People and Identity in Ostrogothic Italy, 489-554 Patrick Amory, 2003-10-16 The barbarians of the fifth and sixth centuries were long thought to be races tribes or ethnic groups who toppled the Roman Empire and racist nationalist assumptions about the composition of the barbarian groups still permeate much scholarship on the subject This book proposes a new view through a case study of the Goths of Italy between 489 and 554 It contains a detailed examination of the personal details and biographies of 379 individuals and compares their behaviour with ideological texts of the time This inquiry suggests wholly new ways of understanding the appearance of barbarian groups and the end of the western Roman Empire as well as proposing new models of regional and professional loyalty and group cohesion In addition the book proposes a complete reinterpretation of the evolution of Christian conceptions of community and of so called Germanic Arianism
