Neville,2009 The essays in this collection start with the premise that although race like class and gender is socially constructed all three categories have been shaped profoundly by their context in a capitalist society Race in other words is a historical category that develops not only in dialectical relation to class and gender but also in relation to the material conditions in which all three are forged In addition to discussing and analyzing various dimensions of the African American experience contributors also consider the ways in which race plays itself out in the experience of Asian Americans and in the very different geopolitical environments of the British Empire and postcolonial Africa Contributors are Pedro Caban Sundiata Keita Cha Jua David Crockett Theodore Koditschek Scott Kurashige Clarence Lang Minkah Makalani Helen A Neville Ibitola O Pearce David Roediger Monica M White and Jeffrey Williams Race, Work, and Family in the Lives of African Americans Marlese Durr,Shirley A. Hill,2006-05-25 Family and work are major integrally related dimensions of social life which affect the well being and success of family members As social institutions family and work are also avenues where social inequality may be understood as a major element in the distribution of social cultural and economic resources and sites where inequality is perpetuated negotiated and contested In this book editors Durr and Hill focus on African Americans navigating the terrain of race work and family and examining persistent barriers to equality and ways in which Blacks have sought to become an integral part of the American economy Dimensions of Prejudice Zak Cope,2008 This book argues that unreasonable dogmatic beliefs are expressions of socially structured patterns of prejudice Specifically prejudice is explained as being produced and dispersed within the confines of the political structures governing the manner in which material human needs are created and met Classifying various dimensions of prejudice philosophical epistemological psychological sociological political and cultural the book conceptualises the relation between dogmatic thinking and these facets of human existence Criticising and comparing a wide range of theories and factual data relating to the growth and expression of prejudice the

Spectres of 1919 Barbara Foley, 2010-10-01 A look at the violent Red Summer of 1919 and its intersection with the highly politicized New Negro movement and the Harlem Renaissance With the New Negro movement and the Harlem Renaissance the 1920s was a landmark decade in African American political and cultural history characterized by an upsurge in racial awareness and artistic creativity In Spectres of 1919 Barbara Foley traces the origins of this revolutionary era to the turbulent year 1919 identifying the events and trends in American society that spurred the black community to action and examining the forms that action took as it evolved Unlike prior studies of the Harlem Renaissance which see 1919 as significant mostly because of the geographic migrations of blacks to the North Spectres of 1919 looks at that year as the political crucible from which the radicalism of the 1920s emerged Foley draws from a wealth of primary sources taking a bold new approach to the origins of African American radicalism and adding nuance and complexity to the understanding of a fascinating and vibrant era
