account of Kory ŏ 1392 society in its prime Officially the purpose of Xu Jing s visit was to condole the new king Injong on the death of his father and present him with a letter of investiture unofficially he was tasked with persuading Injong to align with Song China against the newly emergent Jin dynasty Although famous for its celadon and Buddhist paintings the Kory period is still very much terra incognita in world history because of the lack of translated source materials The present work the first fully annotated complete translation of a key source text on Kory fills this gap Xu Jing spent a little more than a month in the Kory capital Kaes ng but he was a meticulous chronicler compiling a veritable handbook on Kory that is full of fascinating details found nowhere else on daily life history customs and manners buildings the military food among others However Xu Jing was not unbiased in his observations and supplemented his work with unreliable information from earlier chronicles a fact often ignored in previous studies of the Illustrated Account In a substantial introduction to his translation Sem Vermeersch not only places this important work in its historical context but also reveals both the sources used by the author and the merits and limits of his observations allowing historians of medieval Korea to make fuller use of this singular primary source The Mackenzie River Basin Charles Camsell, Wyatt Malcolm, 1919
