Encounter With Asia:

Migrant Cross-Cultural Encounters in Asia and the Pacific Jacqueline Leckie, Angela McCarthy, Angela Wanhalla, 2016-11-03 In contrast to much scholarship on cross cultural encounters which focuses primarily on contact between indigenous peoples and settlers or sojourners this book is concerned with migrant aspects of this phenomenon whether migrant migrant or migrant host encounters bringing together studies from a variety of perspectives on cross cultural encounters their past and their resonances across the contemporary Asia Pacific region Organised thematically into sections focusing on imperial encounters of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries identities in the twentieth and twenty first centuries and contemporary citizenship and the ways in which this is complicated by mobility and cross cultural encounters the volume presents studies of New Zealand Singapore Australia Vanuatu Mauritius and China to highlight key themes of mobility intimacies ethnicity and race heritage and diaspora through rich evidence such as photographs census data the arts and interviews Demonstrating the importance of multidisciplinary ways of looking at migrant cross cultural encounters through blending historical and social science methodologies from a range of disciplinary backgrounds Migrant Cross Cultural Encounters in Asia and the Pacific will appeal to anthropologists sociologists cultural geographers and historians with interests in migration mobility and cross cultural encounters Encounters Anna Jackson, Amin Jaffer, 2004-09 Published to accompany an exhibition held at the V A 23 September 5 December 2004 Encounter with Asia Edith Emery, 1969 Unfabling the East Jürgen Osterhammel, 2018-06-12 How Enlightenment Europe rediscovered its identity by measuring itself against the great civilizations of Asia During the long eighteenth century Europe s travelers scholars and intellectuals looked to Asia in a spirit of puzzlement irony and openness In this panoramic and colorful book Jürgen Osterhammel tells the story of the European Enlightenment s nuanced encounter with the great civilizations of the East from the Ottoman Empire and India to China and Japan Here is the acclaimed book that challenges the notion that Europe s formative engagement with the non European world was invariably marred by an imperial gaze and presumptions of Western superiority Osterhammel shows how major figures such as Leibniz Voltaire Gibbon and Hegel took a keen interest in Asian culture and history and introduces lesser known scientific travelers colonial administrators Jesuit missionaries and adventurers who returned home from Asia bearing manuscripts in many exotic languages huge collections of ethnographic data and stories that sometimes defied belief Osterhammel brings the sights and sounds of this tumultuous age vividly to life from the salons of Paris and the lecture halls of Edinburgh to the deserts of Arabia the steppes of Siberia and the sumptuous courts of Asian princes He demonstrates how Europe discovered its own identity anew by measuring itself against its more senior continent and how it was only toward the end of this period that cruder forms of Eurocentrism and condescension toward Asia prevailed A momentous work by one of Europe s most eminent historians Unfabling the East takes readers on a thrilling voyage to the farthest shores bringing back vital insights for our own multicultural age Looking East Burglind

Jungmann, Kim Young-Jae, Christine Göttler, 2013 Peter Paul Rubens fascinating depiction of a man wearing Korean costume of around 1617 in the collection of the J Paul Getty Museum has been considered noteworthy since it was made. This large drawing was copied in Rubens studio during his own time and circulated as a reproductive print in the eighteenth century. Despite the drawing's renown, however, the reasons why it was made and whether it actually depicts a specific Asian person remain a mystery. The intriguing story that develops involves a shipwreck, an unusual hat, the earliest trade between Europe and Asia, the trafficking of Asian slaves, and the role of Jesuit missionaries in Asia. Architectural Encounters in Asia Pacific Amanda Achmadi, Paul Walker, Soon-Tzu Speechley, 2024-09-19 Architectural Encounters in Asia Pacific explores the architecture of colonial trade and industry, revealing a complex network of transnational connections across the built heritage of the world's most dispersed and culturally diverse region. A wide-ranging collection of case studies uncovers these forgotten connections, drawing together stories of migratory architects, imperial commodities, and indentured labour. From Iran to Tasmania, Japan to Java, and Imperial China to the Pacific Islands, the chapters reveal how remnants of colonial trade and industry shed light on the many multi-faceted mobilities of the imperial age and their enduring legacy in the postcolonial built environments of Australasia, the Pacific, Southeast Asia, and beyond. The chapters also reveal deep strands of cultural influences and material imprints long neglected by national histories of architecture and showcase new methodologies to analyse the interconnectivities and bordering practices which are shaping our experiences of the 21st century. With almost every chapter arising from new archival sources, this richly interdisciplinary volume brings together the work of architectural historians, geographers, and heritage practitioners to provide a new understanding of the rich and contested history of this region.

Early Encounters between East Asia and Europe Ralf Hertel, Michael Keevak, 2017-07-14 While inquiries into early encounters between East Asia and the West have traditionally focused on successful interactions, this collection inquires into the many forms of failure experienced on all sides in the period before 1850. Countering a tendency in scholarship to overlook unsuccessful encounters, it starts from the assumption that failures can prove highly illuminating and provide valuable insights into both the specific shapes and limitations of East Asian and Western imaginations of the Other, as well as of the nature of East-West interaction. Interdisciplinary in outlook, this collection brings together the perspectives of sinology, Japanese and Korean studies, historical studies, literary studies, art history, religious studies, and performance studies. The subjects discussed are manifold and range from missionary accounts, travel reports, letters, and trade documents to fictional texts, as well as material objects such as tea, chinaware, or nautical instruments exchanged between East and West. In order to avoid a Eurocentric perspective, the collection balances approaches from the fields of English literature, Spanish studies, Neo-Latin studies, and art history with those of sinology, Japanese studies, and Korean studies. It includes an introduction mapping out the field of failures in early modern encounters between East Asia and Europe, as well as a theoretically minded essay on the lessons of failure and the ethics of cross-cultural understanding.

The Dutch Encounter with Asia, 1600-1950 K.

Zandvliet,2002      Chinese Encounters in Southeast Asia Pál Nyíri,Danielle Tan,2016-12-01 This is the first book to focus explicitly on how China's rise as a major economic and political actor has affected societies in Southeast Asia. It examines how Chinese investors, workers, tourists, bureaucrats, longtime residents and adventurers interact throughout Southeast Asia. The contributors use case studies to show the scale of Chinese influence in the region and the ways in which various countries mitigate their unequal relationship with China by negotiating asymmetry, circumventing hegemony and embracing resisting or manipulating the terms dictated by Chinese capital.

America's Encounters with Southeast Asia, 1800-1900 Farish A. Noor,2025-10-01 A century before the Philippines came under American control, Americans were already travelling to Southeast Asia regularly. This book looks at the writings of American diplomats, adventurers and scientists and chronicles how nineteenth century Americans viewed and imagined Southeast Asia through their own cultural, political lenses. It argues that as Americans came to visit the region, they also brought with them a train of cultural assumptions and biases that contributed to the development of American Orientalism in Southeast Asia.

Asia and Latin America Jörn Dosch,Olaf Jacob,2010-02-25 This book analyses the economic, political and socio-cultural relations between Asia and Latin America and examines their growing importance in international relations.

Transnational Encounters between Germany and East Asia since 1900 Joanne Miyang Cho,2018-04-09 This volume contributes to an emerging field of Asian German Studies by bringing together cutting edge scholarship from international scholars working in a variety of disciplines. The chapters survey transnational encounters between Germany and East Asia since 1900. By rejecting traditional dichotomies between the East and the West or the colonizer and the colonized, these essays highlight connectedness and hybridity. They show how closely Germany and East Asia cooperated and negotiated the challenges of modernity in a range of topics such as politics, history, literature, religion, environment, architecture, sexology, migration and sports.

Mapping Asia: Cartographic Encounters Between East and West Martijn Storms,Mario Cams,Imre Josef Demhardt,Ferjan Ormeling,2018-06-27 This proceedings book presents the first ever cross disciplinary analysis of 16th-20th century South East and Southeast Asian cartography. The central theme of the conference was the mutual influence of Western and Asian cartographic traditions and the focus was on points of contact between Western and Asian cartographic history. Geographically, the topics were limited to South Asia, East Asia and Southeast Asia with special attention to India, China, Japan, Korea and Indonesia. Topics addressed included Asia's place in the world, the Dutch East India Company, toponymy, Philipp Franz von Siebold, maritime cartography, missionary mapping and cadastral mapping.

Buddhist Encounters and Identities Across East Asia ,2018-05-07 Encounters, networks, identities and diversity are at the core of the history of Buddhism. They are also the focus of Buddhist Encounters and Identities across East Asia, edited by Ann Heirman, Carmen Meinert and Christoph Anderl. While long distance networks allowed Buddhist ideas to travel to all parts of East Asia, it was through local and trans-local networks and encounters and a diversity of people and societies that identities were made and negotiated This book undertakes a detailed examination of discrete Buddhist identities rooted in unique cultural practices beliefs and indigenous socio political conditions Moreover it presents a fascinating picture of the intricacies of the regional and cross regional networks that connected South and East Asia Contesting International Society in East Asia Barry Buzan,Yongjin Zhang,2014-10-16 Bringing together some of the most innovative scholars in both the English School of international relations and East Asian studies this volume investigates whether or not significant and distinct international social structures exist at the regional level represented by East Asia and what this can tell us about international society both regionally and globally The book s main finding is that the regional dispute over how its states and peoples should relate to the Western dominated global international society makes the existence of East Asian international society essentially contested While this regional global social dynamic is present in many regions it is particularly strong in East Asia This book will appeal to audiences interested in developing English School theory the study of East Asian international relations and comparative regionalism Surrealism in North Africa and Western Asia Monique Bellan,Julia Drost,2021-11-23 Der vorliegende Band besch ftigt sich mit dem Surrealismus in Literatur und Kunst in Algerien gypten Libanon Syrien und der T rkei zwischen den 1930er und 1980er Jahren In einer transkulturellen Perspektive erscheint die zu Beginn der 1920er Jahre von Frankreich ausgehende Bewegung gleicherma en als globales wie als lokales Ph nomen das in den hier behandelten Regionen weniger auf kollektive als auf individualistische Weise vornehmlich auf dem Gebiet von Poesie und Sprache rezipiert wurde Die Studien in diesem Band verfolgen das Ziel ein klareres Bild von den Resonanzen des Surrealismus in diesen Regionen zu zeichnen und damit einen Beitrag zur Geschichte sowohl der Transmoderne als auch des Surrealismus zu leisten Methodisch geht es darum Verbindungen Begegnungen und Austausch auf individuell k nstlerischer politisch institutioneller und soziohistorischer Ebene zu untersuchen Ein neuer Blick auf den globalen Surrealismus muss diese Netzwerke und Verbindungen auf der Mikroebene ber cksichtigen wenn es um die Fragen geht wann wo und was Surrealismus war Die Antwort k nnte zeigen dass der Surrealismus weitaus weiter verbreitet war als bisher angenommen

Comparative Criminology in Asia Jianhong Liu, Max Travers, Lennon Y.C. Chang, 2017-07-15 This edited volume presents the diversity of comparative criminology research in Asia and the complex theoretical and methodological issues involved in conducting comparative research With contributors both from the West and the East exploring these questions the Editors have created a balanced resource as well as set an agenda for future research The increasing pace of globalization means that researchers should be armed with an understanding of how criminal justice systems work across the world In the past comparative research largely compared Western countries to each other or involved researchers from a Western perspective examining an Asian country with models and theories developed in the West considered to have universal applications This work aims to correct that gap by providing a critical examination of comparative research presenting quantitative and qualitative research data and asking new questions that challenge prevailing research norms and provide an agenda for future research This work will be of interest for researchers across the field of Criminology particularly those with an interest in International and Comparative Research research on or about Asia and related disciplines such as Sociology Demography and Social Policy This fine collection that goes to the rich distinctiveness of Asian criminology The editors have brought together a wonderful collection of authors mainly from the region The distinctiveness of values and relational practices in Asia are recurrent themes that are well developed in this book and help us to make sense of patterns of crime and criminal justice in Asia John Braithwaite Australian National University What theoretical methodological and practical issues must we confront in conducting cross cultural studies encompassing Western and Asian countries Comparative Criminology in Asia discusses these issues and presents exemplary comparative research The introductory chapter and the introduction to each part by the co editors are lucid and highly educational This collection must be required reading for every serious scholar and aspiring graduate student in Asian countries so that criminological and criminal justice studies will be brought to a much higher level of sophistication Setsuo Miyazawa UC Hastings Can there be and should there be a distinctive Asian criminology What would this involve The answer depends on what one thinks of the universalistic explanatory claims of Western criminology Will these claims become self fulfilling as these societies add to colonial influences a more deliberate borrowing of criminal justice models and established ways of pursuing discipline of criminology Or will a more critical spirit prevail This welcome edited collection by Liu Travers and Chang provides an excellent starting point for reflecting on these and other questions Rather than attempting to provide descriptions of the variety of similarities and differences in this region though there are some fascinating case studies of these the focus is even more on exploring the theoretical approaches and methodologies used in comparing institutional and cultural differences by Asian criminologists and others David Nelken King's College London Criminologists can no longer ignore the impact of globalization on the pattern and amount of crime as we experienced recently nor can we ignore the global change of criminal justice policies to deal with crime There is therefore a desperate need to collect data on how crime and criminal justice are influenced by globalization across Asian countries On the other hand there are debates on the issue of culture specific vs pan culture theories of crime This collection addresses both issues in an interesting way Its publication is timely and welcome Chuen Jim Sheu National Taipei University
