Empowered School The Management And Practice Of Development Planning:

Empowered School David H. Hargreaves, David Hopkins, 2004-12-23 The Education Reform Act 1988 and recent legislation aim to raise levels of pupil achievement in particular through the introduction of the National Curriculum and improved self management by schools For governors heads and teachers bringing together these changes will require as part of the new partnership strategies for managing development and change to make the school more effective School development plans are a means of realizing this goal The distinctive feature of a development plan is that it brings together in an overall plan national and LEA policies and initiatives the school s aims and values its existing achievements and its needs for development By co ordinating aspects of planning which are otherwise separate the school acquires a shared sense of direction and is able to control and manage the tasks of development and change This book based on the DES project draws on the experience of LEAs and schools which have pioneered school development plans Besides giving advice on constructing and implementing a school development plan the authors provide a full and practical account of how planning and development need to be managed and what this implies for the way the school is organized at present They also describe how schools can be supported in this process and how development planning fits into current movements for school improvement and effectiveness The Empowered School David H. Hargreaves, Marilyn Leask, David Hopkins, 1991-09-12

Developmental Planning for School Improvement David Hopkins, 1995-01-01 This text represents the experiences from six English speaking countries in the field of school development planning There are chapters discussing staff development quality reviews and school organization and effectiveness Managing Finance and External Relations in South African Schools Lesley Anderson, Jacky Lumby, 2005 Aims to consider the concepts and principles of the important areas of educational leadership signalled by Nelson Mandela This text uses South African case examples and activities to encourage reflection and personal development It is intended for those who lead and manage in schools or support them in a professional role Transforming Northcote School Geoff Hampton, 2002-01-04 In February 1994 Northcote School situated in a deprived area of Wolverhampton was the first in the country to be named and shamed OfSTED called the school appalling in almost every way Then Geoff Hampton took over as head five years later he was awarded a knighthood for transforming the fortunes of this failing school and its pupils This book pulls out the key points from the five year programme and shares successful strategies with other heads governors and teachers Full of clear advice and guidance from new and experienced headteachers containing sections on Managing the reactions of staff and pupils to an unfavourable OfSTED report Finding a positive route to improvement _ Action planning _ Staff and pupil issues _ The role of the headteacher _ Changing the culture of the school _ Involving the wider community _ _ This story is inspirational but it is grounded in the practical realities facing headteachers and senior management teams in education today The reader cannot fail to be motivated by what has been achieved Special Education Reformed Harry Daniels, 2002-01-04 Brings together in one volume the perspectives of teachers practitioners researchers and important external bodies such as the LEA and national organisations like the RNIB Part of the New Millennium Series which takes stock of education now and predicts the shape of likely developments The book asks leading authorities on Special Educational Needs to probe the issues currently topping the agenda and to predict what will happen in SEN for the foreseeable future Useful for those working and training to work in special schools and mainstream schools

Restructuring Schools, Reconstructing Teachers Peter Woods,Bob Jeffrey,Geoff Troman,Mari Boyle,2019-07-01 Drawing on wide ranging research this book originally published in 1997 explores how the policy changes of previous years were affecting primary teachers and their work at the time Within the context of worldwide restructuring the thoughts feelings and activities of teachers in their daily work are examined The core argument is that what used to be a complex but fulfilling job distinguished by professional dilemmas which are amenable to professional skill had become increasingly marked by tension and constraint which frustrates teacher creativity While some teachers found new opportunities in the new primary school many used strategical and micro political activity in order to cope while others fell victim to stress and burnout The authors argue that teachers own active involvement in policy change is required if their creative potential is to be realized The book will still be of interest to teachers in primary schools researchers and policy makers Democratic Learning John E. C. MacBeath,Lejf Moos,2004 The time has come to challenge many of the age old assumptions about schools and school learning In this timely book leading thinkers from around the world offer a different vision of what schools are for They suggest new ways of thinking about citizenship lifelong learning and the role of schools in democratic societies They question many of the tenets of school effectiveness studies which have been so influential in shaping policy but are essentially backward looking and premised on school structures as we have known them Each chapter confronts some of the myths of schooling we have cherished for too long and asks us to think again and to do schools differently Chapters include Democratic learning and school effectiveness Learning democracy in an age of managerial accountability Democratic leadership for school improvement in challenging contexts This book will be of particular interest to anyone involved in school improvement and effectiveness including academics and researchers in this field of study Headteachers and LEA advisers will also find this book a useful resource

Challenges and Issues facing the Education System in South Africa Legotlo, Marekwa Wilfred,2014-05-05 The quality of education is pivotal for the production of human capital and this cannot be compromised by failing to refocus on the quality of education offered in schools The inputs in the system such as trained and motivated teachers buildings and classrooms including sanitation clean water instructional material such as textbooks as well as strong leadership with vision to steer the winds of change are important in providing the desired outcomes The chapters in this volume are broadly divided into three subsections as follows learner related issues farm and rural schools poverty and schooling school violence and students rights teacher related issues teacher morale and motivation teachers for all schools management needs of school principals and administrative policy related issues inclusive education and school community relations The social demand for better schools effective principals qualified and committed teachers and better opportunities for all place a huge challenge to provinces and the state to protect the rights of all citizens This volume sets out the challenges facing the education system in South Africa such as poor school infrastructure poor learning conditions and a lack of learning materials and provides recommendations on how some of these can be overcome

Governing Independent Schools John Partington,Barrie Stacey,Alan

Turland,2018-02-06 Governors are a valuable but under used asset to independent schools Under the day to day pressures of running schools they are too often sidelined yet are frequently called to account by parents and the media when things go wrong Both new and experienced governors of independent schools will welcome this lively and informative handbook originally published in 1998 which describes the positive and constructive role which governing bodies can play in the life of their schools It provides up to date management techniques which can be effectively applied to enhance the quality of education and thereby the attractiveness of schools to parents and students
