Economic Planning East And West:

Economic Planning, East and West Morris Bornstein, 1975 Comparison of economic planning in Eastern Europe Western Europe and Japan discusses the theoretics and practice methodology sociological aspects political aspects etc Of planning and presents case studies of the planning experiences of two socialist countries and two capitalist countries References and statistical tables Industrial Cooperation between East and West Friedrich Levick, Jan Stankovsky, 2017-09-08 This title was first published in 1979 A number of valuable and interesting publications have appeared in the last few years on East West cooperation These studies which by means of interviews and direct contacts with the firms concerned have shed some light on a subject that in the past had remained little known also provided us with extremely valuable incentives Most of these studies dealt only with individual aspects of cooperation particularly the legal and microeconomic aspects The quantitative data used however did not easily lend themselves to comparison Eastern European studies more often contained the views of the respective governments than the experiences of enterprises involved in cooperative undertakings In this book the authors have attempted to provide a unified picture of the most important problems of East West cooperation The motivations and goals of those concerned in all their microeconomic macroeconomic commercial and political aspects are brought together with the pertinent legal and institutional factors and are analyzed

Town Planning and Pollution Control Christopher Wood, 1976 The Soviet Economy Morris Bornstein, 2019-06-25 The economic system of the Soviet Union is of vital interest not merely because the USSR is a world superpower but also because the Soviets offer their economic development strategy and system as a model to Third World nations seeking rapid development and social change This book provides a comprehensive and up to date picture of the evolution and operation of the Soviet economy its external economic relations and the challenges it faces in the next decade The selections describe the nature and difficulties of Soviet economic planning and the wide range of legal and illegal unplanned activities in the Soviet economy today They examine also the involvement of citizens as both producers and consumers The closing section looks at prospects for the future in the areas of agriculture energy and technological development East European Economies Post-Helsinki United States. Congress. Joint Economic Committee, 1977 East-West Trade United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Banking and Currency. Subcommittee on International Finance, 1968 U.S. Government Research & Development Reports, 1969-10 East West Perspectives on 21st Century Urban Development John Brothie, Peter Newton, Peter Hall, John Dickey, 2019-01-15 Published in 1999 Analyzing and chronicling the continued development of key information communication and fast transport networks at a global and regional level this book looks at the transition to an information based economy and its urban impacts at a global regional and city level The book outlines the change by defining it as the third great societal transition in the history of human settlement and points to key factors that have fuelled progress These include the growth of global telecommunications and fast transport networks the coming together of information and communication technologies and their links to transport and land use the shift to information and knowledge as a resource base for new industries the increasing movement of people and information the emergence of cities as economic entities network nodes and centres for generating exchanging and processing information and most significantly the competition among cities for these new key elements of the urban economy

East-West Trade Trends Harold E. Stassen, 2015-01-13

Example in this ebook Note on Strategic and Nonstrategic To help protect the security of the free world the United States and certain other countries have been working together for more than four years to withhold strategic goods from the Soviet bloc But how can you tell strategic goods from nonstrategic goods A good many people have asked that question It is a reasonable question and it deserves a nontechnical answer The answer is that strategic goods as understood in the day to day operations of the program are those goods which would make a significant contribution to the warmaking power of the Soviet bloc This is a practical guide to action There is no rigid definition that holds good for all times places and circumstances All strategic goods don't have the same degree of strategicness The free countries have embargoed some merely limited others in quantity and kept still other items under surveillance so that controls could be imposed if necessary Even the same item may vary in strategic importance depending on the destination the changing supply situation behind the Iron Curtain and other circumstances which may change from time to time Whether an item includes advanced technology is an important consideration In specific cases two experts of equal competence may disagree on these things Two agencies of government differing in function may bring different points of view to a given problem The same is true of governments Since there is no distinctly visible boundary between strategic and nonstrategic some people insist there is no such thing as a nonstrategic item at all It is true that even bicycles typewriters or ordinary hardware may help the other fellow by strengthening his general economy And these people argue that anything that contributes to the general economy helps in a military way too That is a correct concept in actual warfare but it is not an acceptable concept of strategic in the present situation for trade on certain terms can help the free nations too They carry on two way trade with the Soviet bloc for concrete commercial benefits The problem is to gain those benefits without permitting the Kremlin to accelerate the growth of military power or to divide the free world In rating items as strategic or nonstrategic it is clear that there are innumerable commodities used entirely or mainly for civilian purposes which would not make a clearly significant contribution to war potential No one would have trouble drawing a line between a jet plane and a suit of clothing to take an extreme example Few would have difficulty putting cobalt on one side of the line and butter on the other As for the border area where it is less clear what contribution an item would make the allied governments put their heads together pool their facts and try to arrive at mutually acceptable judgments As President Eisenhower has said Unity among free nations is our only hope for survival in the face of the worldwide Soviet conspiracy backed by the weight of Soviet military power To be continue in this ebook
