

The Foodbirds

A C-47 aircraft, painted in military camouflage with a roundel on the wing, is shown in flight over a vast, flat, arid landscape. The terrain is a mix of brown and tan hues, suggesting a dry, open environment. The sky is a pale, hazy blue. The aircraft is positioned in the upper middle of the frame, flying towards the right.

Problems, Promises, and Paradoxes of Aid J. Oloka-Onyango, Nicolas van de Walle, 2014-11-10 This book is an anthology of essays contributing new scholarship to the contemporary discourse on the concept of aid It provides an interdisciplinary investigation of the role of aid in African development compiling the work of historians political scientists legal scholars and economists to examine where aid has failed and to offer new perspectives on how aid can be made more effective Questions regarding the effectiveness of aid are addressed here using specific case studies The question of ownership is examined in the context of two debates 1 to what extent should aid be designed by the recipient country itself and 2 should aid focus on need or performance That is should donors direct aid to the poorest countries regardless of their policies and governance or should aid reward countries for doing the right thing The future of aid is also addressed should aid continue to be a part of the development agenda for countries in sub Saharan Africa If so how much and what type of aid is needed and how it can be made most effective The major criticism against aid is that it cripples the recipient country's economic growth by turning it into a passive receiver in addition it has been noted that aid is mostly supply driven depending upon donors rather than the actual needs of recipients For this reason aid may not meet the goals for which it was intended To meet the needs of the communities they want to help donors should work through consultation and a measure of recipient ownership Donors need to understand context to protect human rights and to be guided by principles of social and environmental justice Other suggested strategies for making aid more effective include peer review self assessment the empowerment of women encouraging accountability investing in agriculture helping smallholder subsistence farmers introducing ethical and professional standards for civil service and raising the competence of civil servants

Flight from Famine Donald MacKay, 2009-03-23 Winner of the 1991 QSPELL Prize for Non fiction One of Canada's founding peoples the Irish arrived in the Newfoundland fishing stations as early as the seventeenth century By the eighteenth century they were establishing farms and settlements from Nova Scotia to the Great Lakes Then in the 1840s came the failures of Ireland's potato crop which people in the west of Ireland had depended on for survival And that wrote a Sligo countryman was the beginning of the great trouble and famine that destroyed Ireland Flight from Famine is the moving account of a Victorian era tragedy that has echoes in our own time but seems hardly credible in the light of Ireland's modern prosperity The famine survivors who helped build Canada in the years that followed Black 47 provide a testament to courage resilience and perseverance By the time of Confederation the Irish population of Canada was second only to the French and four million Canadians can claim proud Irish descent The National Review, China, 1912 history and contains entries on key topics related to food production security and policies and famine giving readers an in depth look at food crises and their causes responses to them and outcomes Famines have claimed more lives across human history than all the wars ever fought This two volume set represents the most comprehensive study of food and famine currently available providing the broadest analysis of hunger and famine causes as well as a detailed examination of the ramifications of cultural and natural hazards upon famine Volume one focuses upon 50 topics and issues relating to the creation of hunger and famines in the world from 4000 BCE to 2100 including an overview of how agriculture has evolved from primitive hunting and gathering that supported limited numbers of people to a worldwide system that now feeds over seven billion people Volume two entitled Classic Famines begins with famines of the past from 4000 BCE to 2100 CE includes ten classic famine case studies and concludes with predictions of famines we could see in the 21st century and beyond

The Flight of A Stone Bird A D MOODLEY, 2020-02-21 The Flight of A Stone Bird is about the triumph of the human spirit over the adversities that defined indenture and its legacy In the struggle to unshackle their bondage men and women scratched out niches with bloodied hands to write a chapter of their existence a shared destiny and a common destination From the fragments of a common past and a mutual predicament another bond emerged the brotherhood Emotional enduring and powerful devoid of the vestiges of caste or religion this bond which became as intimate as real blood kinship was cherished by men well into their twilight years as a memory of a shared ordeal and of solidarity against the antagonism and adversities of a hostile new world We shall forever remember those who built the steps we take National Review ,1912
