Medicine and the German Jews John M. Efron, 2008-10-01 Medicine played an important role in the early secularization and eventual modernization of German Jewish culture And as both physicians and patients Jews exerted a great influence on the formation of modern medical discourse and practice This fascinating book investigates the relationship between German Jews and medicine from medieval times until its demise under the Nazis John Efron examines the rise of the German Jewish physician in the Middle Ages and his emergence as a new kind of secular Jewish intellectual in the early modern period and beyond The author shows how nineteenth century medicine regarded Jews as possessing distinct physical and mental pathologies which in turn led to the emergence in modern Germany of the Jewish body as a cultural and scientific idea He demonstrates why Jews flocked to the medical profession in Germany and Austria noting that by 1933 50 percent of Berlin s and 60 percent of Vienna s physicians were Jewish He discusses the impact of this on Jewish and German culture concluding with the fate of Jewish doctors under the Nazis whose assault on them was designed to eliminate whatever intimacy had been built up between Germans and their Jewish doctors over the centuries

The Nursing Process as a Strategy for a (De-)Professionalization in Nursing Jette Lange, 2024-05-06 The nursing process generally is understood as key element of professional nursing care in Germany This study follows this argument back to the introduction of the nursing process in the 1970s and 1980s At that time the German healthcare system underwent dramatic changes and economic reorganization which can be understood as the emergence of the neoliberal rationale in Germany The argument of cost explosion was used to restructure hospitals into enterprises that were to operate based on the logic of the market Its cybernetic logic made the nursing process an ideal instrument to restructure nursing care Perspectives of governmentality and critical accounting reveal the nursing process as an accounting tool which has made nursing calculable And while German nurses valued its potential for professionalization the findings suggest that a newly constituted accountable nursing vocation can instead be considered as de professionalizing
