Food Fiber And The Arid Lands:

Food, Fiber, and the Arid Lands William Grovenor McGinnies, Bram J. Goldman, Patricia Paylore, 1971 Presents twenty seven papers exploring the issues and challenges facing food production in arid lands around the world Food, fiber and the arid lands, eds.: W.G. McGinnies, B.J. Goldman , Food, Fiber and the Arid Land William G. McGinnies, 1971 Selected Water Resources Abstracts ,1976 Annotated Bibliography of Remote Sensing Methods for Monitoring Desertification Alta Sharon Walker, Charles Joseph Robinove, 1981 Land and Land Appraisal R.O. Whyte, 2012-12-06 This book is designed to present those principles and techniques for land appraisal which are applicable to all developing countries Examples of specific situations in which these techniques have been or might be adopted are taken primarily from monsoonal and equatorial Asia It is in this region that the land food population problem is most acute It is also the writer's region of specialization over the past ten years out of a total of some twenty five years working in or closely concerned with Asia an attempt has been made to examine the major problems of land potential in relation to rural economy and nutrition in the whole region and in particular to show to what extent its different parts resemble or differ from each other The geographical scope comprises mainland southern southeast and east Asia from Pakistan to the People's Republic of China and Korea with the insular monsoonal and equatorial lands of Sri Lanka Indonesia East Malaysia Philippines Taiwan and Japan part International and bilateral agencies and specialists outside Asia repeatedly insist that Asia must learn to feed itself from the produce of its own land or from imported foods paid for by the exports of primary and secondary commodities and of manufactured products to the developed world Physics of desertification F. El-Baz, M.H.A. Hassan, 2012-12-06 Deserts are parts of the Earth that receive little or no rain 25 cm or less per year The physical processes that act upon these parched lands are vastly different from those that shape the more humid parts of the terrestrial landmasses In the desert wind is a major agent of erosion and transportation As the results of recent space missions have indicated this is also true in the case of the planet Mars Thus our understanding of desert processes sheds light on fundamental planetary processes that may apply on any planetary body that is enveloped by a windy atmosphere An understanding of the physical layout of arid lands and the nature of processes that initiate changes therein is also fundamental to thoughtful utilization of these lands for the benefit of mankind It is with this in mind that we prepared this book for publication We believe that the collection of articles in this book will be useful to scientists who are interested in desert landforms and processes and to planners of economic development of arid lands The book also serves as a guide for students as to the state of our knowledge in this field as well as to the topics that require additional research Ecology and Utilization of Desert Shrub Rangelands in Iraq D.C.P. natural resources in the arid areas of South West Asia has become a matter of great concern. Locally the effects of careless utilization of the land and its resources had been felt long ago. It is however only relatively recently that the gravity of the situation is being generally and fully realised. It is now well understood that action is required to save what is left and possibly to restore what was once there. Such action requires organization and coordination but above all knowledge of the present state of the resources and the impact of utilization processes. Part of this knowledge is already available. The problems are not confined to this part of the world's arid lands but exist equally well elsewhere. Especially over the last decades an ever increasing number of studies have been published dealing with aspects of arid zone research. Problem analyses were followed by compilations of knowledge in particular fields. Water-resources Investigations Report ,1992      Overview and Bibliography of Methods for Evaluating the Surface-water-infiltration Component of the Rainfall-runoff Process R. B. King, 1992      Ethics and Urban Design Gideon S. Golany, 1995-08-01. The city according to urban design scholar Gideon Golany is the largest and most complicated project ever produced by humankind. In Ethics and Urban Design he challenges design professionals to reexamine their basic assumptions about the urban environment and offers design strategies based on enduring human values. In search of answers to the paradoxical problems of the modern city Golany takes the reader through the sweep of human settlements from the dawn of civilization to the present. His authoritative examination of the genesis of the city is illuminated by instructive examples of early urban centers: Mesopotamia, the Indus River Valley, the Egyptian cities of the Nile and the capital cities of ancient China, all are examined in the light of what made them work as major centers of human activity. What Golany finds in the success stories of the past are cohesive sociocultural values that shaped the design of homes, neighborhoods and cities. These ethical values helped to maintain an equilibrium within the society that permeated its natural, social and human-made environments. In the present era conversely he finds a major disconnection between human values and the ethics of technology which has resulted in confusion, imbalance and dehumanization. To help designers gain a perspective on possible solutions Golany explains leading comprehensive design strategies including the valley theory, the urban border zone concept and the regional concept of Patrick Geddes. In the case study of contemporary Holland he details what a small, densely populated country has been able to achieve through design planning rooted in environmental ethics. Future Frontiers for Urban Design, the culminating section of this groundbreaking book, opens with Golany's vision of the future city. He examines the issues of thermal performance and climate as they relate to urban design and offers the concept of geospace, the earth enveloped habitat. Buttressing his presentation with detailed information on the mechanics of geospace, Golany describes case studies of the successful use of earth enveloped habitats in China and Tunisia. He makes a powerful argument for the geospace city as a renewal of ancient traditions that can restore the vital equilibrium between nature and human settlements that we seem to have lost Ethics and Urban Design is a distinguished scholar's analysis and prescription for the city it offers an abundance of stimulating ideas for the architects designers and planners who have assumed responsibility for its future Ethics Urban Design draws on historical examples and contemporary case studies from around the world to illustrate urban design strategies that can help restore equilibrium to the natural social and built environments of the city In this stimulating book urban design scholar Gideon Golany offers architects designers and planners both an in depth analysis of the fundamental issues of urban design and practical options for the design of the future city Examines the genesis and development of the city from the earliest settlements to the rise of urban society Presents urban design strategies based on historical examples of early urban centers including Mesopotamia the Indus River Valley Egypt and China Offers case studies of environmental success stories from Europe Asia and Africa Details geospace design options the use of underground space for diversified land use housing and transportation Fully illustrated with over 80 photographs drawings and diagrams

Ecology of Desert Systems Walter G. Whitford, 2002-03-25 Conventional wisdom considers deserts stark harsh regions that support few living things Most people also believe that water alone makes the desert bloom Ecology of Desert Systems challenges these conventional views This volume explores a broad range of topics of interest to ecosystem population community and physiological ecologists Climate weather patterns geomorphology and wind and water processes are examined as variables that affect the distribution of biota through fundamental ecosystem processes Descriptions of morphological behavioral and physiological adaptations of desert biota illuminate through the lens of patch dynamics principles for understanding observed patterns of primary production nutrient cycling and the effects of consumers Desertification and the techniques for monitoring and quantifying it is examined within the framework of desert ecosystem patterns and processes Focuses on the interactions of climate soil and biota along a spectrum of spatial and temporal scales Details the role of animals in desert ecosystems and landscape processes Examines watershed scale processes the ecology of ephemeral lakes and the ecological changes identified with desertification Outlines the fundamental concepts relevant to sustainable development of arid lands

Managing the Unknown Frank Uekötter, Uwe Lübken, 2014-03-01 Information is crucial when it comes to the management of resources But what if knowledge is incomplete or biased or otherwise deficient How did people define patterns of proper use in the absence of cognitive certainty Discussing this challenge for a diverse set of resources from fish to rubber these essays show that deficient knowledge is a far more pervasive challenge in resource history than conventional readings suggest Furthermore environmental ignorance does not inevitably shrink with the march of scientific progress these essays suggest more of a dialectical relationship between knowledge and ignorance that has different shapes and trajectories With its combination of empirical case studies and theoretical reflection the essays make a significant contribution to the interdisciplinary debate on the production and resilience of ignorance At the same time this volume combines insights from different continents as well as the seas in between and thus sketches outlines of an emerging global resource history

When Indians Became Cowboys Peter Iverson, 1994 Focusing on the northern plains and the Southwest Iverson traces the rise and fall of individual and tribal cattle industries against the backdrop of changing federal Indian policies He describes the Indian Bureau's inability to recognize that most nineteenth century reservations were better suited to ranching than farming Even though allotment and leasing stifled ranching livestock became symbols and ranching a new means of resisting adapting and living for remaining Native Agriculture of the American Indian, 1979 The Shoshone-Bannocks John W. Heaton, 2005 Even in the face of internal disputes between cattlemen and hay cutters the people of Fort Hall found innovative ways such as participation in new religious experiences cultural redefinition and regular community gatherings to manage the contradictions that stemmed from market integration Heaton tells how the Shoshone Bannocks made a meaningful choice between productive commerce and a more typical reliance on subsistence and wage labor Their leaders found new ways to unite disparate bands and kin groups to resist attempts to open reservation land to exploitation by non Indians and through careful land cessions they were able to obtain the capital needed to develop reservation resources themselves Geological Survey Circular, 1981 Geological Survey Circular Geological Survey (U.S.), 1981 Selected Water Resources Abstracts, 1975
