Anderson, 2002 21st Century Science Collection Bone Aging and Osteoporosis: Recent Evidence Focusing on Plant-Based Natural Products Lingfeng Zeng, Ning Zhang, Wenhua Ling, Claudio Lucchiari, 2024-03-08 The human skeleton undergoes a life long remodeling process Bone homeostasis requires a potential balance between bone resorbing osteoclasts and bone forming osteoblasts With old age bone homeostasis undergoes deregulation and normal bone remodeling could not make bone mass stable thus causing osteopenia and osteoporosis Osteoporosis is a systemic bone disease characterized by reduced bone mass degraded bone microstructure increased bone fragility and raised risk of fracture Osteoporosis is a frequently occurring and common disease in the aging population especially in postmenopausal women and elderly men The updated research found that one third of women aged 60 to 70 suffer from osteoporosis Two thirds of women aged 80 years or older have osteoporosis About 20 25% of women over 50 years of age have one or more vertebral fractures Recent research evidence indicates that an increasing number of plant based natural products or secondary metabolites such as polyunsaturated fatty acids phytosterols flavonoids and other botanicals active compounds have beneficial effects on the risk of osteoporosis Compared with conventional therapies plant based natural products with thousands of years of medical use experience are gradually approved for clinical use due to fewer adverse reactions low toxicity high efficiency and good tolerance Natural products have been an important source of inspiration for new drug development However most of the evidence regarding the anti osteoporosis effects of natural products comes from in vitro and preclinical in vivo studies and only a few natural products have been used clinically All of these above mentioned still require rigorously designed studies and further verification

Advanced Approaches in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Diabetes Mellitus and Secondary Complications Pranav Kumar Prabhakar,Ram

Prasad,Ponnurengam Malliappan Sivakumar,2023-10-23 As we know diabetes mellitus is the most common metabolic endocrine disorder According to the WHO and American Diabetes Mellitus diabetes mellitus is the 3rd leading cause of death if we were to include all secondary complications However without including secondary complications it is 7th place in mortality and morbidity The point to be considered in the case of diabetes mellitus is the secondary complications caused in this condition Almost all organs affected by diabetes and results in a potentially worse condition The major secondary complications are neuropathy nephropathy retinopathy and diabetes foot microvascular and macrovascular complications The long term complications grow slowly in the case of diabetes As the time living with diabetes becomes longer controlled glucose levels will be more difficult to achieve meaning there there will be more long term complications The aim of the current Research Topic on the secondary complications of diabetes and their management is to publish good quality research articles as well as reviews which should address the management of diabetes abnormalities of secondary complications and other disease involved in diabetes Potential Topics includes but not restricted to Secondary complications of diabetes mellitus Microvascular and macrovascular complications The role of oxidative stress in the diabetes burden New insights in glycemic control New strategies approaches to manage secondary complications such as Stearoyl CoA dismutase Acetyl CoA Carboxylase Adiponectin Adipocyte complement related protein 30 Hormone Sensitive Lipase HSL Inhibitors Recent development in the therapeutic approaches for glucose management such as Protein tyrosine phosphatase 1B PTP1B inhibitors Glycogen synthase kinase 3 GSK3 inhibitors 3 Adrenergic receptor agonist Retinoid X receptor PPAR agonist AMP activated protein kinase Development of new target as a target for antihyperglycemic drug designing

Application and Evaluation of Acupuncture in the Treatment of Neurological Diseases Liming Lu,Nenggui Xu,Myeong Soo Lee,Chunzhi

Tang,Yong Tang,Bing Zhu,2023-06-21 Neurological disorders such as Alzheimer s disease and Parkinson s disease are an important cause of disability and death worldwide and pose a serious burden on the global health system over the past 30 years Acupuncture as the most widely used traditional Chinese medicine therapy in the world has been widely used in 183 countries and regions Acupuncture can treat more than 300 kinds of diseases especially for neurological diseases Due to the unique advantages of acupuncture such as good therapeutic effect and low side effects many researchers have conducted extensive clinical studies on the effectiveness and safety of acupuncture in the treatment of neurological diseases laying a foundation for the practicability and scientific vigor of this complementary and alternative therapeutic approach There are still many problems unanswered in the current clinical research on acupuncture for the treatment of neurological diseases First of all clinical research is lagging behind due to the lack of emphasis on modern advanced methods and analytical techniques e g artificial intelligence omics analysis bioinformatics analysis data mining and multidisciplinary integration process Secondly the quality of reports on most clinical studies of acupuncture treatment for neurological diseases is extremely low Most clinical studies have not adopted standardized methodological evaluations authoritative disease diagnosis standards and efficacy evaluation standards The lack of compliance regulations and strict study design reduces the accuracy and authenticity of the research Thirdly there is a lack of integrated assessment of the distribution of evidence for acupuncture treatment of neurological diseases Therefore strictly designed clinical research and in depth and systematic analysis method are currently needed to provide high quality evidence for acupuncture treatment of neurological diseases In this Research Topic we hope to further understand the role of acupuncture in the treatment of neurological diseases through clinical research and secondary research The range of acupuncture includes manual acupuncture electro acupuncture body needling auricular acupuncture scalp acupuncture laser acupuncture and acupressure etc Neurological diseases include stroke meningitis encephalitis tetanus Alzheimer s disease and other dementias Parkinson s disease epilepsy multiple sclerosis motor neurone disease migraine tense type headaches headaches from drug overuse and others

Pain and Chemical Dependency Howard Smith M.D.,Steven Passik,2008-04-25 Both pain and addiction are tremendous public health problems Practitioners of every stripe say that they learned precious little about pain or addiction in their training and readily admit that instruction on the interface of pain and addiction is nonexistent The recent problem of prescription drug abuse has only served to highlight the fact that these two worlds need unificationthose who treat pain must be informed about the risks of controlled substances and those who treat addiction need to better and more fully understand their benefits Nowhere is the pooled knowledge of pain management and addiction medicine brought together to allow for a greater appreciation of the risks of addiction when treating people with pain and the pain problems of those with chemical dependency This major new volume brings this vast knowledge base together presenting an array of perspectives by the foremost thought leaders at the interface of pain and chemical dependency and is the most comprehensive resource on the subject to date There have been an increasing number of seminars devoted to this topic and a new society The International Society on Pain and Chemical Dependency has recently been formed and this volume is destined to become the classic text on this multidisciplinary subject It will appeal to anesthesiologists neurologists rehab physicians palliative care staff pain center physicians and psychologists Spotlight on the Traditional Medicine in Prevention and Treatment of Diabetes in the Aging Population Guanhu Yang,Jiangang Shen ,Shenbin Liu,2024-09-26 Animal Models, Gut Microbiota and Brain Diseases Yu Wang, Jin Song,Niraj Kumar Jha,Kavindra Kumar Kesari,Chang Liu,2025-09-11 Brain diseases are among the major disorders influencing human health In general brain diseases include diseases that might be classified as neurological or psychiatric for example Alzheimer s disease Parkinson s disease epilepsy depression autism and addiction Patients with these types of diseases are mainly characterized by abnormal thinking patterns cognition emotional states and behavior To date much of the research on these diseases has used animal models Despite some encouraging findings the underlying pathophysiology of these diseases is still relatively unclear In particular whether some findings are causal accompanying or simply irrelevant to the occurrence of brain diseases has great significance for the development of more effective treatments In this respect there is a recognized need for more updated perspectives from preclinical investigations in animal models It is worth mentioning that since it was first reported in 2011 the reduction of anxiety like behavior and the changes of neurochemicals in the brain were observed in mice with the absence of gut microbes resulting in a surge of interest in the role of the gut microbiota in health And the new concept of microbiota gut brain MGB axis was formally put forward in 2012 which revealed the ways in which peripheral systems and organs affect the brain and showed that the periphery and the center can be closely linked through the carriers of gut microbiota After more than a decade of development animal models provide an important vehicle for exploring the role of gut microbiota in the pathology of brain diseases potential therapeutic approaches and diagnostic tools However extending these findings to the diagnosis and treatment of human brain diseases still faces great challenges Neuroepidemiology in Resource-Limited Areas Ding Ding,Wenzhi Wang,Patrick Kwan,2020-06-04 Neuroepidemiology is a branch of epidemiology involving the study of neurological disease distribution and determinants of frequency in human populations Neuroepidemiology has been perceived for a long time as a science of incidence prevalence risk factors natural history and prognosis of neurological disorders However the other integral part of neuroepidemiology is experimental neuroepidemiology which is research based on clinical trials of effectiveness or efficacy of various interventions in neurological disorders Neuroepidemiological researches have been conducted since 1960 s with the development of epidemiological methodology and advance of the clinical neurology Most improvement of neuroepidemiology was in western countries largely in US and European countries This study field has been developed quite late in resourcelimited areas where 60% of world s populations are living in Disease burden of neurological disorders such as stroke epilepsy migraine neurodegenerated diseases AD PD multiple sclerosis MS amyotrophic lateral sclerosis ALS are extremely heavy in low and middle income countries LAMICs especially with the increasing aging population in these regions Because of their progressive and disabling nature these neurological disorders have major adverse personal social and economic consequences Prevention and early detection are critical because there are no cures and the clinical diagnosis typically occurs after substantial and often irreversible neuronal loss
