Empire Of The Eye:

The Empire of the Eye Angela L. Miller, 1993 The great nineteenth century American landscape paintings panoramic visions of natural design have long been interpreted as expressions of the very spirit of national expansionism Surveying American landscape art in light of its political institutional and cultural history from the 1820s through the post Civil War era Angela Miller profoundly alters our understanding of the genre In this richly illustrated volume she shows how landscape paintings beyond reflecting the beauty and the power of nature served as a medium through which disquieting questions concerning the future of the new republic could be raised symbolically Making use of a wide array of sources including diaries letters travel writings criticism and essays Miller illuminates the meaning of landscape images for nineteenth century viewers She reassesses the ideological influence of Thomas Cole on successive generations of artists and reinterprets the new types of national landscape that emerged among New York based painters beginning in the 1840s Miller offers fresh analyses of such key works as Cole s View from Mount Holyoke Northampton Massachusetts The Oxbow 1836 Asher B Durand s Progress 1853 John Frederick Kensett s White Mountains Mount Washington 1851 Frederic Church s New England Scenery 1851 and Sanford Gifford s Kauterskill Clove 1862 The cultural identity expressed by nationalist landscape painting she asserts was marked by competing commitments to region and nation by uncertainties over gender relations and by the paradox of a nature simultaneously invested with spiritual values and used to underwrite an ideology of progress Enhanced by eight color plates and sixty four black and white reproductions The Empire of the Eye represents a major contribution to American cultural studies and the history of landscape art BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved      Deception: An Interdisciplinary Exploration Emma Williams, Iman Sheeha, 2019-01-04

Dragon's Eyes: Volume 1 , Passions for Nature Rochelle Johnson,2009 Nineteenth century Americans celebrated nature through many artistic forms including natural history writing landscape painting landscape design theory and transcendental philosophy Although we tend to associate these movements with the nation s dawning environmental consciousness Passions for Nature demonstrates that they instead alienated Americans from the physical environment even as they seemed to draw people to it Rather than see these expressions of passion for nature as initiating environmental awareness this study reveals how they contributed to a culture that remains startlingly ignorant of the details of the material world Using as a touchstone the writings of nineteenth century philanthropist Susan Fenimore Cooper the daughter of famed author James Fenimore Cooper Passions for Nature reveals that while a generalized passion for nature was intense and widespread in her era cultural attention to the real physical world was quite limited Popular artistic forms represented the natural world through specific metaphors for the American experience cultivating a national tradition of valuing nature in terms of humanity Johnson crosses disciplinary boundaries to demonstrate that anthropocentric understandings of the natural world result not only from the growing gulf between science and imagination that C P Snow located in the early twentieth century but also and surprisingly from cultural productions traditionally viewed as positive engagements with the environment By uncovering the roots of a cultural alienation from nature Passions for Nature explains how the United States came to be a nation that simultaneously reveres the natural world and yet remains dangerously distant from it The

Stratified Leadership Model of the First-Century Christian Church Barton S. Garratt Edsall,2025-07-29 This research work aims to present a solution to the problem of withering Christian congregations present in modern Christian churches by way of expounding the doctrine that Jesus or his apostles promoted as displayed in the four canonical Gospels the Acts of the Apostles or the New Testament epistles This study presents factual information showing that the doctrine and arrangement of leaders that developed within the first century church may have been overlooked and lost by the wayside of history in favor of established traditions Paul declared his purpose for visiting the church believers in Rome was not to collect money or build houses of worship but so that their lives might manifest spiritual fruit Following that example improving the spiritual quality of their people's lives should be the primary goal of all Christian ministers The majority of this work will conduct a careful exegesis of selected passages from the New Testament which focus on the leadership model utilized by the first century church This study presents in detail the stratified leadership model of the early times in such a fashion that any modern church might replicate its design

Tax Law, Religion, and Justice Allen Calhoun, 2021-03-08 This book asks why tax policy is both attracted to and repelled by the idea of justice Accepting the invitation of economist Henry Simons to acknowledge that tax justice is a theological concept the work explores theological doctrines of taxation to answer the presenting question The overall message of the book is that taxation is an instrument of justice but only when taxes take into account multiple goods in society the requirements of the government the property rights of society's members and the material needs of the poor It is argued that this answer to the presenting question is a theological and ethical answer in that it derives from the insistence of Christian thinkers that tax policy take into account material human need necessitas Without the necessitas component of the tax balance tax systems end up honoring only one of the three components of the tax equation and cease to reflect a coherent idea of justice The book will be of interest to academics and researchers working in the areas of tax law economics theology and history
