Reflecting on Teaching Practice and Learner Engagement Anjoom A. Mukadam ,2020-05-04 Student Empowerment in Higher Education brings together the accumulated knowledge and experience of many accomplished teachers and students from higher education institutions around the world and has much to offer those who are engaged in higher education as students teachers or support staff The authors offer personal reflections in teaching learning mentoring assessment hands on activities course design and student identities in higher education across the globe supported by academic research and scholarship Readers are provided with a window into tried and tested empowering practices in varying contexts enabling them to see what works and what does not alongside the challenges and possibilities A distinctive feature of this book and its paramount strength is that it explores best practices in student empowerment whilst reflecting on matters of teaching and learning that are familiar to students and teachers alike and also explores practices in a variety of disciplines The intention of these volumes therefore is not only to inform readers about the diverse learning and teaching approaches of the authors but most importantly to facilitate processes of student empowerment and promote reflection on teaching and learning practices In recent decades higher education policy discourse has persistently implied that a university education is delivered to students under the impersonal banner of the student experience Not only does this commodify the diverse individual experiences of students into one marketable product it also creates false barriers and power dynamics between students and their teachers In Student Empowerment in Higher Education the students and lecturers who collaborated to write this important volume have literally blown such misleading notions out of the window I highly recommend each varied and autonomous chapter to learn what really inspires confidence and success in university students Professor Sarah Hayes Professor of Higher Education Policy University of Wolverhampton The two volumes of Student Empowerment in Higher Education offer the reader rich and varied examples and understandings of student empowerment from around the world The authors provide reflective accounts of learning and teaching from diverse perspectives and disciplines which focus on many different areas of practice in higher education It is this variety that will appeal to many readers as the source of ideas and inspiration for numerous possible routes to empowerment With many chapters co authored by students and staff the book models the collective responsibility students and staff have for enhancing student empowerment Dr Catherine Bovill Senior Lecturer in Student Engagement University of Edinburgh Fulbright Scholar Elon University North Carolina USA Visiting Fellow Knowledge Exchange University of Winchester Resources in Education ,2001 Empowering Decision-Making in Midwifery Elaine Jefford, Julie Jomeen, 2019-08-29 Decision making pervades all aspects of midwifery practice across the world. Midwifery is informed by a number of decision making theories but it is sometimes difficult to marry these theories with practice. This book provides a comprehensive exploration of decision making for midwives irrespective of where in the world they practice or in which model of care. The first part critically reviews decision making theories including the Enhancing Decision making Assessment in Midwifery (EDAM) tool and their relevance to midwifery. It explores the links between midwifery governance including professional regulation and the law, risk and safety and decision making as well as how critical thinking and reflection are essential elements of decision making. It then goes on to present a number of diverse case studies demonstrating how they interrelate to and impact upon optimal midwifery decision making. Each chapter presents examples that show how the theory translates into practice and includes activities to reinforce learning points. Bringing together a diverse range of contributors, this volume will be essential reading for midwifery students, practising midwives and midwifery academics. The Business Improvement District Movement Seth A. Grossman, 2016-06-20 This comprehensive book covers the theory and practice of Business Improvement Districts or BIDs, partnerships between local communities and governments established to revitalize neighborhoods and catalyze economic development in a region. In this book, author Seth Grossman demonstrates the ways in which BIDs work, pull stakeholders together and acquire funds to manage the difficult process of community revitalization, especially in urbanized, threatened town centers. BIDs also blur traditional lines between public and private organizations and their governance, raising critical new questions about democratic representation, accountability, transparency and responsiveness. As this book illustrates, BID managers act as public entrepreneurs and management in the public realm requires community development skills, community planning, organization and leadership and economic expertise, jobs, business development, housing and public infrastructure. Through an in-depth examination of Business Improvement Districts and their managers, we begin to see that the future of public administration might no longer be contained behind the walls of formal government, with an increasing number of public administrators defining and creating public solutions to real-life commercial problems. This book is essential reading for all practicing urban and regional administrators and government officials as well as students studying public administration, public management and urban and regional politics.
