Food, Eating and Identity in Early Medieval England Allen J. Frantzen, 2014 A fresh approach to the implications of obtaining preparing and consuming food concentrating on the little investigated routines of everyday life Food in the Middle Ages usually evokes images of feasting speeches and special occasions even though most evidence of food culture consists of fragments of ordinary things such as knives cooking pots and grinding stones which are rarely mentioned by contemporary writers This book puts daily life and its objects at the centre of the food world It brings together archaeological and textual evidence to show how words and implements associated with food contributed to social identity at all levels of Anglo Saxon society It also looks at the networks which connected fields to kitchens and linked rural centres to trading sites Fasting redesigned field systems and the place of fish in the diet are examined in a wide ranging interdisciplinary inquiry into the power of food to reveal social complexity Allen J Frantzen is Professor of English at Loyola University Chicago

Hugh M. Thomas, 2020-11-19 Although King John is remembered for his political and military failures he also resided over a magnificent court Power and Pleasure reconstructs life at the court of King John and explores how his court produced both pleasure and soft power Much work exists on courts of the late medieval and early modern periods but the jump in record keeping under John allows a detailed reconstruction of court life for an earlier period Power and Pleasure Court Life under King John 1199-1216 examines the many facets of John's court exploring hunting feasting castles landscapes material luxury chivalry sexual coercion and religious activities It explains how John mishandled his use of soft power just as he failed to exploit his financial and military advantages and why he received so little political benefit from his magnificent court John's court is viewed in comparison to other courts of the time and in previous and subsequent centuries Writing the Lives of People and Things, AD 500-1700 Robert F.W. Smith, Gemma L. Watson, 2017-05-15 Historical biography has a mixed reputation at its best it can reveal much not only about an individual but the wider context of their life and society at worst it can result in a narrowly focused work of hagiography or condemnation Yet in spite of its sometimes inferior status amongst academics biography has remained a popular genre and in recent years has developed into new and intriguing areas As the essays in this volume reveal scholars from an array of different disciplines have embraced what biography can offer them expanding the remit of biography from people to things tracing the life of their chosen object from creation to use to disposal to rediscovery The increasing concern with the physicality of manuscripts and books has also meant an awareness of and interest in the lives of these forms of material culture Historians have also become increasingly interested in groups of individuals resulting in prosopographical studies A book on the diversity of biography is therefore very timely exploring the multi-disciplinary application of historical biography in the period 500-1700 It presents fourteen case studies offering new approaches to historical biography written by early career researchers from backgrounds in archaeology English art architectural history and history demonstrating different approaches and techniques Overall the collection is a strong and united statement by a group of early career researchers who insist on the vitality of biography as a central concern of historians across the disciplines of the humanities Contributors believe that the life is a fundamental medium of study for the medieval and early modern periods and thus bolsters the move back towards biography as a primary tool of medieval and early modern scholars as well as a tool for future research for humanities scholars interested in biography Food, Feasts, and Faith Paul Fieldhouse, 2017-04-17 An indispensable resource for exploring food and faith this two volume set offers information on food related religious beliefs customs and practices from around the world Why do Catholics eat fish on Fridays Why are there retirement homes for aged cows in India What culture holds ceremonies to welcome the first salmon More than five billion people worldwide claim a religious identity that shapes the way they think about themselves how they act and what they eat Food Feasts and Faith An Encyclopedia of Food Culture in World Religions explores how the food we eat every day often serves purposes other than to keep us healthy and stay alive we eat to express our faith and to adhere to ethnic or cultural traditions that are part of who we are This book provides readers with an understanding of the rich world of food and faith It contains more than 200 alphabetically arranged entries that describe the beliefs and customs of well established major world religions and sects as well as those of smaller faith communities and new religious movements The entries cover topics such as religious food rules religious festivals and symbolic foods and vegetarianism and veganism as well as general themes such as rites of passage social justice hospitality and compassion Each entry on religion explains what the religious dietary laws and guidelines are and how these were interpreted and put into practice historically and in modern settings The coverage also includes important festivals and feast days as well as significant religious figures and organizations Additionally some 160 sidebars provide examples and more detailed information as well as fun facts Food and Feasts in the Middle Ages Lynne Elliott,2004 Provides an overview of food hunting and cooking in the Middle Ages

Misconceptions About the Middle Ages Stephen Harris,Bryon L. Grigsby,2010-05-26 Brought together by an impressive international array of contributors this book presents a representative study of some of the many misinterpretations that have evolved concerning the medieval period Excavations at Dryslwyn Castle 1980-1995 Chris Caple,2017-12-02 Excavations at Dryslwyn between 1980 and 1995 uncovered a masonry castle founded in the late 1220s by Rhys Gryg for his son Maredudd ap Rhys the first Lord of Dryslwyn The first castle was a simple round tower and polygonal walled enclosure within which were constructed a kitchen prison and wood framed clay floored great chamber beside a great hall In the mid 13th century a second ward was added and the great chamber rebuilt in stone This castle was greatly expanded in the period 1283 87 by Rhys ap Maredudd the second and final Lord of Dryslwyn who built an Outer Ward and gatehouse He also rebuilt much of the Inner Ward adding an extra storey to the great hall and great chamber apartments and a chapel At the end of the 13th century a large three ward castle stretched along the eastern and southern edge of the hill while the rest of the hilltop was occupied by a settlement defended by a wall and substantial ditch with access through a gatehouse This castle and its associated settlement were besieged and captured in 1287 by an English royal army of over 11 000 men following damage inflicted by a trebuchet and mining of the walls Throughout the 14th century the English Crown garrisoned and repaired the castle supervised by an appointed constable before it was surrendered to Owain Glyn Dwr in 1403 During the early to mid 15th century the castle was deliberately walled up to deny its use to a potential enemy and it was subsequently looted and demolished By the late 13th century the castle had a white rendered and lime washed appearance creating a very dramatic and highly visible symbol of lordship Internally the lord s and guest apartments had decorative wall paintings and glazed windows Evidence from charred beams still in situ the sizes shapes and distribution of nails sheet lead slates and postholes recovered during excavation has enabled some of the wooden as well as masonry buildings to be reconstructed Waterlogged deposits had preserved a rich assemblage of seeds birds fish and animal bone which reveal evidence of the dining habits of Welsh lords their guests and household Of particular interest are the finds associated with the siege of 1287 which include a knop headed mace spearheads and armour piercing arrowheads which indicates that the longbow was the weapon of choice Damage and repairs to the castle walls correlate with historic accounts while three stone balls recovered by the excavation were undoubtedly thrown by the trebuchet recorded in contemporary accounts
