,2004 Depression - Out of the Darkness and Into the Light W. Daniel Hale, 2020-06-15 The need for churches and other faith communities to reach out and care for those suffering with depression has never been greater. Depression is now recognized as one of our most serious public health concerns. Each year more than ten percent of American adults experience a major depressive episode and more than twenty percent will experience at least one episode over their lifetime. Furthermore, we know that depression is the major risk factor for suicide, now the second leading cause of death in the 10-34 year-old age group and the fourth leading cause of death among adults ages 35-54. We also know that depression is a significant risk factor for substance abuse, another of our most serious health concerns. While we might want to believe that our religious faith can protect us from depression and suicide, we know that's not true. We have heard too many stories of religious leaders and members of deeply religious families who have suffered from depression and taken their own lives. We need to recognize that no group is exempt from this terrible illness. Depression is found among the young and old, the religious and nonreligious, and all ethnic and racial groups. In Depression: Out of the Darkness and Into the Light, Dan Hale, a psychologist and national leader in health ministries, draws on his own struggles with depression, his work as a psychotherapist, and his experiences as a father who lost a daughter to depression to offer guidance for individuals and families impacted by depression and for congregations that recognize the importance of ministering to those suffering from this terrible illness. Faith In The Future Harold Koenig, 2012-05-01 After an interview in Newsweek about his book Spirituality in Patient Care and his research in religion and health, Dr. Harold Koenig became the international voice on spirituality, health, and aging. In this book Faith in the Future, he is joined by two other experts on aging and human development. They present a compelling look at one of the most severe issues in today's society: health care in America. How will we provide quality healthcare to older adults needing it during the next thirty to fifty years Who will provide this care How will it be funded How can we establish systems of care now to be in place as demographic and health related economic pressures mount Alongside the sobering reality of our country s challenges there are reasons for optimism Innovative programs created and maintained by volunteers and religious congregations are emerging as pivotal factors in meeting healthcare needs Summarizing decades of scientific research and providing numerous inspirational examples and role models the authors present practical steps that individuals and institutions may emulate for putting faith into action div
