American Culture in the 1940s Jacqueline Foertsch,2008-03-27 This book explores the major cultural forms of 1940s America fiction and non fiction music and radio film and theatre serious and popular visual arts and key texts trends and figures from Native Son to Citizen Kane from Hiroshima to HUAC and from Dr Seuss to Bob Hope After discussing the dominant ideas that inform the 1940s the book culminates with a chapter on the culture of war Rather than splitting the decade at 1945 Jacqueline Foertsch argues persuasively that the 1940s should be taken as a whole seeking out links between wartime and postwar American culture Commercial Intimacy Richard Popp,Brenton Malin,Wendy A. Woloson,2025-06-03 Explores how marketers have leveraged feelings of personal familiarity in modern consumer capitalism Our wired world connects us with corporations in ways that just a generation ago would have been hard to imagine Marketers track users habits down to the swipe and scroll brand influencers reach out to followers in ever more personal ways Yet however much we may feel individually recognized or targeted by today s marketers the connections they make are in truth fleeting and tactical They are also nothing new Marketplace transactions have long been mediated by interactions that blur the line between the putatively public and rational world of commerce and the supposedly private and emotional realm of personal relations That there is an affective tenor to every sales scenario has never been a secret to talented marketers How exactly marketers have tried to set those moods by endowing commercial relationships with an aura of personal affinity is the subject of Commercial Intimacy Its chapters explore the broad theme of commercial intimacy that is market based feelings of spatial and emotional closeness in US consumer culture from the mid nineteenth century to the late twentieth century They show how experiences of intimacy have been orchestrated by marketers operating at a variety of distances from the face to face solicitations made by retail clerks and direct sales agents to the long distance appeals made by mail order merchants print and TV advertisers telemarketers and e commerce platforms The volume pays especially close attention to how these revenue minded acts of ingratiation worked how they were shaped by the technologies behind them and how they capitalized on contemporary dynamics of gender and sexuality At the heart of this volume then is the question of how our understanding of business history changes when we take the emotional sensational and affective dynamics of intimacy to be foundational elements of commercial persuasion Contributors Samuel Backer Jennifer M Black Donna J Drucker Isabelle Marina Held Julie A Johnson Lindsay Mitchell Keiter Stephanie Kolberg Brenton J Malin Cynthia B Meyers Richard K Popp Nicole E Weber Wendy A Woloson

Representing China on the Historical London Stage Dongshin Chang,2015-02-11 This book provides a critical study of how China was represented on the historical London stage in selected examples from the late seventeenth century to the early twentieth century which corresponds with the Qing Dynasty 1644 1911 China s last monarchy The examples show that during this historical period the stage representations of the country were influenced in turn by Jesuit writings on China Britain s expanding material interest in China the presence of British imperial power in Asia and the establishment of diasporic Chinese communities abroad While finding that many of these works may be read as gendered and feminized Chang emphasizes that the Jesuits depiction of China as a country of high culture and in perennial conflict with the Tartars gradually lost prominence in dramatic imaginations to depictions of China's material and visual attractions. Central to the book's argument is that the stage representations of China were inherently intercultural and open to new influences manifested by the evolving combinations of Chinese and English/British traits. Through the dramatization of the Chinese, other representations questioned, satirized, and put in sharp relief the ontological and epistemological bases of the English/British Self.

How to Read a Suit Lydia Edwards, 2020-02-06 Fashion is ever changing and while some styles mark a dramatic departure from the past, many exhibit subtle differences from year to year that are not always easily identifiable. With overviews of each key period and detailed illustrations for each new style, How to Read a Suit is an authoritative visual guide to the under-explored area of men's fashion across four centuries. Each entry includes annotated color images of historical garments outlining important features and highlighting how styles have developed over time, whether in shape, fabric choice, trimming, or undergarments. Readers will learn how garments were constructed and where their inspiration stemmed from at key points in history, as well as how menswear has varied in type, cut, detailing, and popularity according to the occasion and the class, age, and social status of the wearer. This lavishly illustrated book is the ideal tool for anyone who has ever wanted to know their Chesterfield from their Ulster coat. Equipping the reader with all the information they need to read menswear, this is the ultimate guide for students, researchers, and anyone interested in historical fashion.

The Linguistics Wars Randy Allen Harris, 2021 The Linguistics Wars tells the tumultuous history of language and cognition studies from the rise of Noam Chomsky's Transformational Grammar to the current day. Focusing on the rupture that split the field between Chomsky's structuralist vision and George Lakoff's meaning-driven theories, Randy Allen Harris portrays the extraordinary personalities that were central to the dispute and its aftermath alongside the data, technical developments, and social currents that fueled the unfolding and expanding schism.

Applied Innovation: A Handbook Stephen A. Di Biase, Stephen A. Di Biase PhD, 2015-03-01 Applied Innovation: A Handbook outlines how a start-up CEO can take an innovation from concept to repeat sales, including everything from the strategic elements of what innovation is to business models and intellectual property to how one sets up an advisory board, etc. This work focuses on offering a road map for building a company from the ground up but can be applied to existing firms as well. The premise is that anyone can learn and apply the concepts of innovation in any part of their business and personal life if they know what is required.

Abraham Lincoln and the Structure of Reason David Hirsch, Dan Van Haften, 2010-11-19 The secrets of one of history's greatest orators are revealed in one of the most stunningly original works on Abraham Lincoln to appear in years. John Stauffer, professor of English and history at Harvard University, has spent more than 150 years speculating about what made Abraham Lincoln truly great. How did Lincoln create his compelling arguments, his convincing oratory, and his unforgettable writing? Some point to Lincoln's study of grammar, literature, and poetry. Others believe it was the deep national crisis that gave import to his words. Most agree that he honed his persuasive technique in his work as an Illinois attorney.

Here the authors argue that it was Lincoln's in depth study of geometry that made the president's verbal structure so effective. In fact as the authors demonstrate Lincoln embedded the ancient structure of geometric proof into the Gettysburg Address the Cooper Union speech the first and second inaugurals his legal practice and much of his substantive post 1853 communication. Also included are Lincoln's preparatory notes and drafts of some of his most famous speeches as well as his revisions and personal thoughts on public speaking and grammar. With in depth research and provocative insight Abraham Lincoln and the Structure of Reason offers a whole new angle on Lincoln's brilliance. "All-Electric" Narratives Rachele Dini, 2021-10-07 Winner of the 2023 Emily Toth Award for Best Single Work in Women's Studies. All Electric Narratives is the first in depth study of time saving electrical appliances in American literature. It examines the literary depiction of refrigerators vacuum cleaners oven ranges washing machines dryers dishwashers toasters blenders standing and hand held mixers and microwave ovens between 1945 when the all electric home came to be associated with the nation's hard won victory and 2020 as contemporary writers consider the enduring material and spiritual effects of these objects in the 21st century. The appropriation and subversion of the rhetoric of domestic electrification and time saving comprises a crucial but overlooked element in 20th century literary forms and genres including Beat literature Black American literature second wave feminist fiction science fiction and postmodernist fiction. Through close readings of dozens of literary texts alongside print and television ads from this period Dini shows how U S writers have unearthed the paradoxes inherent to claims of appliances capacity to give back time to their user transport them into a technologically progressive future or return them to some pastoral past. In so doing she reveals literary appliances role in raising questions about gender norms and sexuality racial exclusion and erasure class anxieties the ramifications of mechanization the perils and possibilities of conformity the limitations of patriotism and the inevitable fallacy of utopian thinking while both shaping and radically disrupting the literary forms in which they operated
