Environmental Problem Solving Alan Miller, 2013-12-01 Human influences create both environmental problems and barriers to effective policy aimed at addressing those problems In effect environmental managers manage people as much as they manage the environment Therefore they must gain an understanding of the psychological and sociopolitical dimensions of environmental problems that they are attempting to resolve In Environmental Problem Solving Alan Miller reappraises conventional analyses of environmental problems using lessons from the psychosocial disciplines He combines the disciplines of ecology political sociology and psychology to produce a more adaptive approach to problem solving that is specifically geared toward the environmental field Numerous case studies demonstrate the practical application of theory in a way that is useful to technical and scientific professionals as well as to policy makers and planners Alan Miller is Professor of Psychology at the University of New Brunswick
