflection on religion has included much more than this it has been the creative construction of a religious philosophy it has critically examined claims for religious authority and certainty it has explored the principles underlying religious thought and life it has exposed domination deception and illusion it has explored the subjective practical and spiritual dimensions of religion This collection brings together essays by a variety of contemporary philosophers who are working in this broader tradition Pamela Sue Anderson Gary Banham Bettina Bergo John Caputo Matthew Haltman Wayne Hudson Grace Jantzen Donna Jowett Greg Sadler Graham Ward and Edith Wyschogrod Giving Beyond the Gift Elliot R. Wolfson, 2014-02-03 This book explores the co dependency of monotheism and idolatry by examining the thought of several prominent twentieth century Jewish philosophers Cohen Buber Rosenzweig and Levinas While all of these thinkers were keenly aware of the pitfalls of scriptural theism to differing degrees they each succumbed to the temptation to personify transcendence even as they tried either to circumvent or to restrain it by apophatically purging kataphatic descriptions of the deity Derrida and Wyschogrod by contrast carried the project of denegation one step further embarking on a path that culminated in the aporetic suspension of belief and the consequent removal of all images from God a move that seriously compromises the viability of devotional piety The inquiry into apophysis transcendence and immanence in these Jewish thinkers is symptomatic of a larger question Recent attempts to harness the apophatic tradition to construct a viable postmodern negative theology a religion without religion are not radical enough Not only are these philosophies of transcendence guilty of a turn to theology that defies the phenomenological presupposition of an immanent phenomenality but they fall short on their own terms inasmuch as they persist in employing metaphorical language that personalizes transcendence and thereby runs the risk of undermining the irreducible alterity and invisibility attributed to the transcendent other The logic of apophysis if permitted to run its course fully would exceed the need to posit some form of transcendence that is not ultimately a facet of immanence Apophatic theologies accordingly must be supplanted by a more far reaching apophysis that surpasses the theolatrous impulse lying coiled at the crux of theism an apophysis of apophysis based on accepting an absolute nothingness to be distinguished from the nothingness of an absolute that does not signify the unknowable One but rather the manifold that is the pleromatic abyss at being's core Hence the much celebrated metaphor of the gift must give way to the more neutral and less theologically charged notion of an unconditional givenness in which the distinction between giver and given collapses To think givenness in its most elemental phenomenological sense is to allow the apparent to appear as given without presuming a causal agency that would turn that given into a gift Nietzsche and the
