My Home is Far Away Dawn Powell, 2011-11-08 My Home is Far Away is the most precisely autobiographical of Powell's fifteen novels In this family chronicle set in early twentieth century Ohio young Marcia Willard's family struggles to keep up with the rapidly changing times and Marcia endures disillusionment cruelty and betrayal to forge a survivor's sense of independence John Updike has compared Powell with Theodore Dreiser Willa Cather Sherwood Anderson and those other Midwestern writers who felt something epic in the national shift from rural to urban from provincial sequestration to metropolitan liberation By 1941 when Powell set to work on My Home Is Far Away she was better known for the smart boozy bawdy hilarious send ups of Manhattan high and low life She had begun to attain a reputation for high sophistication and nothing could be less sophisticated in the glittering all knowing furiously present tense big city manner Powell had perfected than My Home Is Far Away This was the month of cherries and peaches of green apples beyond the grape arbor of little dandelion ghosts in the grass of sour grass and four leaf clovers of still dry heat holding the smell of nasturtiums and dying lilacs This was the best month of all and the best day It was not birthday Easter Christmas or picnic but all these things and something else something wonderful something utterly unknown The two little girls in embroidered white Sunday dresses knew no way to express their secret joy but by whirling each other dizzily over the lawn crying We're moving we're moving We're moving to London Junction My Home Is Far Away is one of the very few examples of a book written for adults with an adult command of the language that maintains the vantage point of a hungry serious child throughout It might be likened to a memoir that has been penned not with the usual tranquility of distance but rather with the sense that everything happening to the characters is happening right now without any promise of eventual escape without any assurance that childhood too shall pass away My Home is Far Away had been out of print for sixty years when Steerforth reissued it in 1995 It received immediate widespread acclaim and was featured on the cover of the New York Times Book Review where Terry Teachout called it one of the permanent masterpieces of childhood comparable with David Copperfield What Maisie Knew and the early reminiscences of Colette and where he proclaimed Powell to be one of this country's least recognized great novelists
