Macdonald, 2012-08-16 The capybara is the neotropical mammal with the highest potential for production and domestication Amongst the favorable characteristics for domestication we can list its high prolificacy rapid growth rate a herbivorous diet social behavior and relative tameness The genus with only two species is found from the Panama Canal to the north of Argentina on the east of the Andes Chile is the only country in South America where the capybara is not found The species is eaten all over its range especially by poor rural and traditional communities engaged in subsistence hunting On the other hand in large urban settlements wildlife is consumed by city dwellers as a delicacy The sustainable management of capybara in the wild has been adopted by some South American countries while others have encouraged capybara rearing in captivity

Wild Cats of the World Mel Sunquist, Fiona Sunquist, 2017-05-15 Did you know that European royalty once used cheetahs to hunt deer or that caracals can capture birds by leaping six and a half feet straight up into the air from a standing start Have you ever wondered whether domestic cats really do land on their feet when they fall or how Canada lynx can stalk their prey in the winter without falling through the deep snow Wild Cats of the World is a treasure trove of answers to questions like these and many others for anyone who's interested in learning more about the world's felids including the ones with whom we share our homes Mel and Fiona Sunquist have spent more than a decade gathering information about cats from every available source many of them quite difficult to find including scientific papers descriptions of hunts archeological findings observations by naturalists and travelers reports from government agencies and newsletters from a wide variety of organizations Weaving information from these sources together with their own experiences observing wild cats around the world the Sunquists have created the most comprehensive reference on felids available Each of their accounts of the 36 species of cat contains a description of the cat including human interactions with it as well as detailed data on its distribution ecology and behavior status in the wild and efforts to conserve it Numerous photographs including more than 40 in full color illustrate these accounts Ranging from the two pound black footed cat to the five hundred pound tiger and from the African serval with its satellite dish ears to the web footed fishing cat of Asia Wild Cats of the World will fascinate and educate felid fans of any stripe or spot

Conflict in Africa Adda Bruemmer Bozeman, 2015-03-08 Do modern Western ideas about the nature of conflict and its resolution apply to Africa To answer this question Adda Bozeman examines conflict in Africa south of the Sahara in its many social political and cultural aspects past and present The author shows how African perspectives on war and diplomacy have evolved under the influence of nonliteracy tribalism and a concept of undifferentiated time In addition she confirms that indigenous cultural traditions are resurgent everywhere making it unlikely that African political values will become more closely aligned with those of the West The two civilizations view conflict differently and have different ways of resolving it The Africans are more at ease with conflict than their Western counterparts and they do not see war and peace as the mutually exclusive phenomena that Occidental societies hold them to be The author concludes that modern Western concepts of conflict not only do not but cannot allow for African realities Originally published in 1976 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

She Who Spins the Coils of Creation Leslene della-Madre, 2023-06-28 Leslene della Madre s book She Who Spins Creation Sacred Female Cosmology in the Electric PlasMA Universe is essential medicine and a much needed balm for the spirit in these perilous times of toxic masculinity toxic capitalism toxic patriarchy and the perpetuation of the annihilation of women s wisdom and power also known as the Inquisition in which female embodied existence and wisdom continue to be silenced and every attempt to eradicate us deny our culture belittle and erase our knowledge continues to unfold It is also a master class in how to excavate and reclaim female embodied experience wisdom empowerment and sovereignty Della Madre exposes the misogyny inherent in patriarchal myth and science from physics to molecular biology delving into the mysteries of matter the mammalian egg mythologies of female origins the Electric Universe plasMA cosmology and much much more She invites us to awaken to the reality of a truly female cosmology that has always reflected as above so below and always will but that has been denied and subjected to nearly complete erasure in numerous ways by male dominated realities In doing so she invokes us to challenge the amnesia of the ages question all we have been told about who we are where we come from and who we can become She implores us to feel our horns and wings again and reclaim a world in which we understand that we are all electric plasMA beings intertwined and interconnected in tune with the cosmos the greater organism This is the way to heal the violence that has been done to the Earth Nature and women by thousands of years of patriarchal colonization This book is also a clarion call for action for women to re member our magic and to seek guidance from the ancestral realms to help restore us to whole holy ness This profound book should be made into a documentary series Mary Saracino author LAMBDA award finalist Glowing Genes Marc Zimmer,2010-04-06 Marc Zimmer has written the first popular science book on an amazing new area of biotechnology that will help fight cancer create new products improve agriculture and combat terrorism For more than one hundred and sixty million years green fluorescent protein has existed in one species of jellyfish In 1994 it was cloned giving rise to a host of useful and potentially revolutionary applications in biotechnology Today researchers are using this ancient glowing protein to pursue exciting new discoveries from tracking the process of bacterial infection to detecting chemical and biological agents planted by terrorists A recognized expert in this field Zimmer begins with an overview of the many uses of these glowing genes to kill and image cancer cells monitor bacterial infections and light up in the presence of pollution He then discusses the biological reasons that glowing proteins first evolved in jellyfish and fireflies and looks at the history of bioluminescence and the dedicated scientists who devoted their careers to explaining this phenomenon The story of how glowing genes were located cloned and then mass produced is in itself a fascinating tale Zimmer next turns to the serious and not so serious uses of fluorescent proteins In agriculture it may soon be possible to produce crops that signal dryness by glowing In industry a red fluorescent protein originally found in corals may find a use in sheep as a substitute for environmentally harmful wool dyes Furthermore the glowing gene revolution has led to significantly more humane treatment of laboratory animals No longer must animal lives be sacrificed to understand disease processes now researchers can observe the spread of cancer and infections by treating animals with green fluorescent genes and similar proteins In the fight against terrorism a glowing gene has been created that lights up in the presence of anthrax spores chemical warfare agents and landmines And in a completely different arena we have already seen the emergence of transgenic art in Alba the fluorescent bunny rabbit Glowing Genes is a highly informative fascinating and entertaining read about a burgeoning area of biotechnology that promises soon to revolutionize our world The Oxford Guide to Library Research Thomas Mann,2005-10-06 With all of the new developments in information storage and retrieval researchers today need a clear and comprehensive overview of the full range of their options both online and offline for finding the best information quickly In this third edition of The Oxford Guide to Library Research Thomas Mann maps out an array not just of important databases and print sources but of several specific search techniques that can be applied profitably in any area of research From academic resources to government documents to manuscripts in archives to business Web sites Mann shows readers how best to exploit controlled subject headings explains why browsing library shelves is still important in an online age demonstrates how citation searching and related record searching produce results far beyond keyword inquiries and offers practical tips on making personal contacts with knowledgeable people Against the trendy but mistaken assumption that everything can be found on the Internet Mann shows the lasting value of physical libraries and the unexpected power of traditional search mechanisms while also providing the best overview of the new capabilities of computer indexing Throughout the book Mann enlivens his advice with real world examples derived from his experience of having helped thousands of researchers with interests in all subjects areas over a quarter century Along the way he provides striking demonstrations and powerful arguments against those theorists who have mistakenly announced the demise of print Essential reading for students scholars professional researchers and laypersons The Oxford Guide to Library Research offers a rich inclusive overview of the information field one that can save researchers countless hours of frustration in the search for the best sources on their topics
