Page,Galen E. Cole,Thomas C. Timmreck,1995 This text is an easy to understand application oriented guidebook for learning the basic principles of epidemiologic investigation Numerous opportunities are presented to apply and test learning through problems and application exercises Answers are provided      Neuroepidemiology ,2016-09-13 Neuroepidemiology covers the foundations of neuroepidemiological research and the epidemiology of disorders primarily affecting the nervous system as well as those originating outside the nervous system The etiology of many important central nervous system disorders remains elusive Even with diseases where the key risk determinants have been identified better prevention and therapy is needed to reduce high incidence and mortality Although evolving technologies for studying disease provide opportunities for such it is essential for researchers and clinicians to understand how best to apply such technology in the context of carefully characterized patient populations By paying special attention to methodological approaches this volume prepares new investigators from a variety of disciplines to conduct epidemiological studies in order to discern the etiologic factors and underlying mechanisms that influence the onset progression and recurrence of CNS disorders and diseases The book also provides current information on methodological approaches for clinical neurologists seeking to expand their knowledge in research Includes coverage of the foundations of neuroepidemiological research and the epidemiology of disorders primarily affecting the nervous system as well as those originating outside the nervous system Describes the most recent methodologies to define and quantify the burden of CNS disorders and to understand the underlying mechanisms with neuroimaging and molecular methods receiving particular emphasis Offers extensive description of those neurological conditions that are secondary to other diseases whose incidence is on the rise because of longer survival rates Features chapters authored by leaders in the field from around the globe First Do No Harm John Lister, 2014-05-01 The EU funded HeaRT Health Reporter Training project 2010 2012 laid an important foundation by investigating the existing very limited provision of specialist education and training courses for health journalists throughout the EU and also in the USA where the existence of a large professional body has influenced the availability of training resources Their findings indicate a widespread almost universal lack of an institutional investment in health journalism This is also borne out by the reports from journalists themselves responding to the snapshot HeaRT survey of health journalists and journalists covering health stories in the six partner countries Estonia Finland Germany Greece the UK and Romania The lack of academic engagement in the training of journalists in this specialist field also helps to explain the shortage of literature on health journalism This book is an effort to take this work further and to draw in experience from North America in order to ensure that the fight for improved quality of health reporting continues to be raised The chapters are intended to offer more scope for health journalists to develop their understanding of the relevant issues topics and skills and test out a variety of potential sources of useful information Throughout the book we identify sources and useful contacts and information to enable health journalists to work more effectively and deliver more knowledgeable informative stories for their audience The contributors welcome feedback and comment we hope this is the start of a growing self awareness of many who are working as health reporters and a lively debate on the best ways to deliver quality health journalism
