Davies, 2012-09-15 Dr Alfonsina Q Davies Nina to her family and friends lived her entire life with a secret Beginning in infancy she was one of as many as seventy million people worldwide and three million Americans living with epilepsy Despite this grave diagnosis with a fierce determination to live life to the fullest she put on a brave face and fought the often misunderstood disease until it took her life at age fifty two Yet despite the widespread occurrence of epilepsy it remains shrouded in mystery weighted down with stigma Nina called the disease a dark cloud that followed her throughout her life when seizures struck with a vengeance and often without warning Undergoing brain surgery at U C L A helped her live a more normal life but the disease was a battle she fought daily Because the disease with its seizures and side effects remains a puzzle scary to onlookers patients and family alike few resources exist for those newly diagnosed that really tell the story of what living with epilepsy is like In this volume Nina's mother Nadia Q Davies lifts the veil on epilepsy and shares both important information and resources but also one family's and one woman's uncommon story of courage in the face of adversity It is Nadia's deepest wish that the book will inspire offering an honest and insightful discussion of epilepsy that is desperately needed This is Nina's story one of hope and triumph over adversity It will touch your heart and be one you will never forget Ragged Owlet Susan Cooke, 1979

Voices from the Heart Louis Stanislaw, 2017-08-29 Louis Stanislaw has brought us an extraordinary gift a collection of deeply moving essays from men and women sharing their personal experiences with epilepsy one of mankind's least understood and most daunting of challenges In these pages Jonathan Magaziner shares his feelings of pain and powerlessness as he sits on an airplane and watches a man a few rows away suffer a seizure and then be carried off to an unknown destination Lord Charles Guthrie the distinguished British military commander tells us about the strength and pride of a young soldier who refuses to let his secret battle with epilepsy halt his dreams of a sterling military career And Bill Maier tells us of his personal angels the doctors and nurses who were finally able to halt his seizures and put an end to the chaos that was destroying his life Crowning the collection a young woman named Amanda Rich tells of her personal heartache and triumph as she comes to embrace her epilepsy not as an affliction but as a gift an opportunity to learn and grow and share with others the need for greater understanding and social acceptance for everyone with such challenges Off That Bus Sarah Grahn, 2012-12-17 Since her early days in elementary school Sarah Grahn often felt a bit off but even she had no idea that her struggles would get compounded during an ordinary ride on a school bus On that bus she had one painfully vigilant dream that forever changed the course of her life and altered her perspective on personal control and self respect After tumultuous twenty year passage filled with traveling charley horses and terrifying imagery she finally arrived at a place of revelation and resiliency From all of her moments of chaos and static she discovered a spiritual awakening and just how important the unfettered support of family and community is to personal triumph and acceptance for Sarah Grahm was introduced to epilepsy in the rural seclusion of northern Minnesota. Its trials and influences have since accompanied her to various locations in both the upper and lower peninsulas of Michigan. She currently resides near Traverse City, Michigan, with her husband and three children. Her perseverance and dedication to her family has been the inspiration for sharing this story.

Rejoice in the Light Amy E. Crane, 2000. The story of a woman's experience living with epilepsy in her childhood and during her young adult years and her eventual victory over epilepsy by undergoing brain surgery.
