Rodríguez, 2022-09-08 This book introduces studies on infant and early childhood development that are in a permanent dialogue with the psychology of music the philosophy of mind and human movement studies They are based on an innovative framework that combines embodied cognition the multimodal approach to child development and the second person perspective in social cognition This frame of reference allows authors to revisit relevant topics in developmental psychology such as adult infant interactions early intersubjective experiences the development of perceptual verbal and gestural communication skills as well as the complexity of play in infancy and early childhood In the field of infancy and early childhood studies the three viewpoints brought together in this volume had a clear innovative impact Embodied psychology showed the body to be the primary agent in the interactions that shape the infant's psyche The second person perspective exhibited the direct transparent I Thou contact involved in the first patterns of reciprocity between adult and infant and the multimodal theory of perceptual development revealed an infant

immersed in a multisensory environment conveying information to all perceptual systems as a unified experience The studies presented in this volume combine these three viewpoints and link them through the use of analytical tools and concepts from the temporal arts music and dance This way of conducting empirical research on some central topics in early infancy led to an aesthetic conception of development that emphasizes bodily experience temporal affects and their intertwining with symbolic capacities Moving and Interacting in Infancy and Early Childhood An Embodied Intersubjective and Multimodal Approach to the Interpersonal World will provide innovative tools for developmental and cognitive psychologists studying the development of early socio cognitive skills in infants and young children and will also serve as a rich source of information for researchers and practitioners in other fields such as education and nursing who can benefit from cutting edge knowledge in developmental sciences

Strange Situation Bethany Saltman, Daniel J. Siegel, 2020 A full scale investigation of the controversial and often misunderstood science of attachment theory inspired by the author's own experience as a parent and daughter When professional researcher and writer Bethany Saltman gave birth to her daughter Azalea she loved her deeply but felt as if something was missing Looking back at her lonely childhood dangerous teenage years and love addicted early adulthood Saltman thought maybe she was broken Then she discovered the science of attachment the field of psychology that explores the question of why from an evolutionary point of view love exists between parents and children Saltman went on a ten year journey visiting labs archives and training sessions while learning the meaning of delight from Mary Ainsworth one of psychology's most important but unsung researchers who died in 1999 Saltman went deep into the history and findings from Ainsworth's famous laboratory procedure the Strange Situation which like an X ray is still used today by scientists around the world to catch a glimpse of the internal workings of attachment In this simple twenty minute procedure a baby and a caregiver enter an ordinary room with two chairs and some toys During a series of comings and goings a trained observer studies the minutiae of the pair's back and forth with each other Through the science of attachment what Saltman discovered was a radical departure from everything she thought she knew about love and about her own family her story and herself She was far from broken she saw that love is too powerful to ever break Strange Situation reveals the startling truth at the heart of the Strange Situation far from the attachment parenting emphasis on external activities like breastfeeding and sleep sharing what truly affects our children is the way we think and feel on the inside about love It's our perceptions that are transmitted mind to mind from generation to generation This is excellent news because it's completely within our power to change our minds Strange Situation is a scientific lyrical life affirming exploration of love Not only will readers be taken on an emotional ride through one mother's reckoning with her own past and her family's future but they will also be given the tools with which to better understand their own life histories and their relationships today

Researching Young Children's Perspectives Deborah Harcourt, Bob Perry, Tim Waller, 2011-03-08 This book is designed to help students face the ethical methodological and theoretical challenges and complexities involved in engaging children in rights based participatory research The Cultural Psyche Dinesh Sharma, 2021-04-01 As envisaged by Robert A LeVine many years ago the human development indicators have improved in many societies as income healthcare and educational opportunities have been enlarged Global transformations have led to significant decline in extreme poverty and an increase in working class and middle class families around the world in the emerging economies throughout Africa and Asia As the technological and global influences continue to challenge the dominant narrative in academic psychology conflated with WEIRD data assumptions interdisciplinary research will continue to increase in value and scope where LeVine s classical approach in psychological anthropology combined with psychoanalysis developmental psychology demography language or area research and population studies offers a path forward The essays collected here in addition to honoring LeVine s work hold out the promise of a real convergence between psychology and anthropology or the development of a psychosocial science a confluence between positivism and relativism empiricism and ethnography and social sciences and human sciences The scientific search for universal laws and the ever expanding search for cultural meanings in the diverse communities around the world must continue simultaneously and in conjunction with the transnational or global challenges we face today Hybridity fostered by interdisciplinary researchers has stood the test of time as the social sciences have gradually outgrown the monolithic ways of looking at the world The project of a psychosocial science represented by the work of Robert A LeVine at the intersection of psychology anthropology demography child development and psychoanalysis maps out some of the challenges of a hybrid discipline Hybridity impacts not only the humanities and social sciences but physical sciences in genetics and genomics or applied disciplines like biotechnology and life sciences Thus it is important that we not lose sight of LeVine s spirit of interdisciplinary research Advocates for universalism the psychologists or behavioral scientists pursuing universal laws of human nature must collaborate with the growing number of relativistic scientists anthropologists sociologists or cultural studies experts searching for local meanings in small scale village communities There will be a confluence of social and human sciences or what C P Snow the English literary critic called the two cultures of the scientific revolution the sciences and humanities Praise for The Cultural Psyche This edited collection by Dinesh Sharma of his mentor Robert LeVine s papers is uniquely positioned between psychology anthropology and human development As one surveys its wide ranging and fascinating papers one not only comes to understand the principal lines of work carried out over a half century by a remarkable scholar At the same time one gains a sense of the history of these lines of work by a person who has lived through it reflected on it and contributed significantly to its advances This exceptionally valuable volume not only surveys child and human development in depth and across cultures it also points out ways in which these lines of work ought to be pursued in the years to come Howard E Gardner Hobbs Professor of Cognition and Human Development Harvard University Cambridge MA This book offers an overview of the wide ranging contributions of one of the giants of thinking about human development parenting and culture of the last 50 years By bringing together a large body of Bob s writings some of them entirely new this volume represents only one important dimension of LeVine's enormous influence on the thinking of today's scholars but in addition it should be noted how much his scholarship has shaped the work and the thinking of his many students and collaborators in ways that will persist through several academic generations Catherine E Snow Patricia Albjerg Graham Professor of Education Harvard University Cambridge MA Between Teaching and Caring in the Preschool John C. Pruitt, 2020-07-06 In Between Teaching and Caring in the Preschool John C. Pruitt argues that preschool teaching is more than a set of roles and duties tied to institutional expectations Drawing on two years of ethnographic fieldwork twenty three interviews and countless conversations with preschool teachers and analysis of preschool documents Pruitt opens the black box of the preschool to show the complexity of the preschool teacher identity as it unfolds in everyday practices of teaching and caring His analysis of preschool teachers' talk and interaction addresses pertinent sociological and early childhood education themes including classroom management social control emotions and identity construction He demonstrates there is more going on in the preschool than teaching young children and caring for them Through practices of classroom management and teaching language preschool teachers socialize children into education contexts and exert social control in and through teaching practices By managing emotions preschool teachers also manage impressions of themselves and the preschool He also shows how preschool teachers use resources like Montessori pedagogy and their lived experience to construct authenticity Pruitt concludes that institutions such as ECE shape identities within and away from the institution

Revealing the Inner Worlds of Young Children Robert N. Emde, Dennis P. Wolf, David Oppenheim, 2003-09-25 This book reports the work of a 20 year collaboration between a multidisciplinary group of clinicians and developmental scientists who have created and investigated a new tool to elicit and analyze children's narratives This tool is the MacArthur Story Stem Battery a systematic collection of story beginnings that are referred to as stems These stems are designed to elicit information from children about their representational worlds This method is particularly exciting because using it allows developmental psychologists and others to gain information directly from children about their emotional states and what they are able to understand and in turn to use this information to explore significant emotional differences among children This work will appeal to researchers and practitioners in developmental and clinical psychology
