This carefully curated historical archive is an enduring conversation across time and a memoir of one woman's beloved store when you squeezed into the narrow event space on the Voice's upper floor. Livia Manera, The New Yorker: A stroll from rue de l'Odéon to Les Deux Magots or the Luxembourg Gardens, the hanging sign reads Village Voice Anglo American Bookshop. The narrow door and window frames are painted Greek island blue. Linger a while in front of the window display; you'll want to dive inside into an ocean of story.

Hazel Rowley, Bookforum: Encyclopedia of French Film Directors Philippe Rège, 2009-12-11. Cinema has been long associated with France, dating back to 1895 when Louis and Auguste Lumière screened their works, the first public viewing of films anywhere. Early silent pioneers Georges Méliès, Alice Guy, Blaché, and others followed in the footsteps of the Lumière brothers, and the tradition of important filmmaking continued throughout the 20th century and beyond. In Encyclopedia of French Film Directors, Philippe Rège identifies every French director who has made at least one feature film since 1895. From undisputed masters to obscure one-timers, nearly 3,000 directors are cited here, including at least 200 filmmakers not mentioned in similar books published in France. Each director's entry contains a brief biographical summary, including dates and places of birth and death, information on the individual's education and professional training, and other pertinent details such as real names when the filmmaker uses a pseudonym. The entries also provide complete filmographies, including credits for feature films, shorts, documentaries, and television work. Some of the most important names in the history of film can be found in this encyclopedia, from masters of the Golden Age (Jean Renoir and René Clair) to French New Wave artists such as François Truffaut and Jean-Luc Godard.

sheets and bookings But everything changed in a matter of days Not just for me but for hundreds of others who arrived with nothing but fear in their eyes and the clothes on their backs When the war started in Ukraine I didn't plan to get involved I watched the news like everyone else shocked and angry I saw the images families separated cities bombed people running with no clear destination And then the buses started arriving The first week was chaos Hundreds of people came through most of them women many with children a few with parents in tow I still remember the exhaustion on their faces the silence of the children the way they clutched plastic bags like lifelines They didn't want much Just somewhere safe to breathe Somewhere warm I opened the doors to my hotel and the houses Everything was free No one asked me to do it No one promised anything in return I just knew I had to It was as if some unseen force had taken hold of me whispered Go Help I didn't ask questions I just moved It wasn't easy In fact it was one of the hardest things I've ever done We ran out of food space patience sleep I had to expand rooms make temporary bedding organize volunteers and mediate endless conflicts Because truth be told when you put hundreds of strangers in the same space traumatized frightened with no idea what tomorrow brings it's not peaceful It's pressure Constant pressure And those women They drove me crazy a million times over Some demanded too much others clashed with each other some cried constantly and a few didn't even say thank you I got yelled at lied to leaned on But despite all that I couldn't stop I kept helping Even when I swore I'd had enough something inside me kept pushing me forward Looking back now three and a half years later I realize I was part of something far bigger than myself Something karmic That's the only word that fits I didn't help because I was a good person I helped because I was meant to Something or someone moved me I still don't know what it was A force A pull Maybe God Maybe fate But whatever it was it made sure I didn't walk away Now with the clarity of time I can say this we all showed our true faces during those years Every single one of us The refugees the volunteers even me Some people became bitter selfish cruel Others became softer kinder stronger We didn't all come out better but we all came out revealed I saw women who had lost everything step up to help others I saw volunteers cry from exhaustion and then keep working I saw teenagers become men overnight I saw sides of myself I didn't know existed both noble and shameful There were days I cursed the war the people and the entire mission But there were also days where the smallest thank you broke me open Today I still host some of them Not as many but enough Some have stayed in Romania Some went back Some moved on to Germany France even Canada I still help even when it's hard Even when I feel I have nothing more to give Why I wish I had a rational answer But I don't The truth is that force whatever it was is still inside me I'm still determined Not because I expect reward Not because I'm a saint But because when everything fell apart for them I had something to offer A room A bed A moment of peace And if I could do it again even knowing how hard it would be I would Because in that mission difficult chaotic maddening I found something I didn't even know I was searching for I found myself And I learned that sometimes the greatest act of love is simply to open your door

Double-Takes David R. Jarraway,2013-05-25 Over the past forty years Canadian literature has found its way to the silver screen with increasing regularity Beginning with the adaptation of Margaret Laurence s A Jest of God to the Hollywood film Rachel Rachel in 1966 Canadian writing would appear to have found a doubly successful life for itself at the movies from the critically acclaimed Kamouraska and The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz in the 1970s through to the award winning Love and Human Remains and The English Patient in the 1990s With the more recent notoriety surrounding the Oscar nominated Away from Her and the screen appearances of The Stone Angel and Fugitive Pieces this seems like an appropriate time for a collection of essays to reflect on the intersection between literary publication in Canada and its various screen transformations This volume discusses and debates several double edged issues the extent to which the literary artefact extends its artfulness to the film artefact the degree to which literary communities stand to gain or lose in contact with film communities and perhaps most of all the measure by which a viable relation between fiction and film can be said to exist in Canada and where that double life precisely manifests itself if at all This book is published in English
