Material Noise Anne M. Royston, 2019-09-17 An argument that theoretical works can signify through their materiality their noise or such nonsemantic elements as typography as well as their semantic content In Material Noise Anne Royston argues that theoretical works signify through their materiality such nonsemantic elements as typography or color as well as their semantic content Examining works by Jacques Derrida Avital Ronell Georges Bataille and other well known theorists Royston considers their materiality and design which she terms noise as integral to their meaning In other words she reads these theoretical works as complex assemblages just as she would read an artist's book in all its idiosyncratic tangibility Royston explores the formlessness and heterogeneity of the Encyclopedia Da Costa which published works by Bataille Andr Breton and others the use of layout and white space in Derrida's Glas the typographic illegibility static and interference in Ronell's The Telephone Book and the enticing surfaces of Mark C Taylor's Hiding its digital counterpart The Real Las Vegas NV and Shelley Jackson's Skin Royston then extends her analysis to other genres examining two recent artists books that express explicit theoretical concerns Johanna Drucker's Stochastic Poetics and Susan Howe's Tom Tit Tot Throughout Royston develops the concept of artistic arguments which employ signification that exceeds the semantics of a printed text and are not reducible to a series of linear logical propositions Artistic arguments foreground their materiality and reflect on the media that create them Moreover Royston argues each artistic argument anticipates some aspect of digital thinking speaking directly to such contemporary concerns as hypertext communication theory networks and digital distribution

Prague, Capital of the Twentieth Century Derek Sayer,2021-11-09 The story of modernity told through a cultural history of twentieth century Prague Setting out to recover the roots of modernity in the boulevards interiors and arcades of the city of light Walter Benjamin dubbed Paris the capital of the nineteenth century In this eagerly anticipated sequel to his acclaimed Coasts of Bohemia A Czech History Derek Sayer argues that Prague could well be seen as the capital of the much darker twentieth century Ranging across twentieth century Prague s astonishingly vibrant and always surprising human landscape this richly illustrated cultural history describes how the city has experienced and suffered more ways of being modern than perhaps any other metropolis Located at the crossroads of struggles between democratic communist and fascist visions of the modern world twentieth century Prague witnessed revolutions and invasions national liberation and ethnic cleansing the Holocaust show trials and snuffed out dreams of socialism with a human face Yet between the wars when Prague was the capital of Europe s most easterly parliamentary democracy it was also a hotbed of artistic and architectural modernism and a center of surrealism second only to Paris Focusing on these years Sayer explores Prague s spectacular modern buildings monuments paintings books films operas exhibitions and much more A place where the utopian fantasies of the century repeatedly unraveled Prague was tailor made for surrealist Andr Breton s black humor and Sayer discusses the way the city produced unrivaled connoisseurs of grim comedy from Franz Kafka and Jaroslav Hasek to Milan Kundera and V clav Havel A masterful and unforgettable account of a city where an idling flaneur could just as easily be a secret policeman this book vividly shows why Prague can teach us so much about the twentieth century and what made us who we are

A Pathognomy of Performance S. Bayly, 2011-02-08 Exploring the themes of the event ephemerality and democracy that mark the encounter between performance and philosophy this original study elaborates fresh perspectives on the experiences of undoing fiasco and disaster that shadow both the both stage and everyday life

Georges Bataille Rodolphe Gasché, 2012-10-24 This book investigates what Bataille in The

Pineal Eye calls mythological representation the mythological anthropology with which this unusual thinker wished to outflank and undo scientific and philosophical anthropology Gasch probes that anthropology by situating Bataille's thought with respect to the quaternary of Schelling Hegel Nietzsche and Freud He begins by showing what Bataille's understanding of the mythological owes to Schelling Drawing on Hegel Nietzsche and Freud he then explores the notion of image that constitutes the sort of representation that Bataille's innovative approach entails Gasch concludes that Bataille's mythological anthropology takes on Hegel's phenomenology in a systematic fashion By reading it backwards he not only dismantles its architecture he also ties each level to the preceding one replacing the idealities of philosophy with the phantasmatic representations of what he dubs low materialism Phenomenology Gasch argues thus paves the way for a new science of phantasms

Unorthodox Ways to Think the City Teresa Stoppani, 2018-12-07 This book argues that architecture and the city and their processes can be better understood by drawing categories from disciplines that exceed the architectural and urban cultural context It performs an open intellectual reading that traverses architecture and architectural theory but also art theory and history cartography philosophy literature and cultural studies to unfold a series of figures that are ambiguously placed between the representation and the construction of space in architecture and the city The paradigm and philosophy the island and the city the map and representation the model and making and the questioning of form performed by dust are explored beyond their definition as processes that differently make space between architecture and the city and are proposed as unorthodox analytic techniques to decipher contemporary spatial complexity The book analyses how these figures have been employed at different times and in different creative disciplines beyond architecture and in relation to changing notions of space and traces the role that they have played in the shift towards the dynamic that has taken place in contemporary theory and design research What emerges is the idea of an architecture of the city that is not only physical but is largely defined by the way in which its physical spaces are regulated lived and perceived but also imagined and projected

The Myth of Disenchantment Jason A. Josephson-Storm, 2017-05-18 This study of the early human sciences and their deep connections to spiritualism dispenses with the myth that separates magic and modernity Many theorists contend that the defining feature of modernity is our collective loss of faith in spirits myths and magic But in The Myth of Disenchantment Jason A Josephson Storm argues against this narrative showing that attempts to suppress magic have failed more often than not Even the human sciences have been more enchanted than is commonly supposed But that raises the question How did a magical spiritualist mesmerized Europe ever convince itself that it was disenchanting Josephson Storm traces the history of the myth of disenchantment in the births of philosophy anthropology sociology folklore psychoanalysis and religious studies He demonstrates that the founding figures of these mythless disciplines were in fact profoundly enmeshed in the occult and spiritualist revivals of Britain France and Germany It was in response to this milieu that they produced notions of a disenchanting world By providing a novel history of the human sciences and their connection to esotericism The Myth of Disenchantment dispatches with most widely held accounts of modernity and its break from the premodern past Somatic Desire Christine Rojcewicz, Richard Kearney, Sarah Horton, Stephen Mendelsohn, 2019-01-17 The essays in this volume all ask what it means for human beings to be embodied as desiring creatures and perhaps still more piercingly what it means for a philosopher to be embodied In taking up this challenge via phenomenology psychoanalysis hermeneutics and the philosophy of literature the volume questions the orthodoxies not only of Western metaphysics but even of the phenomenological tradition itself We miss much that has philosophical import when we exclude the somatic aspects of human life and it is therefore the philosopher's duty now to rediscover the meaning inherent in desire emotion and passion without letting the biases of any tradition determine in advance the meaning that reveals itself in embodied desire Continental philosophers have already done much to challenge binary oppositions and this volume sets out a new challenge we must now also question the dichotomy between being at home and being alienated Alterity is not simply something out there separate from myself rather it penetrates me through and through even in my corporeal experience My body is both my own and other I am other than myself and therefore other than my body Additionally this book is a conversation not a presentation of a new orthodoxy Thus the hope is that these essays will open the way for further dialogue that will continue to radically rethink our understanding of embodied desire Gathered together here are twelve essays that address these issues from deeply interrelated albeit unique perspectives from within the field Mastery of Non-Mastery in the Age of Meltdown Michael Taussig, 2020-07-15 For centuries humans have excelled at mimicking nature in order to exploit it Now with the existential threat of global climate change on the horizon the ever provocative Michael Taussig asks what function a newly invigorated mimetic faculty might exert along with such change Mastery of Non-Mastery in the Age of Meltdown is not solely a reflection on our condition but also a theoretical effort to reckon with the impulses that have fed our relentless ambition for dominance over nature Taussig seeks to move us away from the manipulation of nature and reorient us to different metaphors and sources of inspiration to develop a new ethical stance toward the world His ultimate goal is to undo his readers sense of control and engender what he calls mastery of non-mastery This unique book developed out of Taussig's work with peasant agriculture and his artistic practice which brings performance art together with aspects of ritual Through immersive meditations on Walter Benjamin D H Lawrence Emerson Bataille and Proust Taussig grapples with the possibility of collapse and with the responsibility we bear for it Horn, or The Counterside of Media Henning Schmidgen, 2021-11-22 We regularly touch and handle media devices At the same time media devices such as body scanners car seat pressure sensors and smart phones scan and touch us In Horn Henning Schmidgen reflects on the bidirectional nature of touch and the ways in which surfaces constitute sites of mediation between interior and exterior Schmidgen uses the concept of horn whether manifested as a rhinoceros horn or a musical instrument to stand for both natural substances and artificial objects as spaces of tactility He enters into creative dialogue with artists scientists and philosophers ranging from Salvador Dalí, William Kentridge and Rebecca Horn to Sigmund Freud, Walter Benjamin and Marshall McLuhan who plumb the complex interplay between tactility and technological and biological surfaces. Whether analyzing how Dalí conceived of images as tactile entities during his rhinoceros phase or examining the problem of tactility in Thomas Pynchon's The Crying of Lot 49, Schmidgen reconfigures understandings of the dynamic phenomena of touch in media.

Law, Orientalism and Postcolonialism Piyel Haldar, 2007-12-05 Focusing on the problem of pleasure, Law, Orientalism and Postcolonialism uncovers the organizing principles by which the legal subject was colonized. That occidental law was complicit in colonial expansion is obvious. What remains to be addressed however is the manner in which law and legal discourse sought to colonize individual subjects as subjects of law. It was through the permission of pleasure that modern Western subjects were refined and domesticated. Legally sanctioned outlets for private and social enjoyment instilled and continue to instill within the individual tight self control over behaviour. There are however states of behaviour considered to be repugnant to and in excess of modern codes of civility. Drawing on a broad range of literature including classical jurisprudence, eighteenth century Orientalist scholarship, early travel literature and nineteenth century debates surrounding the rule of law yet concentrating on the experience of British India, the argument here is that such excesses were deemed to be an Oriental phenomenon. Through the encounter with the Orient and with the fantasy of its excess, Piyel Haldar concludes the relationship between the subject and the law was transformed and must therefore be re-assessed.

Daniil Kharms Branislav Jakovljevic, 2009-11-24 The texts of Russian artist and thinker Daniil Kharms (1905-1942) were so many and varied and often unique: narrative, dramatic, philosophical, poetic, mathematical, pictographic, diagrammatic, musical, biographical, that they defied categorization and thus thorough study or appreciation through much of the twentieth century. This book, the first in English to view Kharms's oeuvre in its entirety, is also the first to offer a complete, inclusive and coherent understanding of the overall project of this artist and writer, now considered a major figure in the modernist canon of Europe.

Witness Frederik Tygstrup, Ulrik Ekman, 2008 Offers a complex anthology of essays respecting the notion of the witness and phenomena of witnessing in Western culture since the Holocaust. This book presents a body of work in the field by an international collective of scholars concerned with resituating witnessing in its specifically contemporary problematic.

Occupation: ruin, repudiation, revolution Dr Lynn Churchill, Assoc Prof Dianne Smith, 2015-06-30 This theme of occupation is significant and topical at a time of radical flux generated by the proliferation of hypermedia and also by the dramatically shifting environmental, political and economic context of this era. Bringing together contributors from the fields of practice, theory and history, this book takes a fresh look at occupation. It argues that occupation is a prospect that begins with ruin, a residue from the past, an implied or even a resounding presence of something previous that holds the potential for transformation. This prospect invites us to repudiate, re-imagine and re-define lived space, thereby asserting occupation as an act of revolution.

Religious Imaging in Millennialist America Ashley Crawford, 2018-09-19 Ashley Crawford

investigates how such figures as Ben Marcus Matthew Barney and David Lynch among other artists novelists and film directors utilize religious themes and images via Christianity Judaism and Mormonism to form essentially mutated variations of mainstream belief systems He seeks to determine what drives contemporary artists to deliver implicitly religious imagery within a secular context Particularly how religious heritage and language and the mutations within those have impacted American culture to partake in an aesthetic of apocalypticism that underwrites it
