Adkin, 2010-01-01 The urgent need to resolve conflicts over forests fisheries farming practices urban sprawl and greenhouse gas reductions among many others calls for a critical rethinking of the nature of our democracy and citizenship This work aims to move the ideas of green democracy and ecological citizenship from the margins to the centre of discussion and debate in Canada Environmental Conflict and Democracy in Canada offers sixteen case studies to demonstrate that environmental conflicts are always about our rights and responsibilities as citizens as well as the quality of our democratic institutions By bringing together environmental politics and democratic theory this path breaking collection charts a new course for research and activism one that reveals the deficits of citizenship and how democracy must be extended to achieve a socially just ecologically sustainable society Ecology Versus Politics in Canada University League for Social Reform, 1979 Comprehensive survey of the political implications of environmental issues in Canada The Subjectivities and Politics of Occupational Risk Alan Hall, 2020-11-29 The Subjectivities and Politics of Occupational Risk links restructuring in three industries to shifts in risk subjectivities and politics both within workplaces and within the safety management and regulative spheres often leading to conflict and changes in law political discourses and management approaches The state and corporate governance emphasis on worker participation and worker rights internal responsibility and self regulative technologies are understood as corporate and state efforts to reconstruct control and responsibility for Occupational Health and Safety OHS risks within the context of a globalized neoliberal economy Part 1 presents a conceptual framework for understanding the subjective bases of worker responses to health and safety hazards using Bourdieu's concept of habitus and the sociology of risk concepts of trust and uncertainty Part 2 demonstrates the restructuring arguments using three different industry case studies of multiple mines farms and auto parts plants The final chapter draws out the

Environmental Problem Solving Alan Miller,2013-12-01 Human influences create both environmental problems and barriers to effective policy aimed at addressing those problems In effect environmental managers manage people as much as they manage the environment Therefore they must gain an understanding of the psychological and sociopolitical dimensions of environmental problems that they are attempting to resolve In Environmental Problem Solving Alan Miller reappraises conventional analyses of environmental problems using lessons from the psychosocial disciplines He combines the disciplines of ecology political sociology and psychology to produce a more adaptive approach to problem solving that is specifically geared toward the environmental field Numerous case studies demonstrate the practical application of theory in a way that is useful to technical and scientific professionals as well as to policy makers and planners Alan Miller is Professor of Psychology at the University of New Brunswick
