Any Child Can Write Harvey S. Wiener, 2003-02-06 Harvey S Wiener shows how parents can encourage their children to write with a home program that can be used from preschool through high school Beginning with the building of attitudes Wiener moves through simple varied and practical experience with the written word By setting up an atmosphere in the home that encourages creative written expression coupled with a parent's guidance in writing children gain an outlook on writing that builds confidence in their abilities to use language This new edition addresses many heated issues about children's education and touches on today's critical debates parents roles in school preparations the increased stress on writing assessment and performance measures throughout a child's education and across school sectors and the debate over phonics A revised and expanded section called Key Books for Young Writers and Their Parents will help any family stock its shelves with useful books for a home writing program A new chapter discusses the ubiquity of home computers and word processing programs and assesses their positive and negative influences on children's home learning experiences In addition Wiener describes how to find the best educational online resources and how to supervise a child's work on the Internet Furthermore he emphasizes the importance of collaboration child and parent child and sibling to help avoid computer abuse and establish good computer practices Finally he integrates discussion on computers through the text and also offers writing exercises and samples for children to obtain from Oxford's website

One Woman and Four Others Mireya Robles, 2009-12-02 One Woman and Four Others describes in the first person the childhood the adolescence and the young adulthood of a woman born in Cuba in the middle thirties who subsequently emigrates to the United States The first part of the novel depicts the joyous wonder of an emotionally and artistically sensitive child discovering the world that surrounds her in an accurate portrayal of a particular geography and of a well defined epoch Yet the real subjects of One Woman and Four Others are the passage of time and its impact on the growth of a human being and the sensation of transitoriness of life that impels us to cling to the memories of our past In this sense Robles's novel can be compared to Marcel Proust's A la recherche du temps perdu In Search of Lost Time The figure of the mother dominates the whole book For Proust and for Robles the persistent presence of the mother during the entire life of the protagonists is evidently related to the search for lost time Among the four women loved by the narrator of One Woman and Four Others the most important is Marisol whose influence can be felt throughout the novel and who affects all the other love relationships of the protagonist Anna Diegel Translator and Literary Critic
