applications      Preservation Of Food By Ionizing Radiation Edward S. Josephson, Martin S. Peterson, 2018-01-18 Food Scientists the world over should keep abreast of advances in knowledge and techniques in this developing new food process. The place to start is with these three volumes which are without question the most comprehensive and the most authoritative source of information on the basic science and technology yet published on food preservation by the application of ionizing radiation      The Use of Frozen Foods by Restaurants Henry Timmons Badger, 1956      Plant Food By-Products J. Fernando Ayala-Zavala, Gustavo González-Aguilar, Mohammed Wasim Siddiqui, 2018-03-21 This volume takes an eco friendly approach to examining the advantages of using plant food by products as food additives and nutraceuticals turning solid wastes into value added items. The chapters written by researchers and professionals working in the plant food industry look at ways to make effective use of plant by products by harnessing the power of the antimicrobial and nutraceutical power of plant and herb extracts. The measures and techniques discussed here will also help to improve the economics of processing crops. The chapter authors cover a range of issues including the economic and environmental benefits of utilizing plant food by products, extraction technologies, plant tissues as a source of nutraceutical compounds and more      Bioactive Components in Fermented Foods and Food By-Products Vito Verardo, Ana María Gomez-Caravaca, Giulia Tabanelli, 2020-05-22 Food fermentation is one of the most ancient processes of food production that has historically been used to extend food shelf life and to enhance its organoleptic properties. However, several studies have demonstrated that fermentation is also able to increase the nutritional value and/or digestibility of food. Firstly, microorganisms are able to produce huge amounts of secondary metabolites with excellent health benefits and preservative properties i.e. antimicrobial activity. Secondly, fermented foods contain living organisms that contribute to the modulation of the host physiological balance which constitutes an opportunity to enrich the diet with new bioactive molecules. Indeed, some microorganisms can increase the levels of numerous bioactive compounds e.g. vitamins, antioxidant compounds, peptides etc. Moreover, recent advances in fermentation have focused on food by products in fact they are a source of potentially bioactive compounds that after fermentation could be used as ingredients for nutraceuticals and functional food formulations. Because of that, understanding the benefits of food fermentation is a growing field of research in nutrition and food science. This book aims to present the current knowledge and research trends concerning the use of fermentation technologies as sustainable and GRAS processes for food and nutraceutical production      Expenditures for Processed Foods by Employee Food Services in Manufacturing Plants Rosalind Caribelle Lifquist, 1961      Separation of Functional Molecules in Food by Membrane Technology Charis M. Galanakis, 2018-11-14 Separation of Functional Molecules in Food by Membrane Technology deals with an issue that is becoming a new research trend in the field of food and bioproducts processing. The book fills in the gap of transfer knowledge between academia and industry by highlighting membrane techniques and applications for the separation of food components in bioresources, discussing separation mechanisms, balancing advantages and disadvantages and providing relevant applications Edited by Charis Galanakis the book is divided in 13 chapters written by experts from the meat science food technology and engineering industries Covers the 13 most relevant topics of functional macro and micro molecules separation using membrane technology in the food industry Brings the most recent advances in the field of membrane processing Presents the sustainability principles of the food industry and the modern bioeconomy frame of our times
