The sticks are positioned at different heights and angles, creating a sense of depth. The spheres are also at different heights, with some appearing closer to the viewer than others. The overall composition is minimalist and modern.

Rosalie Silverstone,Audrey Ward,2022-08-24 Originally published in 1980 women in the United Kingdom exhibited a pattern of work which was notably different from that in other countries of the EEC at the time Its distinguishing feature was the high proportion of women who returned to work by the time they were forty years of age having temporarily retired to care for young families Although this pattern was of fairly recent origin it was thought likely to be sustained Women s current life pattern was typically school training work withdrawal retirement Despite the existence of this pattern agencies responsible for education training and employment failed to recognise it as normal often treating women as special cases Thus there was a lack of flexibility in employment and insufficient retraining or part time work The problem was important both for qualified women who had made a considerable personal investment in a career and for the nation in terms of effective manpower utilisation The skills required in many occupations traditionally entered by women are either learnt on the job or by means of relatively short formal training courses This book however examines in some depth seven careers which require a minimum of three years training After a foreword by Baroness Nancy Seear and a chapter which introduces the concept of the bimodal career and the consequent problems of withdrawal and re entry each chapter is written by an author who has conducted original research into the occupation under discussion and specifically into women s personal experiences in that particular calling A concluding chapter considers the implications of the findings both for the individuals concerned and for social policy A Guide to Assessing Minority and Sex Role Stereotyping in Elementary and Secondary Schools Gordon P.
