Ethics, Emotion and the Unity of the Self (Routledge Revivals) Oliver Letwin, 2010-07-02 This Routledge Revival reissues Oliver Letwin's philosophical treatise Ethics Emotion and the Unity of the Self first published in 1987 which concerns the applicability of the artistic classifications of romanticism and classicism to philosophical doctrine Dr Letwin examines three particular theses associated with philosophical romanticism that there is within us a high self and a low self that there is a moral self in inevitable conflict with an amoral self and that there is a rational self disjoined from and in tension with a passionate self He argues that these notions of philosophical romanticism are in fact radically false and instead takes the view that man can be a unified being of the sort described by philosophical classicists But man has to work to achieve this status The intrinsic unity of the human personality is not a guarantee of a coherent life but a challenge to be met

Cartesiana Gregor Sebba, 2012-12-06 This book offers a new type of working tool for Cartesian studies It presents the literature of the last 160 years in alphabetical order Part Two combined with a systematic analytical survey Part One and a detailed topical index to the whole Part Three This organization makes it possible to turn bibliographia from a repository of references into a workshop of research The systematic survey of Part One and the topical index of Part Three together offer a mise au point of Descartes studies over their full historical and topical range The results have often been surprising and illuminating to the author and if his experience is any guide the reader too will begin to wonder about certain seemingly well settled points or marvel at the Protean shapes which our elusive philosopher assumes when mighty commentators force him to reveal his true nature A work which has been in the making for fifteen years must show the traces of expansion in scope and changes in evaluation Bibliographia cartesiana amends my Descartes chapter in A Critical Bibliography of French Literature v 3 1961 see no I9a and supersedes an earlier version of Parts One and Two published in 1959 under the main title Descartes and his Philosophy v 1 set no I8a Part I Introduction to Descartes Studies divides the field into eleven broad areas

Brock, 2021 From the early percolation of Protestant thought in the sixteenth century through to the controversies and upheaval of the civil wars in the seventeenth century the clergy were at the heart of religious change in Scotland By exploring their lived experiences and drawing upon historical theological and literary approaches the essays here paint a fresh and vibrant portrait of ministry during the kingdom's long Reformation The contributors investigate how clergy as well as their families and flocks experienced and negotiated religious social and political change through examination of both wider themes and individual case studies the chapters emphasise the flexibility of local decision making and how ministers and their families were enmeshed in parish dynamics while also highlighting the importance of clerical networks beyond the parish What emerges is a ministry that despite the increasing professionalisation of the role maintained a degree of local autonomy and agency The volume thus refocuses attention on the early modern European ministry offering a multifaceted and historically attuned understanding of those who stood at the forefront of Protestant reform Emotions and Health, 1200-1700 Elena Carrera, 2013-07-04 Emotions and Health 1200 1700 examines the Aristotelian and Galenic understandings of the passions or accidents of the soul as alterations of both mind and body

Trauma and the Ontology of the Modern Subject John L. Roberts, 2017-09-11 Recent scholarship has inquired into the socio-historical discursive genesis of trauma Trauma and the Ontology of the Modern Subject however seeks what has not been actualized in trauma studies that is how the necessity and unassailable intensity of trauma is fastened to its historical emergence We must ask not only what trauma means for the individual person's biography but also what it means to be the historical subject of trauma In other words how does being human in this current period of history implicate one's lived possibilities that are threatened and perhaps framed through trauma Foucauldian sensibilities inform a critical and structural analysis that is hermeneutically grounded Drawing on the history of ideas and on Lacan's work in particular John L Roberts argues that what we mean by trauma has developed over time and that it is intimately tied with an ontology of the subject that is to say what it is to be and means to be human He argues that modern subjectivity as articulated by Heidegger Levinas and Lacan is structurally traumatic founded in its finitude as self-withdrawal in time its temporal self-absence becoming the very conditions for agency truth and knowledge The book also argues that this fractured temporal horizon as an effect of an interrupting Otherness or alterity is obscured through the discourses and technologies of the psy-disciplines psychiatry psychology and psychotherapy Consideration is given to social political and economic consequences of this concealment Trauma and the Ontology of the Modern Subject will be of enduring interest to psychoanalysts and psychotherapists as well as scholars of philosophy and cultural studies

The Vinyl Revival, Gender, and Collecting Aesthetics Veronica Skrimsjö, 2025-09-08 The book explores record collecting and vinyl consumption in the 21st century within the context of the vinyl revival The book highlights gender and how gender disparity is expressed in vinyl communities Veronica Skrimpsj considers vinyl consumerism and collecting and how the collector identifies themselves within the socio political environment of the Global North with a particular focus on gender The book includes considerations of Record Store Day DIY and DI together cultures as well as the historic context needed to evaluate record collecting in the 21st century The work is aimed at both an academic and a general readership and as such strikes a more informal tone Personal experiences are emphasised throughout because vinyl consumers are not a homogenous group and it is only via personal experiences that we can understand the complexity of consumption The personal experience also helps make the content more relatable which is crucial as old stereotypes helped distance the collector from the everyday consumer Readers will benefit from a different perspective on record collecting and consumptions as the book highlights active creative consumption and provides an in depth innovative analysis of how gender inequality is constructed within this context
