Woodson,1987 African Economic Development ,2020 This book challenges conventional wisdoms both about economic performance and about policies for economic development in African countries Its starting point is the striking variation in economic performance unevenness and inequalities form a central fact. The authors highlight not only differences between African countries but also variations within countries, differences often organized around distinctions of gender, class and ethnic identity. For example, school dropout and neonatal mortality have been reduced particularly for some classes of women in some areas. Horticultural and agribusiness exports have grown far more rapidly in some countries than others. These variations and many others point to opportunities for changing performance, reducing inequalities, learning from other African policy experiences and escaping the ties of structure and legacies of a colonial past. The book rejects teleological illusions and Eurocentric prejudice but does pay close attention to the results of policy in more industrialized parts of the world. Seeing the contradictions of capitalism for what they are, fundamental and enduring, may help policy officials protect themselves against the misleading idea that development is likely to be a smooth linear process or that it would be were certain impediments removed. The authors criticize a wide range of orthodox and heterodox economists, especially for their cavalier attitude to statistical sources. Drawing on decades of research and policy experience, they combine careful use of available evidence from a range of African countries with heterodox political economy insights, mainly derived from Kalecki, Kaldor and Hirschman, to make the policy case for specific types of public sector investment.

The Broad-Based Black Economic Empowerment (BBBEE). How to Deal as a Foreign Investor

Kristina Wagner, 2019-09-20 Seminar paper from the year 2017 in the subject Business economics, Business Management, Corporate Governance, grade 1.7, University of Applied Sciences, Ludwigshafen, language English, abstract.

In this paper, the Broad Based Black Economic Empowerment (BBBEE) will be discussed in order to make a recommendation for an investor whether to invest or not. First, the history including definitions, strategy and objectives will be described. Then, the meaning and importance of BBBEE Codes of Good Practice will be explained. The main part of this paper will focus on the theoretical explanation of the programme and how the main criteria should be implemented in case of investment. In the end, there will be a short recommendation and a trend for the future. South Africa is a country with potential and future. Indicating facts and reasons, therefore, are a major sales market, the well-developed financial sector and infrastructure, as well as the highest development level on the African continent. However, dealing with the South African economy more closely, you will identify several obstacles. The latest issue, increasing in importance, more and more investors face with is the so-called BBBEE. It is a programme of the South African government to support and accelerate the participation of black people in the economy. The Broad Based Black Economic Empowerment concept was created by the government based on South Africans' history. In the past, the country has suffered many years from the apartheid where the black society was without rights and completely neglected from the economy. When in 1994 South Africa selected their first democracy, and political systems were about to change, the new government came up with the program Broad Based Black Economic Empowerment to eliminate past irregularities between the black racial group and the white racial group and to accelerate the access to the economy for black people by putting rules and laws for every
