Empowered To Care:

Empowering Frail Elderly People Duncan P. Boldy, Leonard F. Heumann, Mary McCall, 2000-11-30 This book provides a unique analysis of provider environment client and societal based obstacles to the empowerment of frail elderly persons in a philosophical framework of social values as well as an applied framework wherein a variety of international case studies by a distinguished board of contributors provide concrete examples of the feasibility of achieving real empowerment

Empowerment means different things to different people in the context of housing health and social service delivery This book analyzes the various definitions of the concept and practice of the empowerment of frail older persons and then discusses the definitions in a philosophical framework of social values regarding aging and the older person Each chapter demonstrates the feasibility of achieving increased empowerment of older persons even those with severe physical or mental disability True empowerment of older persons in every country requires time energy money and commitment to the goal This book will be of interest to academic as well as professional audiences in areas of Gerontology Psychology Sociology and Family Studies Caregivers and policymakers will also find this analysis useful

Power Lines Jeff Ordower, Lindsay Zafir, 2024-02-06 The essential anthology on the most effective ways to organize a labor movement for environmental justice from leading organizers in the field The corporate elite have long pitted climate and labor movements against each other through a jobs vs the environment narrative that maximizes profits But over the last few years labor unions and climate organizers have been pushing back against this framework and organizing for a real just transition Featuring contributions from key organizers in climate justice and labor Power Lines tackles the most pressing questions facing those who are trying to build a movement for economic and environmental justice The collection provides practical organizing models and strategies as well as inspiration for the possibility of making change on climate Power Lines moves beyond an analysis of the class politics of climate change or the strategic imperative of federal climate legislation making the case for the urgency of a robust labor climate justice movement It also shows us how we can build that movement by sharing some of the most creative and effective organizing happening on the ground right now

Supervising Student

Teachers Alexander Cuenca, 2013-02-11 The student teaching experience is often considered one of the most influential aspects of teacher preparation. Key in the success of student teaching is the university supervisor. During the student teaching experience the university supervisor is mainly responsible for helping pre-service teachers relate university coursework with the situated experiences in schools. However much like the various other spaces and places in teacher education facilitating teacher learning is an incredibly complex endeavor. This edited volume addresses the complexities of supervising student teachers from three distinct vantage points. First, salient issues regarding the supervision of student teachers such as the preparation of novice supervisors, negotiating power in the student teaching triad and the low status of clinical teacher education are examined. Second, different pedagogical frameworks for the work of supervision are provided such as care theory, teacher education for democracy and social justice. Finally, future directions for field-based teacher education are discussed such as a call to reconsider where supervision takes place, the necessity to develop a pedagogy of supervision, 21st century trends facing clinical teacher education and the value added by university supervisors to teacher development. Each of these chapters engages the supervision of student teachers through a mix of research, theory and personal stories from the field. As such, this edited volume is designed for new supervisors, veteran supervisors and supervision scholars.
