Emergence Of Modern Retailing 1750 195:

The Routledge Companion to the History of Retailing Jon Stobart, Vicki Howard, 2018-11-08 Retail history is a rich cross disciplinary field that demonstrates the centrality of retailing to many aspects of human experience from the provisioning of everyday goods to the shaping of urban environments from earning a living to the construction of identity Over the last few decades interest in the history of retail has increased greatly spanning centuries extending to all areas of the globe and drawing on a range of disciplinary perspectives By offering an up to date comprehensive thematic spatial and chronological coverage of the history of retailing this Companion goes beyond traditional narratives that are too simplistic and Euro centric and offers a vibrant survey of this field It is divided into four broad sections 1 Contexts 2 Spaces and places 3 People processes and practices and 4 Geographical variations Chapters are written in an analytical and synthetic manner accessible to the general reader as well as challenging for specialists and with an international perspective This volume is an important resource to a wide range of readers including marketing and management specialists historians geographers economists sociologists and urban planners

Food and Urbanism Susan Parham, 2015-02-26 Cities are home to over fifty percent of the world's population a figure which is expected to increase enormously by 2050 Despite the growing demand on urban resources and infrastructure food is still often overlooked as a key factor in planning and designing cities Without incorporating food into the design process how it is grown transported and bought cooked eaten and disposed of it is impossible to create truly resilient and convivial urbanism Moving from the table and home garden to the town city and suburbs Food and Urbanism explores the connections between food and place in past and present design practices The book also looks to future methods for extending the gastronomic possibilities of urban space Supported by examples from places across the world including the UK Norway Germany France Spain Portugal Greece Romania Australia and the USA the book offers insights into how the interplay of physical design and socio spatial practices centred around food can help to maintain socially rich productive and sustainable urban space Susan Parham brings together the latest research from a number of disciplines urban planning food studies sociology geography and design with her own fieldwork on a range of foodscapes to highlight the fundamental role food has to play in shaping the urban future

Textiles and the Medieval Economy Angela Ling Huang, Carsten Jahnke, 2014-06-30 Archaeologists and textile historians bring together 16 papers to investigate the production trade and consumption of textiles in Scandinavia and across parts of northern and Mediterranean Europe throughout the medieval period Archaeological evidence is used to demonstrate the existence or otherwise of international trade and to examine the physical characteristics of textiles and their distribution in order to understand who was producing using and trading them and what they were being used for Historical evidence mainly textual is employed to link textile names to places numbers and prices and thus provide an appreciation of changing economics patterns of distribution and the organisation of trade Different types and qualities of cloths are discussed and the social implications of their production and import export considered against a developing background of urbanism and increasing commercial wealth Perceptions of Retailing in Early Modern England Nancy Cox, Karin Dannehl, 2017-05-15 Whilst there has been much recent scholarly work on retailing during the early modern period less is known about how people at the time perceived retailing both as onlookers artists and commentators and as participants Centred on the general theme of perceptions the authors address this gap in our knowledge by looking at a different aspect of consumption They focus on two ancillary themes the first is location and how contemporaries perceived the settlements in which there were shops the other is distance Pictures prints novels diaries and promotional literature of the tradespeople themselves provide much of the evidence Many of these sources are not new to historians but they have not been scrutinized and analysed with the questions in mind that are posed here The methodology to be employed has been developed by Nancy Cox over the last decade and is used successfully in her book The Complete Tradesman and in the compilation of the forthcoming Dictionary of Traded Goods and Commodities 1550-1800 This book will find a ready market with scholars concerned with British social and economic history in the early modern period Although it is first and foremost a book written by historians for historians it nevertheless borrows concepts and approaches from various disciplines concerned with theories of consumption material culture and representational art
